SENATE GROUPS IN DEADLOCK ON ROOSEVELT TAX

House Bill Doomed, Leader Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—A stormy closed session of the senate finance committee this afternoon, at which Chairman Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] refused for the second time to permit a vote on President Roosevelt's revolutionary undistributed earnings tax, ended in a deadlock which members regarded as hopeless.

Chairman Harrison admitted after the session that the house bill, with its maximum rate of 42½ per cent on corporation earnings, was dead so far as the senate committee was concerned and that the issue now is whether any form of the undistributed earnings tax can be put over. Harrison declared, however, that the fight for retention of the "principle" of President Roosevelt's proposal would be taken to the senate floor if the committee could not agree.

Unable to Agree.

"We've been unable to agree on anything up to now," he said. "Whether or not we'll be able to agree remains to be seen, but a majority of the committee members are opposed to the house bill and I think all of them agree that it must be changed."

Only four of the nineteen committee members attending the sessions favor the President's proposal, including three Democrats—Harrison, Barkley of Kentucky, and Black of Alabama—and one Radical, La Follette of Wisconsin. The divergent views of the members were expressed in heated debate that could be heard in the corridors outside. At one time Chairman Harrison, summarizing the views of the various factions, exclaimed: "It is obvious that we cannot get together."

"How does the chairman know we cannot get together if we cannot have a vote?" demanded Senator Harry F. Byrd [Dem., Va.].

Morgenthau Before Committee.

The determination of the opposition senators to modify the drastic rates in the house bill was enhanced when Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. told the committee that a tentative compromise plan, suggested by Chairman Harrison, would produce 626 million dollars in new revenue. The treasury experts hope the house rates would bring in 620 million through forcing corporations to distribute their earnings in dividends to stockholders, who in turn would be subject to the high surtax rates.

Harrison's compromise plan contemplates retention of the 15 per cent flat corporation income tax, superimposing taxes on undistributed earnings. All corporations would be permitted to retain 30 per cent of their earnings without paying additional taxes, and corporations with earnings up to $20,000 would be given an additional exemption of $1,000. Undistributed earnings in the bracket between 30 and 40 per cent would be taxed 30 per cent, from 40 to 50 per cent the tax would be 35 per cent, and all over 50 per cent retained would be taxed 45 per cent.

Regarded as Too Drastic.

These rates were regarded as far too drastic by some of the opposition senators, who pointed out that a corporation with an income of $100,000, none distributed, would pay total taxes of $44,000, or $1,500 more than it would pay under the house bill. It would be permitted to retain $50,000 by paying a tax of $21,500, but to retain the other $50,000 would cost $22,500.

Numerous plans were suggested, including a variety of flat rates. One of these called for a flat rate of 30 per cent on undistributed earnings, with the allowance of a credit for half the amount distributed.

Survey Is Proposed.

Senator Byrd was leading a movement to dispense entirely with the undistributed earnings tax and raise the desired new revenue by increasing existing rates. In the meantime, he suggested, a joint committee of congress could make a thorough study of the radical Roosevelt-Tugwell proposal and report an entirely new revenue bill at the next session.

Secretary Morgenthau, appearing in executive session, attempted to offset his testimony yesterday showing that 283 out of 500 corporations with an income of $1,000,000 or more would have their taxes reduced more than Borah Assails G. O. P.

Speaking at Newark, N. J., last night Senator William E. Borah assailed leaders of the Republican party and monopolies. He said the leaders are willing to see the party defeated in November if they can retain control. He indicated he might balk unless the platform suits him. Details on page 9.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 14.—[Special.] — Former President Herbert Hoover slashed at the "magic formulas" of the New Deal in an address tonight before 3,500 cheering listeners. He also outlined in vigorous fashion his recommendations for a Republican platform in the coming campaign.

Philadelphia last saw Mr. Hoover in the closing weeks of the 1932 campaign. It remembered a tired, careworn man who spoke with weary deliberation. A new Hoover appeared on the platform tonight. His speech crackled with explosive shots at the policies of President Roosevelt which brought delighted applause from the packed auditorium and five tiers of galleries in the ancient Academy of Music.

The ex-President blended ridicule and sarcasm in the most stinging criticism of the Roosevelt administration he has voiced since he emerged from retirement a year ago.

Urges Democrats to Join.

There was a dramatic ring to his voice as he went on to urge Democrats "who think as we do" to join Republicans in a rescue of the republic from "great peril."

The early portion of his speech was mostly a reiteration in more emphatic form of his charges that the New Deal is driving the nation into a "collectivist desert." But it bristled with pugnacious statements that caused him to be interrupted time after time by thunderous cheers.

Calling for a clear and definite statement of principles from both parties and inveighing against "the vague and distorted phrases of conservatism, liberalism, or radicalism," he brought down the house with this declaration:

"It would be far better that the party go down to defeat with the banner of principle flying than to win by pussyfooting."

Reveals "Five Horsemen."

Again, he provoked the audience to enthusiasm with this alliterative accusation:

"There are five horsemen of this New Deal apocalypse. They are profligacy, propaganda, patronage, politics, and power. Their other names are pork barrel, poppy-cock, privilege, panaceas, and poverty."

And there was general delight at this homely comparison:

"If the New Dealers would go to a few baseball games, they would learn that the umpire cannot play on the team and be an umpire. Bad business practices can be ruled off the field. But who is to umpire if the umpire is to pitch?"

Reviews Ideas on Issues.

He reviewed in pithy fashion his ideas on child labor, old age pensions, and housing. The Republican party must pledge that child labor will really be abolished, he declared. It should approve a federal subsidy to the states to strengthen and unify old age pensions which already have been in effect in many states under normally Republican governments.

In opposition to schemes of New Dealers to "share the wealth," Mr. Hoover asserted that the income and estate taxes provide an "orderly movement to diffuse swollen fortunes more effectively than all the quacks."

He referred ironically to President Roosevelt's Baltimore speech to Democratic youths.

"The President recently advised youth to 'dream visions and see visions,' he remarked. 'I advise them to wake up.'"

The devaluation of the dollar by the Roosevelt administration was dishonorable, he charged, and added:

"The Republican party has never dishonored the government promise to pay. We must demand a return to financial honor in government."

The New Deal has taught even

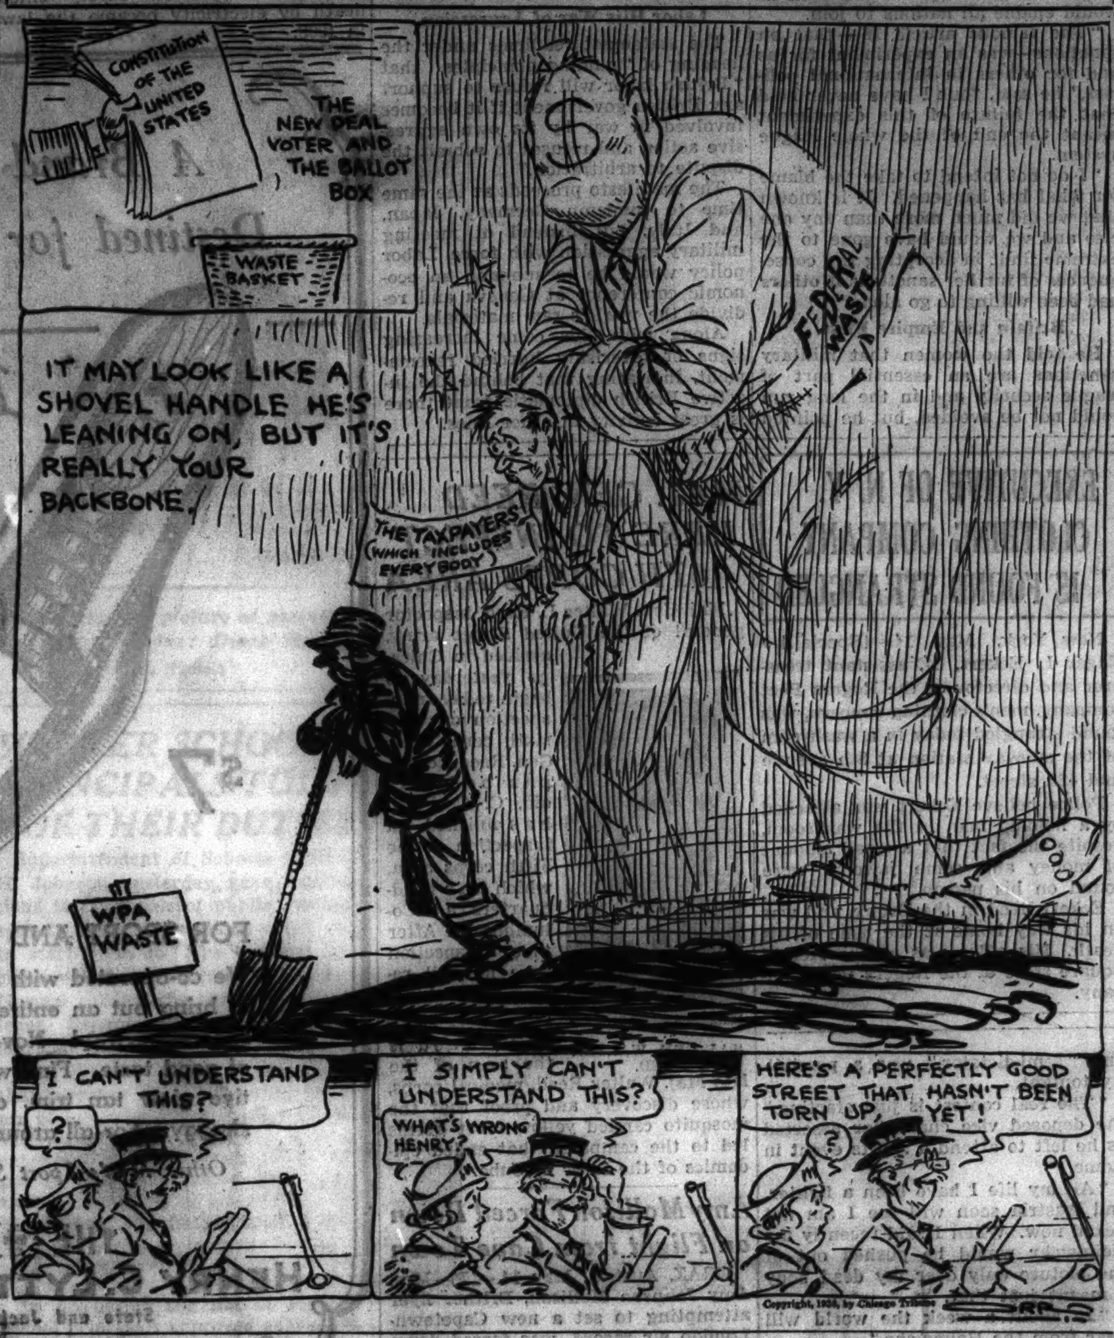
SKETCHES OF THE NEWS



This Is Lilac Day; Blossoms Spread Cheer

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Today is the first of Chicago's two lilac days. Hundreds of suburban residents will share their lilacs with the city's sick, crippled and infirm. Early morning trains loaded with lilacs will roll into the downtown terminals from the south and west sections of the metropolitan area stretching back into the country for more than fifty miles. North side suburbanites will have their lilac distribution day on Tuesday of next week.

The flowers are being collected and distributed by the Chicago Plant, Flower and Fruit guild, working in coöperation with suburban garden clubs and THE TRIBUNE. Guild committees at the suburban stations soon after sunup were to receive the lilacs and see them carefully handled and loaded onto the trains which are transporting them free of charge to the Chicago terminals.

Trucks Will Distribute Them.

At the downtown stations another group of guild committees will be on hand to receive the lilacs and load them onto TRIBUNE trucks, which will take the flowers to hospitals, social settlements and other institutions throughout the city.

With a scrimpy supply of lilacs produced in most gardens and suburban plantations, guild workers have combed the metropolitan area for blossoms during the last twenty-four hours. Through their extra effort it is expected that the guild will be able to live up to its pledge of supplying bouquets to the 16,000 patients in more than 100 Chicago hospitals and similar institutions.

Yesterday the Chicago Motor club announced that it was enlisting the support of automobile owners of the city and in surrounding suburbs in gathering the lilacs and transporting them to downtown stations for distribution.

Labels for Lilac Cars.

The club is giving out cards that are hung on the outside of cars whose owners are willing to coöperate in hauling the blossoms. The cards read: "Share your lilacs—This car will carry your blossoms on lilac days, May 15 and 19."

With each card car owners are given a slip explaining that the blossoms they accept are to be delivered direct to Tribune Tower not later than 10 a. m. today and next Tuesday. The cards are being distributed by the motor club and are also available at the club's touring bureau, 66 East South Water street.

306 YEAR OLD TREE, SUGAR PEAR, BLOOMS; IN ENDICOTT GARDEN

Danvers, Mass., May 14.—[Special.]—The oldest sugar pear tree in America, one of the oldest in the world, is in blossom at Danversport today for its 306th year.

The tree, which is viewed by thousands of sightseers yearly, stands on the grounds at 139 Endicott street, surrounded by a protective fence, and consists of twin suckers growing from the original stump, which was shattered by gales in 1815 and 1837.

It is said to have been brought to this country when a sapling by Gov. John Endicott on the ship Arbelia and planted on his farm, in what was formerly part of Salem but is now known as Danversport. Set out by the governor in his famous orchard garden, which he received by grant, the sugar pear tree has outlived approximately 500 other fruit trees which were planted at about the same time.

Blossoms are profuse on the branches but the quantity of fruit to be yielded this year is doubtful because of the tree's age.

NAVY PLANE DIVES IN PANAMA CANAL, KILLING OFFICER

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

BALBOA, Canal Zone, May 14.—Lieut. Harold P. Richards, U. S. N., supply corps, attached to the U. S. S. Ranger, was killed today when a seaplane crashed in the Panama canal opposite the bridge crossing the Chargress river at Gamboa.

The plane's pilot, Chief Petty Officer Thomas W. Neal, and Storeman Henry Melville were rescued by Canal Zone Policeman Harold Thompson, who rushed in a police launch to the scene of the accident.

Neal and Melville managed to climb out of the plane before it sank. The latter saved a satchel containing $20,000 in currency, which was returned to the fleet flagship Pennsylvania.

Glendale, Calif., May 14.—(AP)—Howard Hughes, sportsman aviator, arrived at Grand Central air terminal tonight at 10:15:25 p. m. [Chicago time] after a nonstop flight from Chicago.

His time on the lunch in Chicago, dinner in Los Angeles flight was eight hours fifteen minutes and twenty-five seconds.

Seattle, Wash., May 14.—(AP)—Rescued in fog so thick their lifeboats were hidden from each other, the 144 passengers and part of the crew of the foundering steamship North Sea were sped to shelter in View cove and Rose inlet, southern Alaska, tonight.

The steamship, which early this morning ran aground on Marsh point, Prince of Wales Island, floated free and then started sinking, reported herself lying in rock sided Eureka pass this evening, her pumps controling a rapid leak.

The Northland Transportation Co. of Seattle, owners of the ship, said Capt. A. W. Nickerson of the North Sea reported no salvage assistance necessary and that removal of the passengers and enough crew men to man the lifeboats was merely a "precautionary measure."

Picked Up by Cutter.

They were picked up by the coast guard cutter Alert, which had dashed out of Ketchikan, 90 miles away, when the North Sea reported herself in distress. The cutter began rescuing passengers 28 minutes after the vessel wirelessed "we're sinking."

View cove is about 90 miles from Ketchikan. The North Sea's owners said the Alert apparently decided to land the refugees there and return to the stricken steamship rather than undertake the longer trip to Ketchikan.

Wireless dispatches from Ketchikan told of thick weather and said the little cutter was jammed with the rescued. They totalled about 180.

Educator and Party Aboard.

While the North Sea's passenger list gave no addresses, the name, "Dr. F. A. Thompson," indicated that Dr. F. A. Thompson, president of the Montana School of Mines, and 21 senior students were among the North Sea's passengers.

The school party left Butte to board the North Sea Monday on a "graduation cruise" and to inspect Alaska mining enterprises.

U. S. Masses Forces to Hunt Agent's Slayer

More than 100 agents of the alcohol tax unit of the department of internal revenue were searching through the Illinois and Indiana haunts of post-prohibition bootleggers last night for the desperate crew of liquor runners who shot and killed Agent John R. Foster near St. John, Ind., 15 miles south of Hammond, early yesterday. One suspect was in custody and six other persons were held for questioning.

The killing of Foster brought forcibly to public attention the strides that the reborn bootlegging industry is making in its battle to take business away from heavily taxed legitimate liquor dealers.

Slain by Rum Suspects.

Foster was shot through the heart as he and another agent were pursuing an automobile they suspected was transporting alcohol from the stills of Cook county to the thirsty but thrifty residents of the Hoosier state. Following this the killers sped on and escaped.

Immediately after the slaying, which took place an hour after midnight, was reported, the alcohol tax units in Chicago, Milwaukee, and Indianapolis mobilized their entire forces in the search for the gunmen. The Indiana state police were given a hurry call to patrol the roads of the northern half of their state.

Seize Booze Runner.

The aid of the Chicago police and those of the southern suburbs was also enlisted. The widespread hunt for the quick shooting bootleggers had the following results:

1. In Chicago Heights, less than three hours after Foster was killed, a squad of policemen seized a booze runner with an automobile in which he was carrying 200 gallons of alcohol, a sawed off shotgun, and a number of rifle cartridges similar to the one with which Foster was shot.

2. Alcohol tax unit agents raided a house at 3721 West 60th place, seized a still in operation and arrested Joseph Krupa, 42 years old, a resident of Indianapolis.

3. Chicago detectives, led by Chief John L. Sullivan, late last night broke into a house at 121 East 123d street, where they arrested Mrs. Mary Sola and four men and seized 160 gallons of alcohol in cans.

Suspect Linked to Ring.

The suspect taken in Chicago Heights is James Jacobs, 40 years old, a farmer who resides outside Indianapolis. He readily admitted that he was an alcohol runner and that he took his stock from the Sola cache and made a regular run into northern Indiana.

"I pay $8.75 for a five gallon can," he said, "and only get $10.25 a can. The profit is only 30 cents a gallon. I got into this because it's better than working for the WPA. That's what I used to do."

It was pointed out that with alcohol selling at such low prices payment of the regular government tax would about double the retail selling prices that are charged by bootleggers.

Jacobs was eating in a Chicago Heights restaurant when he was ar-

Men Doctors Uphold Her at Convention.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., May 14.—[Special.]—The use of drugs in childbirth was characterized as a dangerous fad at a session of eminent obstetricians of the American Medical association today. The revolt against such practice was led by Dr. Gertrude Nielson of Oklahoma City, the mother of three children.

The pains of childbirth have been so exaggerated in the minds of American women, she said, that they are in deadly fear at the approach of a baby. This fear itself, she declared, is largely responsible for the pains suffered. The best rôle for the obstetrician, she held, is to allay the fears of the patient and preserve the feeling of elation which the prospective mother first feels.

Holds Drugs Prolong Ills.

Drugs delay birth, Dr. Nielson said, and psychoanalysis has shown that many of the disorders of adult life can be traced to the psychic trauma of difficult birth. Much of the process of childbirth can go on without pain if the mother is free of the fear emotion.

Dr. Buford G. Hamilton of Kansas City said that "American obstetrics seems to be becoming a competitive practice to please American women in accordance with what they read in the lay magazines."

Dr. Joseph B. De Lee of Chicago said that the pain of childbirth is in a great measure psychological. There is no reason to believe, he said, that the condition of the mind cannot affect many of the muscles active in the child bearing process. The best and safest aid to mothers, he declared, will come when the obstetrician knows how to use suggestion successfully. He himself has given small doses of an innocuous substance, at the same time assuring the woman it would put her to sleep. It did, through his suggestion alone. He has used hypnotism, but warned against its use in inexperienced hands.

Blames Tour by Doctors.

Dr. J. L. Baer of Chicago declared the present fad for painless childbirth started about 20 years ago with the American tour of two European doctors who were sponsored by a sensational magazine.

At this point Dr. Rudolph Holmes of Chicago stepped forward and said:

"I was the man who first brought scopolamine [the drug used in twilight sleep] to America. I didn't know what I was doing, I have found out since." He protested against making the "mother an animated mass without any mentality."

Dr. Nicholas J. Eastman of Baltimore suggested that a premature infant might be killed by giving these drugs.

Describes New Technique.

Dr. Frederick Emmert of St. Louis told of a drug now being used which shortens the period of labor to less than four hours, which produces complete forgetfulness in 80 per cent of the cases and which apparently does no harm to mother or child. Dr. Howard W. Kane of Washington described a pain killer, a mixture of paraldahyde and benzyl alcohol, with which, he said, more than 1,600 infants had been delivered safely in Washington.

Artificial fever produced electrically as one of the latest and most powerful weapons of scientific medicine was advanced at several sessions today.

Dr. Clarence A. Neymann, psychiatrist of Northwestern university, Chicago, and of the department of pediatrics of the University of Illinois and the Cook county hospital, described the successful treatment of 25 children with St. Vitus dance at the hospital during the last two years.

Seek to Allay Scourges.

Treatment of St. Vitus dance, however, is an incidental result of artificial fever xxperimentation. Its more general use is said to be promised in the treatment of paresis, syphilis, gonorrhea, rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, neuritis, and certain forms of heart disease, some of the greatest scourges of the human race.

Dr. Neymann first experimented with this therapy in paresis cases, seeking to produce a fever which would not leave its own ill effects, such as in the malarial treatment of this disease. It has since been found that this method is successful in the general treatment of syphilis and rheumatism.

A comparative study of the use of artificial fever and therapeutic malaria in the treatment of paresis was reported by Drs. Clarke H. Barnacle, Franklin G. Ebaugh, and Jack R. Ewalt of Denver.

A symposium on the action potentials of the brain, led by doctors from the Harvard medical school, attracted the attention of the section on nervous and mental diseases.

So-called brain waves have caused much study and controversy among pathologists as well as among psychologists. The human brain generates electrical potentials strong enough to be detected through the intact skull, according to Drs. Pauline A. and Hallowell Davis of Boston. Hour after hour, waking or sleeping, the electric pulsations continue, it is reported. Disturbances such as epilepsy spread from region to region of the brain like fire in a hayfield. In sleep the waves are slower.

Atlantic City was named the 1937 convention city. It won by one vote, 70 to 69, over Philadelphia.

Individuals Shown to Differ.

An individual pattern of activity is shown in the 16 persons studied. It is suggested that the classification of rhythms might be as accurate as finger prints. Identical twins show identical wave patterns. Drs. Frederic A. Gibbs, William G. Lennox and Irma L. Gibbs of Boston reported on the significance of these electrograms in the diagnosis of epilepsy. Forty-five patients were recorded. A second or less before the clinical onset of petit mal, it was found, the normal waves from the brain are replaced by large waves followed by a rapid negative deflection. This is repeated three times a second. The waves have 10 or 20 times the normal voltage.

The new study has found many clews to the place where epilepsy seems to be generated. This now appears to be the frontal lobe, a section of gray matter in the forward part of the brain which can be safely removed by surgery. It has been demonstrated that removal of this area does not seriously affect the mind.

Not Sure of Starting Point.

It is certain that the electrical clews picked up at Harvard all come from this frontal lobe. But it is not yet sure that epilepsy comes solely from this area. It might originate deep down in the brain and merely use the frontal lobe as the delivery depot.

Most of the Harvard studies have been made on petit mal. Grand mal, the convulsive type of epilepsy, is apparently located in the same place in the brain.

A clew of unusual hope and significance is that some drugs prevent the epileptic waves without affecting the normal brain waves. This means possible discovery of a "differential" which might relieve epilepsy.

Dr. J. H. J. Upham, Columbus, dean of the Ohio state university school of medicine, was chosen president-elect today.

NEW PRESIDENT OF DOCTORS IS SLIGHTLY BETTER

Seattle, Wash., May 14.—(AP)—Hospital attendants today said Dr. J. Tate Mason, Seattle goiter specialist and president of the American Medical association, was "slightly improved after a restful night," although a blood clot has started gangrene in his right leg.

While he lay dangerously ill in a hospital named in his honor here members of the association installed him president Tuesday night.

GERMANY SEEKS DEAL ON AUSTRIA WITH MUSSOLINI

Coup in Vienna Excites Nazi Chieftains.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 14.—Berlin and Rome today entered negotiations about the possibility of reaching an understanding concerning the political crisis in Austria.

The ousting of Prince Ernst Ruediger von Starhemberg as vice chancellor of Austria by Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg stirred German political and military circles. The Fascist prince is a bitter enemy of the Austrian Nazis.

German leaders said they feared "an explosion of the powder barrel in the heart of Europe."

British Envoy Sees Hitler.

Sir Eric Phipps, the British ambassador, conferred with Reichfuehrer Hitler for two and a half hours. Officially they discussed Hitler's Rhineland peace proposals, but it is understood part of the conversation was devoted to the Austrian situation.

German diplomats believe Great Britain encouraged Schuschnigg to get rid of his pro-Italian vice chancellor.

This encouragement is said to have been proffered by Sir Austen Chamberlain, former British foreign secretary, on his recent visit to Vienna. Chamberlain is supposed to have promised to support Schuschnigg if he sided with the little entente [Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia, and Rumania] and avoided Italian as well as German entanglements.

Exiled Nazi Flaunts Badge.

Alfred Frauenfeld, former leader of the Austrian Nazis, who was expelled from Austria and now is a member of the German reichstag, publicly flaunted a badge of the "Austrian Legion" this afternoon.

He said he believes the clashes between Schuschnigg and Von Starhemberg were unavoidable, "especially since the Austrian government is scarcely able to keep order in outlying provinces such as Styria and Carinthia, where nationalist feeling and opposition to the Vienna rule of clerics is running high."

Austrian Nazis are nursing the hope that Schuschnigg will disband Von Starhemberg's private Fascist Heimwehr [Home Guard].

Brands Prince an Enemy.

"Such action would automatically drive the Heimwehr into our arms," they said. "The skeleton units of the Austrian Nazis are ready for this development. It would make the Austrian Nazis strong enough to master the 'Fatherland Front.'"

Political observers are of the opinion that Schuschnigg has smashed the political influence of the Heimwehr.

"Two armies cannot exist side by side in a small or a big country," they said. "It was the same way in Germany. Now that the Austrians have reintroduced conscription, they feel there is no longer any urgent need for the Heimwehr."

Open Conflict Feared.

VIENNA, May 14.—(AP)—An open conflict between the government of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg and the Fascist Heimwehr, private army of Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, ousted suddenly as Austria's vice chancellor and "semi-dictator," was a possibility tonight.

"The real contest is just starting," the deposed vice chancellor asserted as he left to attend a sports event in Rome.

"All my life I have been a fighter, and Austria soon will see I am not licked now. When I said recently my Heimwehr would be pushed out of the picture only over my dead body I meant just that.

"In about a week the world will hear from the Heimwehr."

Von Starhemberg has been regarded as a close friend of Premier Mussolini. Observers said relations between Von Starhemberg and Il Duce cooled recently. The Italian dictator, who commissioned Von Starhemberg in 1929 to make Austria Fascist, is reported to be disappointed at the prince's slow progress.

At the chancellery Schuschnigg, who holds four portfolios in his new government, radiated confidence as he set up a régime inclined toward liberality and democracy rather than Fascism. He promised loyalty to Italy, dispatching a message to Mussolini assuring him that Austria remains loyal to her "protector."

League Reform to Admit U. S. Urged by Premier of Britain

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 14.—Modification of the league of nations' covenant will be urged on its members next autumn, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin told 7,000 women Conservatives today.

Baldwin said he thinks reform of the league is necessary as a result of its failure to stop Italy's conquest of Ethiopia by sanctions.

He repeated the usual theme of regretting that Germany, Japan, and the United States are not members.

Deplores Difficulty.

"There is no use overlooking the difficulty created for this country when sanctions were under discussion so long as these three great countries were outside the league," he said.

In the prime minister's opinion, the league changes required are such as would enable all nations to join.

"The famous article 16—that on sanctions—was an experiment for us and for others in international policies," he said, "but I have never held that the failure of this experiment meant the end of the whole league system.

"I do not intend to take the blame for what has happened. It is known that we did much more than any one else and we would have gone to the extreme limit in accepting the consequences of further sanctions if others had been willing to go along."

Britain and Empire First.

He told the women that military sanctions are an essential part of league security and in the long run could not be avoided, but he pointed out that the safety of Britain and the empire comes first and that collective security does not mean that all the work is to be done by the British navy.

Baldwin stressed, however, that the nation must face risks if it wishes to maintain prestige and hinted that public opinion must be educated to the seriousness of the real situation.

"The conclusions we reach during the next few months will be of the utmost importance for the future of Europe," he concluded.

With relations between Italy and Britain grown more tense in the last few days, a striking commentary is afforded on the split state of public opinion here in a new statement of Labor policy and defense of peace prepared by the National Council of Labor.

Labor Hits War of Aggression.

The statement reaffirms under the heading of "guiding principles" that "British labor will refuse to support any British government if it becomes involved in war by its own aggressive action and refuses to submit the dispute to arbitration."

The manifesto proceeds at the same time to condemn Germany, Japan, and Italy, but instead of meeting military aggression with force, Labor policy would be to summon an economic conference at Geneva and redivide the world's raw materials.

Along with this come increasing signs of feverishly hurried rearmament, indicating that behind the inactive British diplomatic front there is great activity in other lines.

EXECUTIVE OF N. Y. CLOTHING COMPANY IS FOUND STRANGLED

New York, May 14.—[Special.]—Edgar L. Eckert, 54, assistant treasurer and director of the Rogers Peet company, men's clothing concern, was found strangled today in a washroom of the subway station at 8th avenue and 42d street.

Police believe Eckert was attacked by a hold-up man in the washroom, despite the fact that a small amount of money and some jewelry were found on his person.

NEW JERSEY'S BOY SLAYER LOSES LAST CHANCE IN COURT

Trenton, N. J., May 14.—(AP)—Jacob Ciemiengo, 16 year old killer, whose bravado faded in New Jersey's bleak death house, lost his final appeal today for a new trial.

The Court of Errors and Appeals, the state's highest tribunal, ruled that Ciemiengo and a companion, George Hildebrand, 26, "brutally and deliberately conceived" the murder of Herman Eilers, Florence township poultry farmer, "in order to perpetrate a robbery" that netted $4.

Ciemiengo's last hope of escaping the chair lies with the Court of Pardons, which could commute his sentence to life imprisonment. If he loses there and goes to the chair before his next birthday, July 16, he will be the youngest person to be electrocuted in New Jersey since death by electricity became the law in 1908.

DOCTORS PROBE CO-OP HOSPITAL WITH U. S. CASH

Kansas City, May 14.—(AP)—The American Medical association's house of delegates instructed its judicial council today in a formal resolution to investigate a charge that "plans are about to be consummated for the loan of federal money to individuals to enable them to subscribe for stock" in a coöperative hospital.

Dr. McClain Rogers of Clinton, Ia., who made the charge, said the hospital was at Elk City, Okla.

The resolution instructed the judicial council to carry the matter directly to President Roosevelt, if necessary.

Dr. Rogers said he had been informed the rural resettlement administration's regional office at Dallas, Tex., was ready to lend money to farmers with which to buy stock in the hospital for "contract service." He said that the hospital promised complete medical service as its part of the contract.

ITALIAN DEPUTIES RATIFY IL DUCE'S EMPIRE DECREE

Mussolini Calls Fascist Act "Irrevocable."

The deputies, cheering as they voted, then unanimously ratified the new empire decree announced Saturday by Il Duce. It annexes Ethiopia and makes Marshal Pietro Badoglio viceroy of Ethiopia.

Italy Changes Front.

Il Duce was not in the bubbling good humor which marked his recent public appearances. His mood appeared black, probably because of the Geneva situation.

Among those who heard Mussolini were Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the delegation which was withdrawn from the league of nations; the ambassadors of Germany and Japan, and the Austrian minister.

Il Duce's Speech.

Il Duce told the deputies:

"The will of victorious Rome in its African undertaking was expressed in the irrevocable affirmation by which, on Saturday, the grand council of Fascism proclaimed all Italians consecrated under the vow:

"'The territories and the peoples which appertained to the empire of Ethiopia are placed under the whole and complete sovereignty of the kingdom of Italy. The title of emperor of Ethiopia is assumed for himself and his successors by the king of Italy.'

"Let us now consecrate, in the law of the state, these solemn determinations of the Fascist people."

Praises Badoglio.

In presenting the decree making Marshal Badoglio viceroy of Ethiopia, Il Duce added:

"Owing to the fact of this incontrovertible right, it is necessary to provide for the government of a new and great colony.

"The first governor general of Ethiopia, with the title of viceroy, cannot be any other than he who already has joined with the government of two bordering colonies the command of the armed forces which conquered the Ethiopian empire. Marshal Badoglio has merited this honor."

CONFER TODAY ON PLAN TO ENLARGE CHICAGO AIRPORT

Representatives of the eight commercial air lines using Chicago airport and engineers for the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad will meet this morning with a city council subcommittee to consider ways and means of enlarging Chicago airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue. The meeting will be held in the council chambers.

The problem of most importance, aldermen said, is financing removal of the railroad's tracks which bound the airport on the north between Cicero and Central avenues. If these tracks were removed the field's size could be doubled to include the entire area between 55th and 63d streets and between Cicero and Central avenues.

Railroad officials say they are willing to remove the tracks if they are paid approximately $800,000 for the cost of rerouting the tracks.

Says He Paid $10,000 in Two Years.

New York, May 14.—[Special.]—Alfred E. Smith Jr., son of the former governor, today filed a complaint charging he was blackmailed for $10,000 in cash by a young woman and three men and forced to sign promissory notes for $10,000 in addition. The complaint will be investigated by the New York county grand jury Monday, Prosecutor William C. Dodge said, at which time evidence will be submitted by Assistant District Attorneys Harold W. Hastings and John J. Sullivan.

Young Smith, a lawyer who has been separated from his wife, was said to have accused the four of blackmailing him after the woman had charged that he had relations with her in a West 23d street hotel in the summer of 1933, and threatened suit.

Met at Family Party.

It was reported today that Smith's story to the district attorney was that he met the young woman at a family "party" in the home of a physician on Riverside drive and offered to escort her home. It was said he admitted accompanying her to the hotel instead.

Later, according to the same report, he was approached by a man who told him he would have to advance the woman $1,000 for an illegal operation. He paid and was told that he would have to part with more cash "to keep the girl quiet and prevent this matter getting into the newspapers."

It was alleged that he paid $5,000, whereupon he demanded and received a "release" from further demands and a threatened suit in the Supreme court. It was charged also that the demands continued until he paid another $5,000 and gave promissory notes for $10,000.

Reports today were that the young woman named by Smith admitted having received $1,000 but insisted she knew nothing about the other $9,000 and the $10,000 in notes.

TELLS HOW ETHIOPIAN ENVOY WAS SOLD ON DUMDUM BULLETS

LONDON, May 15 [Friday].—(AP)—The Daily Herald printed today a story of how Dr. Warqnex C. Martin, Ethiopian minister to London, was persuaded by a mysterious Col. Gustave Mezler to sign an authorization to obtain 3,000,000 dumdum [expanding] bullets from Birmingham firms.

The newspaper said the colonel claimed to be an agent for companies offering to supply "soft nosed" bullets in return for concessions in Ethiopia.

"Martin admits frankly he signed the authorization," a legation secretary was said to have told the Herald. "He was not an expert and did not know that soft nosed bullets are dumdum bullets."

The Daily Herald stated the bullets never were delivered and the Ethiopian legation had neither seen nor heard anything of Mezler since.

SUMMER SCHOOL PRINCIPALS TOLD OF THEIR DUTIES

Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson yesterday gave instructions to principals of public summer schools about the sessions which are to start June 15. The summer sessions will be conducted in Chicago Normal college, the three junior colleges, fourteen elementary schools, and nine high schools.

Dr. Johnson told the principals that hereafter the rule limiting teachers of summer school classes to two successive years of service will be extended to include them. They will not be eligible to serve again until the fourth successive year. The rotation, he said, is designed to give more than one group of teachers and principals an opportunity for summer employment.

In discussing the list of summer school principals approved at Wednesday's meeting of the school board, Dr. Johnson said he recommended them because of their qualifications. Eight of the elementary school principals will conduct their first summer sessions. In three high schools where principals are scheduled for retirements this year, principals from other schools will be in charge.

'BRICK' ATTACKER OF NURSE LINKED TO Y. W. SLAYING

Flees Down Fire Escape After Beating Victim.

While police searched yesterday for the colored prowler who assaulted a young student nurse in her room in a nurses' home at St. Luke's hospital early in the morning, similarity of circumstances surrounding that attack and the murder of Mrs. Lillian D. Guild in the Y. W. C. A. hotel last Saturday strengthened the theory that the crimes were committed by the same man.

In each case the victim was beaten on the head with a brick and the assailant fled down a fire escape into Michigan avenue. The scene of the attack yesterday was room 316 on the fourth floor of Saranac house, one of two homes for nurses at the hospital, 1423-25 South Michigan avenue. The building is only a half mile from the Y. W. C. A. hotel at 830 South Michigan avenue, where Mrs. Guild was slain.

Cut on Head by Brick.

The nurse who was assaulted yesterday is Miss Lois Rickert, 20 years old, of Detroit. She suffered a three inch cut on the left side of the head from the blow of the brick. Last night her condition was reported satisfactory.

Miss Rickert was asleep when the prowler entered her room and police believe the man planned to rape her after knocking her unconscious. His attempt was frustrated when Miss Rickert's moans awakened other nurses. They screamed and the Negro, after smashing the window with the brick, fled.

Miss Edna Fletcher, 20 years old, was one of the nurses awakened by Miss Rickert's moans. She sleeps in room 315, adjoining Miss Rickert's. She went to Miss Rickert's room and found the intruder bending over his victim. Her screams attracted Nurse Catherine Burwell, her roommate, and Nurse Ruth Chase, in room 312, who also had been awakened. They gave similar accounts of the attacker.

Brick Found on Fire Escape.

The brick used in the attack was found on the fire escape. It was blood stained. A gray hat, believed that of the Negro, and a wooden wedge about 30 inches long, which apparently had been used to force open the window, also were found.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett, 39 years old, 1508 North La Salle street, a waitress, was beaten on the head early yesterday by a colored man near her home.

JAS. W. STEVENS, EX-INSURANCE EXECUTIVE, DEAD

James W. Stevens, former chairman of the Illinois Life Insurance company and one of the principal organizers of the corporation that built the Stevens hotel and the Hotel La Salle, died last night at home, 1260 Lake Shore drive.

Mr. Stevens, who was born at Colchester, Ill., on May 25, 1853, had been in poor health since he suffered a stroke three years ago.

In his youth Mr. Stevens entered the dry goods business in Colchester, but gave up this enterprise and came to Chicago to join his brother Charles in forming the merchandise firm, Charles A. Stevens & Bros. He continued as a director of the firm for many years, although after 1893 he devoted most of his time to the Illinois Life Insurance company.

He leased the site of the Hotel La Salle in 1905. The hotel was built in 1908 and Mr. Stevens became chairman of the board. In 1922 he and his associates purchased the site of the Stevens hotel on Michigan avenue between 7th and 8th streets, and in 1927 completed the building, which was advertised as the largest hotel in the world. It cost about $15,000,000.

The depression made operation of these properties difficult and the two hotels were placed in receivership in June, 1932. The Illinois Life Insurance company also was placed in receivership a short time later. In 1933 it was alleged that Mr. Stevens and his sons, Raymond and Ernest J. Stevens, had juggled the assets of the insurance company in making loans to the two hotel companies. Indictments charging embezzlement were brought against them.

Never Brought to Trial.

Ernest J. Stevens was convicted, but the conviction was reversed by the Illinois Supreme court on the ground that he had been guilty of nothing worse than bad business judgment. The death of Raymond Stevens prevented his trial and the illness of their father prevented his being taken to court. No attempt was made to press the charges after his recovery.

James W. Stevens was formerly a director of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company. He was a 32d degree Mason, a Knight Templar, and a member of the South Shore Country club, the Union League club, and the Chicago Athletic association.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice M. Stevens; his son, Ernest J. Stevens; a brother, John H. Stevens; eight grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren. Funeral arrangements are to be announced later.

RECOVER $51,374 MORE OF MAHAN KIDNAP RANSOM

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Recovery of $51,374 of the Weyerhaeuser ransom money, or money taken in exchange for those bills, in the last few days, was announced today by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation.

Special agents located $14,000 in a glass jar hidden in the ground about 27 miles west of Battle Mountain, Nev. The balance was recovered from William Mahan, convicted kidnaper of young George Weyerhaeuser, or from his automobile following his arrest in San Francisco last week.

Hoover said this sum makes a total of $157,319 of the $200,000 paid for the return of the Tacoma lumber fortune heir which has been recovered. It is believed the residue probably is in circulation.

Some Ransom Bills Changed.

"Mahan has admitted," Hoover said, "that all the money recovered from him which was not actually ransom money was obtained by him through exchanging the ransom bills for other currency."

Although many of the recovered bills bore altered serial numbers, experts in the technical laboratories of the federal bureau of identification restored their original numbers.

Hoover said the glass jar found buried in Nevada contained $13,000 in $100 bills and $1,000 in $50 bills which Mahan had obtained through exchange of the actual ransom currency.

Money Jar Telescoped.

The jar was "telescoped" in three successive tins and then placed inside a pail, Hoover said, so that although the currency was only six inches under ground, it appeared to be in an absolutely waterproof container.

Authorities found $90,790 of the original ransom money in June, 1935, in Immigration pass, near Salt Lake City, Utah, shortly after the arrest of Harmon Metz Waley and his wife, Margaret, who were subsequently sent to prison for their part in the kidnaping.

An additional $15,155 in ransom bills was found in the automobile which Mahan abandoned in Butte, Mont., when policemen approached him the day after the Waley arrests.

Hoover said the money recently recovered will be placed in the hands of federal court officials at Tacoma, Wash., home of the Weyerhaeusers, for "appropriate disposition by court order."

Robinson in U. S. Prison.

Atlanta, Ga., May 14.—[Special.]—Thomas H. Robinson Jr., captured only three days ago, began serving a life term in the federal penitentiary here today for the $50,000 kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Louisville society matron.

The 29 year old Tennessean, last of the major kidnapers, was smiling as he slowly walked through the prison door after a train trip here from Louisville, where he pleaded guilty under the Lindbergh law last night.

He was immediately given a number and started through the routine of quarantine and examination.

Robinson will spend tonight in a "guest cell" and later will be assigned to a job and quarters with the other 2,850 convicts.

It was suggested that should he display unusual histrionic ability, such as that of female impersonation by which he frequently evaded federal sleuths since the 1934 kidnaping, he may become an actor in prison plays.

CIVICS CLASSES SEE WHY CRIME DOES NOT PAY

Eighty-five boy pupils in civics classes at Crane Technical High school were given a practical demonstration yesterday of what happens to criminals. They were the first group to visit the Criminal courts and the county jail under the educational program developed by judges and school officials.

The program calls for groups of high school pupils to be taken to the criminal courts each Thursday to observe the punishment of criminals as a deterrent to juvenile delinquency.

With their instructor, E. W. Bossing, the pupils were taken on a tour of the jail, including a view of the electric chair. Then they were taken to the court of Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle where they watched the arraignment of more than a dozen defendants charged with robbery, burglary, embezzlement, or automobile theft.

Judge Normoyle called their attention to the case of William Webster, 19 years old, who pleaded guilty to the theft of three automobiles four days after he escaped from the St. Charles School for Boys.

"The one thing we want to impress on your minds is that crime never succeeds," the judge told them.

JUDGE, 74, DARES GOV. CURLEY TO FISTIC COMBAT

Plan to Test Bench Mentality Stirs Ire.

Boston, Mass., May 14.—(AP)—A 74 year old special district court justice, indignant at Gov. James M. Curley's proposal to retire judges past 70, challenged the governor tonight to meet him in physical combat in the auditorium of the house of representatives.

In a letter Judge Patrick J. Duane, former mayor of Waltham, suggested to the governor that he be the first to be given the test proposed by Curley to determine the mental fitness of jurists older than 70.

The judge, who won the sobriquet "silk hat" Duane years ago for his spruce attire and shiny silk topper, said he would allow the governor "a choice of weapons."

Stirs Up Hornet's Nest.

But he added, "as for me, I still have the two mitts I left Ireland with 72 years ago."

Duane asserted that regardless of the outcome he would resign his position provided "this humiliating test of Massachusetts judges is over with instantly."

The Waltham justice was named to the bench by former governor Joseph B. Ely, who, although a Democrat like Curley, is a bitter political foe of the man who succeeded him in office.

Curley's proposal to subject elderly jurists to mental and physical examination stirred up much criticism during the day, but brought from the governor the declaration he was merely following constitutional procedure in determining their fitness to hold court.

Branded "Raid on Judiciary."

From Ely, however, came the charge that Curley's move was "murder in the first degree," while Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield of Boston professed himself unable to find words adequate "to express the indignation and sense of outrage which every decent citizen must feel at this proposed raid on the judiciary."

Curley said he had ordered all judges in the state to answer two questions.

The Questions Proposed.

The first asked "Your age at last birthday and your own views as to your present condition of health, both mental and physical."

The second, give "a statement of fact, if any, which in your opinion operates in any degree to interfere with or prevent in any measure your giving full service to the state in the performance of your judicial duties."

Curley pointed out the constitution permitted the governor and council to retire judges because of "advanced age or mental or physical disability."

BOYS OF BERWYN HAVE OWN IDEAS ON GOVERNMENT

Berwyn officials turned the suburb over to boy honor pupils in the eighth grade of the Berwyn schools yesterday and before they got it back the boys had passed an ordinance making a pitcher of lemonade the parental fine for compelling children to bathe.

The occasion was Boy Government day, observed annually, in which the boys are given an opportunity to get first hand experience in civics. The boys were taken on a tour of city institutions, entertained at luncheon, and then were given the reins of the city and held a mock council meeting.

Legion Spirek, 14 years old, was the boys' mayor. Their chief of police was Fred Wender, 13 years old, and their fire chief was Elmer Sistek, 14 years old.

PICKPOCKET JOE FREE AGAIN; HIS 'INSANITY' PAST

He's Costing State Too Much, Says Judge.

Joe Ronnenberg, 46 years old, veteran pickpocket who has evaded prosecution several times by pleading insanity and being committed to state institutions, was released from the Illinois state hospital at Kankakee by Judge Joseph B. David in the Superior court here yesterday. He was freed on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by his father, Frank Ronnenberg, owner of a drygoods store at 151 West 31st street.

The elder Ronnenberg told Judge David that he had had his son committed to Kankakee, but that Joe is no longer insane.

A Borderline Case.

G. W. Morrow, assistant managing officer of the state hospital, who brought Ronnenberg to court, told the judge that in his opinion the man is a borderline case, but would not say definitly that Ronnenberg is insane.

"The state has had more than enough expense on this man's account already," Judge David said. "Besides, the laws of Illinois don't provide for the incarceration of a borderline case."

The record of Ronnenberg shows that he has several times used the plea of insanity when about to face trial for his pocket picking activities, which began in 1909.

Arrested First at 14.

The first entry in Ronnenberg's record on file at the Chicago Crime commission shows that he was sent to a reform school when he was 14 years old. He was indicted on a burglary charge in 1908, but the charge was quashed.

In the succeeding years Ronnenberg was arrested as a pickpocket many times in Chicago, Omaha, Cincinnati, Cleveland, and St. Louis. He was fined on numerous occasions and served several jail sentences, but on more than one occasion was freed.

In 1915 County Judge Thomas F. Scully in Chicago, before whom Ronnenberg appeared on an insanity plea while under a pickpocket charge, pointed out that on numerous occasions during the eight preceding years Ronnenberg had pleaded insanity to escape prosecution for letting his fingers stray into strangers' pockets.

Device Good Many Times.

That Ronnenberg continued the use of this device is indicated by his police record. While accused as a pickpocket in 1924 he was committed to the Chicago state hospital at Dunning on a physician's certificate testifying to his insanity. He was out in a few months, and in 1925 was fined $200 for picking another pocket.

In 1926 Ronnenberg avoided prosecution by going to the state mental diseases hospital in Menard. Again he was freed and within a year was once more arrested for exploring the pockets of a fellow street car passenger to whom he had not been introduced. This time he was sent to the Elgin state hospital for the insane.

Four years later, in 1931, the man was released on a habeas corpus writ by Judge Harry M. Fisher in the Circuit court on the plea of his mother that she needed his support.

Ronnenberg's most recent arrest as a pickpocket occurred in 1933, the year that he was committed to Kankakee. To fellow inmates in the institution there Ronnenberg boasted that he had picked the pocket of a senator who was listening to President Roosevelt's inaugural address in Washington.

DIRECTOR OF TWO ROCKFORD PAPERS KILLED IN CRASH

La Salle, Ill., May 14.—(AP)—Elliott Bartlett, 52, director of the Rockford, Ill., Consolidated Newspapers, Inc., publishers of the Morning Star and the Register Republic, was killed tonight in an automobile accident on U. S. highway 51 at Tonica, south of here. His companion, T. E. Hall, 35, Rockford salesman, was slightly injured.

The accident occurred when an automobile driven by Mrs. Arthur Wolf of Streator, Ill., struck a camping trailer attached to Bartlett's car.

Riding with Mrs. Wolf were her daughter, Mrs. Donna Tice, and Mrs. Julia Whalen of Streator. All escaped injury.

Mrs. Bartlett had been visiting friends in Boston and was expected to return to Rockford tomorrow.

Coroner H. F. Lester said he would hold his inquest into Bartlett's death tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Wilson, 32, also was burned and is not expected to recover.

PLACED UNDER PEACE BOND.

CAB DRIVER GETS ADDED JAIL TERM FOR AUTO CRASH

Judges in Auto Courts Continue Campaign.

Four men were sentenced to jail yesterday as Judge Gibson E. Gorman of the Safety court and Judge John Gutknecht of the Trafic court continued their efforts to punish violators of trafic laws.

Harold Hughes, 35 years old, 605 St. Clair street, a Yellow cab driver who has been in jail since April 26, when his cab crashed into an automobile at Broadway and Sheridan road, was sentenced by Judge Gorman to serve five more days. Police testified that Hughes admitted drinking "a few bottles of beer" before the crash.

Thomas Tully, 27 years old, 408 West 79th street, a plasterer, also was sentenced by Judge Gorman to five days in jail. His car crashed into another machine at Vincennes and Kerfoot avenues on April 1. Witnesses testified Tully was driving on the wrong side of the street, and apparently had been drinking.

Two Youths Sentenced.

Judge Gutknecht sentenced two youths to serve one day in the Bridewell. They are Robert Holland, 20 years old, 5555 Sheridan road, a student of aviation, and Ernest Ciaglia, 23 years old, 1359 Taylor street, a student at the University of Chicago medical school.

Holland was arrested for driving 54 miles an hour in Lake Shore drive. When the judge learned he had been found guilty on a similar charge less than three months ago he ordered the jail term, imposed a fine of $5, ordered a trip to the County hospital fracture ward, and directed Mrs. Viola Holland, the youth's mother, to deprive him of his car for two months.

Ciaglia was sentenced after Policeman George Mikell testified that he boasted he could "fix" a trafic charge against his brother Edward, 21 years old, of the same address. The latter was fined $2 on the charge of driving with improper lights.

Hospital Visitor Faints.

To see the results of careless driving, 51 persons made the weekly trip to County hospital fracture ward and morgue yesterday. As they walked along a hospital corridor, Paul Remus, 19 years old, 4620 North Keating avenue, collapsed. He was treated by hospital attendants and excused from the visit to the morgue.

FORMER CONVICT BLAMES PAL FOR RETURN TO CRIME

CRIMINAL COURT.

William Webster, larceny of an automobile, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Denis J. Normoyle.

John Burda, 21 years old, an ex-convict, blamed a pal he called Slim when he was arraigned yesterday before Judge Joseph A. Graber in the automobile court on four charges of burglary and three charges of automobile theft.

"I was going straight," Burda told the judge, "until Slim pestered me so much he broke down my resistance."

Within 18 hours the pair committed the seven crimes. The alertness of John Dzieciol, a grocer at 2601 North Hamlin avenue, brought about the arrest of Burda during a burglary. Police are hunting for slim.

Judge Graber held Burda to the grand jury in bonds of $17,500. The youth's police record, starting in 1932, shows he was sentenced to the Pontiac reformatory for a term of 1 to 20 years on May 8, 1933. He was freed on parole May 18, 1934, and was discharged from parole a year later.

Finds Stolen Car, but Thief Keeps Proof of Ownership

John Line, 30 years old, 4056 Dickens avenue, recovered his automobile yesterday, but the certificate of title for the car was missing when the machine was found by a policeman, abandoned at 1552 Milwaukee avenue. Line reported to police Wednesday night that his car and another were involved in a slight mishap, and he agreed to pay the owner of the other car for the damage. They drove to Line's home, and when Line showed his certificate of title the stranger took the certificate, jumped into the car and drove away. The women companions of the stranger followed in the other car.

VOTE TRUE BILL IN AUTO DEATH OF PEDESTRIAN

Driver Who Hit Judge's Car Faces Trial.

A true bill was reported by the grand jury yesterday charging George Ader, 33 years old, 5528 Kenmore avenue, with manslaughter in the automobile death of Henry Nelson, 20 years old, 815 Newport avenue, last Friday night, at Lake Shore drive and Roscoe street.

Ader was the driver of the car which rammed into the rear of the machine of Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller, who had stopped his car for a trafic light. Nelson and a companion were walking across the drive with the light when Ader's car struck Judge Schiller's, forcing it 10 feet ahead and knocking Nelson down. Judge Schiller was exonerated of any blame by a coroner's jury.

Mrs. Rachele Mattucci, 80 years old, 5530 Division street, a widow, was injured fatally yesterday when she was struck by a motorcycle in Augusta boulevard near Pine street. She died soon after the accident. Herbert Milton, 31 years old, 3829 South Wabash avenue, colored, driver of the motorcycle, was held by police. His cycle bore no license plates.

Dies in Harvey Crash.

John Shaw, 19 years old, 15807 Lathrop avenue, Harvey, was killed last night in a collision of two automobiles at 152d street and Ashland avenue, Harvey. He was dead when taken to the Ingalls Memorial hospital. Shaw was riding in a car being driven east in 152d street by Robert Lytle, 18 years old, 303 East 148th place, Harvey. It crashed into a machine driven north in Ashland avenue by Frank Guaccio, 23 years old, 14916 Wood street, Harvey. The drivers, both uninjured, were held by the Harvey police.

Anthony Janis, 21 years old, who was injured Wednesday when his automobile was struck by a North Shore line electric train at 16th street near Jackson street in North Chicago died yesterday in St. Therese hospital in Waukegan. Janis lived at 16th street and Dugdale road, west of North Chicago.

City Attorney Frank M. Opeka of North Chicago termed the crossing a "death crossing" in a letter sent to the Illinois commerce commission requesting better protection for motorists. He said that during the last two years there have been eight serious accidents at that crossing in which four persons were killed.

The crossing is protected by an electric wig-wag signal and from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. by a watchman.

Mail Truck Injuries Fatal.

Martin Knight, 76 years old, 765 Van Buren street, died yesterday in the county hospital of injuries received Wednesday when he was struck by a United States mail truck driven by Lawrence Peterson, 31 years old, 3611 Flournoy street. The accident occurred at Harrison and Halsted streets.

Clarence Rossner, 34 years old, 2250 Farragut avenue, an inspector for the federal bureau of internal revenue, was injured slightly yesterday when he lost control of a government owned car he was driving and struck a safety island at North and Lawndale avenues.

Eric Franson, 35 years old, 2146 30th street, driver of the truck which fatally injured Merle Kolletshke, 8 years old, 2257 13th street, on April 25, was recommended held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday by a coroner's jury. Police testified the brakes of the truck were ineffective, the lights faulty, and the windshield cracked and clouded, making clear vision impossible.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 368 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. In the same period 295 were killed and 5,772 injured within Chicago.

BROKER TRACES BRITISH BUDGET LEAK TO THOMAS

Testifies Colonial Chief Bared Tax Raise.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 14.—Harris Marriott, a London stock broker, today testified that J. H. Thomas, British secretary of state for the colonies and a trade union leader, had given information before the publication of the government budget that income tax rates would be boosted.

Marriott gave his testimony before a judicial tribunal headed by Sir Samuel Lowry Porter, king's bench justice, which is investigating the alleged leakage of government budget secrets.

How He Got Tip.

"On April 20," said Marriott, "the day before the budget announcement, Waterman [an employé of the same firm] burst into my office and told me there was going to be an increase in the income tax. Waterman said he had heard it from a Mr. Eves."

"He got it from a friend of one of his best friends," Marriott replied.

"Who was that?" asked the justice.

"J. H. Thomas," the broker said.

Earlier Thomas agreed to submit his bank accounts to the inquiry commission. The commission thus would be able to ascertain whether the cabinet minister collected any of the $500,000 paid by insurance companies to persons who, apparently forewarned, had taken out insurance against higher income and tea taxes which subsequently came to pass.

Thomas' Son Involved.

Several hundred of these insurance transactions had been handled by a firm of which Thomas' son Leslie is a member. They were in behalf of Alfred Bates, advertising man, described as a friend of both the colonial secretary and his son.

Thomas, who was on the witness stand forty-five minutes, said he had been through nine budgets and hotly denied ever disclosing "one word about a budget to any one."

When rumors reached him coupling his son Leslie's name "with this business" he said he went to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and demanded an investigation.

The colonial secretary said he was worried as to whether he should resign and consulted a friend, who said, "For God's sake, Jimmy, don't do that, as all manner of constructions will be placed on it."

Thomas said he thought this was sound advice and "carried on, answering all questions."

RECOVER $100,000 IN BONDS STOLEN FROM ILLINOISIAN

Hot Springs, Ark., May 14.—(AP)—A package containing approximately $100,000 in negotiable bonds, stolen along with $1,100 in cash yesterday from the hotel room of a visitor from Champaign, Ill., was recovered today when it was found in the back of a public utilities truck into which it had apparently been tossed by the robbers.

The cash was not recovered. Two men were arrested in connection with the case.

W. D. Hammond, 70 year old former prosecuting attorney at Champaign, was the victim of the robbery, reporting the package had been taken from his hotel room.

Deaf Mute Captives Sent to Jail

Hammer at Door

Two deaf mutes, who were captured because they couldn't hear the police coming as they noisily tried to batter their way into a grocery, were informed by finger spelling in Felony court yesterday that they had been sentenced to the Bridewell.

"You may not hear me pronounce this sentence, but you will soon feel it," Judge Matthew Hartigan said as he ordered Gus Kopsian, 27 years old, 842 West Grand avenue, to serve 90 days, and Phillip Harris, 23 years old, 2144 Alice place, to serve 60 days.

Kopsian's brother, George, who acted as interpreter during the trial, informed the defendants by finger twiddling that they had been sentenced for malicious mischief.

Shortly before dawn Fillmore street police found Kopsian and Harris hammering at the rear door of the grocery at 1133 South Homan avenue. Neighbors had complained they couldn't sleep because of the racket, but the deaf mutes told police, in writing, that they thought they were being fairly quiet.

FAMILY OFFERS ALIBI FOR SON IN PEACOCK MURDER

Livingston Ill at Home, Mother Tells Jury.

The mother and father of Michael Livingston, 17 years old, testified as alibi witnesses yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph Burke in behalf of their son, who is on trial with Emil Reck, 19 years old, for the murder of Dr. Silber C. Peacock.

Mrs. Grace Livingston, 1016 North Central Park avenue, mother of the accused youth, testified that he was at home, ill with a cold, the evening of Jan. 2, when Dr. Peacock was lured from his home by a fake sick call and slain. She said she found her son ill when she returned home in the afternoon from her work as a janitress for the board of education.

Says Son Was Asleep.

The state has fixed the time of the murder between 10 and 10:30 p. m. Mrs. Livingston testified that her son went to sleep at 7:30 p. m. and that sometime between 9:30 and 10 o'clock she went to his bedroom.

"I made him get up for a sweat," she testified.

Cross-examination failed to shake the mother's story, and when she was asked how sick the youth was, she replied:

"He was very sick."

Earlier the defendant's father, David Livingston, a watchman at Northwestern university, testified that when he left home for work at 5 p. m. his son was ill with a cold. Another family witness was a brother, David Jr., 21 years old, who testified that he returned home from a movie at 10 p. m. and found his brother ill.

Disturbed By Coughing.

"I had to sleep with him," he said, "and his coughing kept me awake all night."

Livingston and Reck are two of the four youths whose confessions of the murder of Dr. Peacock were read to the jury on Tuesday. Their companions, Durland Nash and Robert Goethe, both 19 years old, pleaded guilty and have been sentenced to terms of 199 years in the penitentiary.

According to the confessions, Livingston was the driver of the automobile used by the slayers on the night of the robbery. Goethe carried the pistol which fatally wounded the physician, the youths said, and Reck beat their victim as he lay dying in his automobile. Meanwhile, according to their stories, Livingston had followed the others, driving their car, and thus he took no part in the actual killing.

Reck and Livingston have both repudiated their confessions, declaring they were beaten by the police and forced to sign them. Judge Burke ruled the confessions into evidence, however, after five days of hearings outside the presence of the jury.

IDENTIFIED IN HOLDUPS.

Harry Kramp, 29 years old, 2237 Warren boulevard, and Frank Posedel, 23 years old, of Niles, were identified at the detective bureau last night by Adam Koufargiris, owner of a tavern at 1925 Madison street, as the men who robbed him of $32 in two holdups last month.

Holland, Mich., May 14.—[Special.]—Holland's picturesque tulip festival, an annual celebration patterned after the old world custom, will be held, beginning Saturday, amidst a public array of more than three and one-half million tulips. A week of ceremonies will be brought to a close on Saturday, May 23, with a review of twenty-six bands from middle west high schools.

The annual display of the spring flower, which was started in this city eight years ago, has transformed this manufacturing town of 15,000 population into a garden paradise. Nearly eight miles of city streets, spotlessly clean, are lined inside the curbing with tulip beds, three rows deep.

An innovation in the program has been arranged for this year, when floodlights will be used to illuminate a huge bed containing half a million tulips. The bed is located on the tulip farm near the city. A total of one and a half million tulips are on the farm.

The festival will be officially opened Saturday at 1:30 p. m., when "Burgmeester" Henry Geerlings, accompanied by the "gementeraab," or city council, inspects the streets. Trumpeters dressed in Dutch costumes will precede the city officials on the tour of inspection.

Following the inspection approximately 200 men and women in the dress of the natives of the Netherlands, including the wooden shoes, or "klompen," will scour the streets with brush and pail.

CITY CHALLENGES I. C. C. RULE OVER TRANSIT SERVICE

Serves Notice Under New Home Rule Law.

The city formally notified the Illinois commerce commission yesterday that it claims jurisdiction under the new home rule utility law on all matters concerning extensions in Chicago of the three local transportation companies—the surface lines, the elevated lines, and the Chicago Motor Coach company.

Assistant Corporation Counsel James Danaher appeared before the commission at a hearing on petitions by the elevated and surface lines for feeder bus extensions and declared that the city considers it has sole jurisdiction in such cases, including those begun before the home rule law was adopted by referendum last month.

May Fix Extent of Power.

The law provides that the city have jurisdiction over the kind of service transportation companies shall offer, including the determination of routes, schedules and types of equipment to be operated. The commerce commission retains jurisdiction over rates and financial structures of the companies.

The city raised the question of jurisdiction before the law was formally in effect and won a continuance of several hearings on extensions. Yesterday's move, however, was the first official notice. Commission experts expect that subsequent steps in the action will result in a definition of how much authority has been placed in the city council under the new law.

Attorneys Join in Plea.

The cases scheduled yesterday were continued to May 27. In the meantime Danaher, at the request of Irvin Rooks, commission attorney, is to file a brief setting forth the city's claims.

Rooks asked Danaher if it is the position of the city that the commission is now without jurisdiction in such cases and Danaher said it is. Danaher said that it was the city's contention that from now on all applications and petitions for extensions must be filed with the council instead of the commission.

Rooks joined Danaher in asking postponement of cases now before the commission on the theory that until jurisdiction is finally settled a loss of time and money may be involved in continuance of hearings.

TWO MONTH OLD BABY IS FATALLY INJURED BY TWO SMALL BOYS

Merrill, Wis., May 14.—(AP)—Two month old David Holl was fatally injured by two small neighbor boys today when, police said, they apparently became provoked by the baby's crying and thought he needed a "little whipping."

Mrs. Elmer Holl, the mother, had left the house to shop and found the baby's bruised and cut body on his bed when she returned.

Coroner Arthur Taylor said the boys, 3 and 4 years old, told him they lifted the infant from his bed.

Dr. Bjaerne Ravn said the infant died of a skull fracture which may have been caused by a fall. Coroner Taylor said the death would be listed as a homicide.

Poisons Neighbor's Milk in Clash Over Children

White Plains, N. Y., May 14.—[Special.]—The four Viscuze children kept getting into rows with the six Regina children downstairs, and finally Mrs. Lucy Viscuze, 40, and Joseph Regina had words about it. That, according to Mrs. Viscuze in a confession which detectives said she made today, was why she put poison in a bottle of milk and exchanged it for the bottle the milkman left at the Regina apartment. The Reginas became violently ill, but recovered. Mrs. Viscuze was charged with felonious assault.

HEAR ATTORNEY'S APPEAL TO SHARE WIDOW'S ESTATE

The appeal of Lionel R. Barbour, Detroit attorney, from the ruling last July 13 of Federal Judge John P. Barnes dismissing the suit in which Barbour sought to share in the $600,000 estate of Mrs. Fannie B. Henderson, Aurora widow who died in 1931 at the age of 77, was taken under advisement yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here.

Barbour, who is 43 years old, had sought a husband's share in the estate on the contention that he and the elderly widow were married in a common law ceremony in Michigan in 1925. Judge Barnes held the couple never had agreed to take each other as man and wife. In her will Mrs. Henderson left her estate for the construction of an old peoples' home in Aurora.

During his argument in behalf of Barbour yesterday Attorney Harold M. Shapero was interrupted by Judge Evan A. Evans of the Appeals court, who asked: "Was there any evidence of blackmail?"

"O, no, your honor," the attorney replied. "It was a case of pure love and affection. She paid my client's way through a Detroit law school."

PEDDLER ROBBED OF $4.

A robber last night took $4 from Arthur Gillis, 17 years old, an ice cream peddler, after he had persuaded Gillis to enter an apartment hallway at 1844 North Kedzie avenue on the pretense of making a purchase.

Rockford, Ill., May 14.—(AP)—Members of a searching party of more than 100 persons who hunted throughout the night for Jacob Groenhagen, 54, retired farmer of nearby Oregon, found his body in a tract of timber east of Oregon early today. Coroner Jesse Aiken of Ogle county said Groenhagen apparently died of a heart attack while hunting mushrooms.

HOOVER ASSAILS ROOSEVELT FOR DRIVING U. S. INTO COLLECTIVISM

FEARS A FASCIST OR SOCIALISTIC STATE IS NEXT

Urges Common Battle for Liberties.

TEXT OF SPEECH

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 14.—(Special.)—Here is the text of former President Herbert Hoover's address tonight before the Republican women of Pennsylvania:

PART I.

"In addressing an organization of women let me say at once that I have never believed the understanding of governmental problems differed in women and in men. But many years of observation have taught me that women have a keener perception of morals in government. They have a greater conscience in national ideals.

"During the past year I have devoted myself to debate and the exposure of the New Deal for what it really is. I have done so solely because the republic is in great peril. These men have set forces in motion which unless they be stopped will lessen the living and happiness in every cottage. They will shrink the chance of life of every boy and girl.

Advises Waking Up.

"I have offered constructive American alternatives. The President recently in addressing the youth of our nation advised them 'To dream dreams and see visions.' I have advised them to wake up.

"The radio has carried these speeches into tens of millions of homes. The newspapers have printed them in tens of millions of copies. Thousands and thousands have written, opening their hearts to me, in passionate cry that we quicken this attack.

"But the exposure of the New Deal is only one-half of the battle. The people are rightly demanding to know what we propose to do.

"The Republican convention will assemble in a few weeks. The Republican party is the only available instrumentality through which an aroused people can act. The Democratic party is imprisoned by the New Deal. We should dismiss all factional issues and invite those Democrats who feel as we do to join us in faith that we have but one purpose—that is to place the republic on the road to safety. The platform must be more than a party platform. It must be a platform for the American people. Upon the determinations of the convention will depend the fate of a generation.

Revitalize American Life.

"The bare planks in the platform can be composed on a sheet of paper. They should be composed in the fighting word which the times demand. But behind these words must be the determination to restore American liberty and to revitalize American life.

"Nor can we define our problems in the vague and distorted phrases of conservatism, liberalism, or radicalism. Those expressions mean nothing unless you precisely define them each hour. Our job is bigger than dialectics.

"It would be far better that the party go down to defeat with the banner of principle flying than to win by pussyfooting.

PART II.

"The grim danger that confronts America is the destruction of human freedom. We must fight again for a government founded upon ordered individual liberty and opportunity that was the American vision. If we lose we will continue down this New Deal road to some sort of personal government based upon collectivist theories. Under these ideas ours can become some sort of Fascist government. In that case big business manages the country for its financial profit at the cost of human liberty.

"Or we can become some sort of Socialist state. In that case everybody gains as much as his greed for political power will bring him at the total loss of his liberty. I do not know whether socialism or Fascism is the greater evil. I do know they are not the American dream. They have become the world's nightmare.

"The President may deny that he intends to travel into a collectivist desert. But his policies are driving the people there. And many of his advisers glory in the progress already made.

"In another 60 days the New Deal party will convene in this city, where American liberty was first proclaimed. After Christianity, that was the greatest light which has ever flashed over the human horizon.

"I trust those gentlemen will bare their heads before Independence hall. Under the invisible presence of the men who founded a nation that liberty might live, they should apologize to the American people. Instead they will produce splendiferous alibis. But the spirits of Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton, Adams, and Franklin will judge their promises and their stewardship. These spirits may well wonder whence came these men, that they dare walk in such precincts.

Must Remove Abuses.

"The Republicans have not only to shake off these forces, we have to remove all abuses of liberty whether they were born before or since the New Deal.

"Let me say this: The whole of economic argument, the whole of statistical evidence, the whole social argument becomes barren unless it is tested in terms of human beings.

"This is a nation of men, women, and children, not a nation of railroads, machines, or land or economic abstractions. We must visualize it as a nation of homes. Indeed most problems of government are an enlargement of the problems of every household.

Program Is Proposed.

"To restore liberty and progress the Republican party must furnish the country a program which covers:

"A restoration of morals in government.

"Real policies of economic and social regeneration in place of the New Deal extravaganzas.

IMMEDIATE REFORMS.

"There are five horsemen of this new apocalypse. They are profligacy, propaganda, patronage, politics, and power. Their other names are pork barrel, poppycock, privilege, panaceas, and poverty.

"As a result, after three years the number of unemployed is about as great as it was at election day in 1932. The agricultural problem is still unsolved. The business world has little confidence in the good intentions, or the sanity, or the integrity of our government.

"There are certain steps that should be taken at once. I may summarize specific reforms I have already mentioned in public addresses.

"This cataract of wasteful expenditure should be stopped. The budget must be balanced. The increase in debt must be ended. The gold standard should be reëstablished. These futile purchases of foreign silver should cease. The laws authorizing the President to inflate the currency and to gamble in foreign exchange should be repealed.

End Credit Tinkering.

"Tinkering with credit inflation must be ended. We must stamp out that train of gunpowder. It leads to an explosion of inflation which itself alone would destroy any democracy. Genuine banking reform must be achieved. This horde of political locusts should be driven away. The spoils system should be extirpated once and for all. The civil service should be restored.

"Return the administration of relief again to state and local nonpartisan committees of leading citizens. Give them such federal subsidy as meets the need of the unemployed. Take the favoritism of politics out of the bread of relief. By wise use of tarifs protect our farmers from the flood of imports.

"By wise use of subsidies find employment for our surplus acres in products we can use and can export. Restore foreign trade. Take the handcuffs off honest business. Stop the attempts to suppress free opinion. Obey the constitution. Change it when necessary, but obey it. Give us a government of laws and not of men.

PART IV.

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL REGENERATION.

"These are but the first moves to get these 12,000,000 people back into productive jobs, to make secure the farmer's livelihood and the ability of business to expand its pay rolls. Beyond this, the Republican party must present policies of social and economic regeneration.

"The test of the welfare of the nation is the way the average man and woman must live, the conditions under which they work, the way they raise their children, the way they conduct their government. The concern of every decent man and woman is to lift these standards. The impulses to social welfare must come from the human heart, but its realization can come only from the intellect.

"America was the first nation to question that the poor must be always with us. But unless these New Deal economic policies are reversed there will be only increased poverty.

ECONOMY OF PLENTY.

"The party should pledge itself to reverse the whole New Deal planned scarcity into an economy of plenty. When that is done we have to put in motion these economic forces that will secure wider diffusion of this plenty. The notion that we get richer and more prosperous by producing less is about as progressive as a slow motion film run backward.

DISTRIBUTION OF PROPERTY.

"The party should stand for a constantly wider diffusion of property. That is the greatest social and economic security that can come to free men. It makes free men. We want a nation of proprietors, not a state of collectivists. That is attained by creating national wealth and income, not by destroying it. The income and estate taxes create an orderly movement to diffuse swollen fortunes more effectively than all the quacks.

THE GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS.

"The American system is a system of regulated business and compulsory competition. When government dictates to business or goes into business it has gone into the business of coercion and tyranny. It slows down production and employment and makes poverty. But the consciousness of inner rectitude which goes with this New Deal greed for power leads to visions of loveliness that can bewilder a people into the jumping-off place.

"If we are to preserve democracy we must make the government the umpire of business. If the New Dealers would go to a few baseball games they would learn that the umpire cannot play on the team and be an umpire. Bad business practices can be ruled off the field. But who is to umpire if the umpire is to pitch?

"There are a multitude of other economic and social questions the sane solution of which means added security and added comfort to every home. The important thing is that the Republican party must deal with them with forthright decision and with an open vision which befits a progressive nation.

"I have discussed many of these questions elsewhere. There are three which are of especial interest to women to which I might refer again.

CHILD LABOR.

"Every decent American agrees upon the abolition of child labor. Republican Presidents have progressively mobilized opinion against it. We did in twenty years decrease the number of children under 16 in industry—that is, outside of farming—from about 900,000 to less than 200,000 at the last census report in 1930. That was a decrease in proportion of about 70 per cent in twenty years. The President said that under the codes child labor went out in a flash. It was mostly a flash in the pan.

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

"The Republican party must pledge that it will really be done.

"Many states under normally Republican governments have given old age pensions for years. We should approve of federal subsidy to the states to strengthen and unify their efforts. The contributory pension part of the social security acts will require radical revision. It covers only 30 per cent of the people. This revision must be done in justice to the farmers if for no other of many reasons. The farmers are omitted from its benefits, yet they will be called upon to pay. The reason is that the support of the scheme is a charge upon wages and industry which will sooner or later be passed on to the consumer. It will eventually add 5 to 10 per cent to the cost of living. The farmer will be paying as much as the worker and get nothing. The Republicans must find a sane plan of old age pensions.

HOUSING.

"I have for years been promoting better housing. The last Republican administration established the home loan bank system and the RFC provisions for slum clearance. That was the first governmental effort to better the financing of home building. The whole New Deal housing setup needs reorganization. We must get the government out of the home mortgage foreclosing and house renting business and give a genuine impulse to better homes.

PART V.

NEW MAGIC FROM THE NEW DEAL.

"Since I last discussed these questions the New Deal has brought forth another new magic formula to reach the millennium. On April 25 President Roosevelt said: 'Reduction of costs of manufacture does not mean more purchasing power and more goods consumed. It means just the opposite.' The President elaborates its benefits and implies it is the base of his slogan for 1936. If this word 'opposite' means anything, then this statement says that 'increased costs of manufacturing mean increased purchasing power and more goods consumed.'

"Most of the world has been under an illusion about this up to now. We had all thought that the way to enable the people to buy more was to use every art of technology and government to reduce costs and therefore prices, provided we held up wages and incomes to farmers and others. We had relied on such experiences as the automobile. We got about two-thirds of the world's automobiles because the production costs and, therefore, prices, were brought down into reach of twenty million families.

Millions Still Idle.

"At least we now know why the New Deal has imposed all their different devices of debts, taxes, restriction of production, juggling with currency, and a score of other methods of artificially forcing up costs and prices. The magic formula may also explain why we still have 12,000,000 unemployed. Certainly there is no joy for the consumer in this return again to planned scarcity.

"If I were writing a bill of rights for women I should include something about her rights as a consumer. The woman does most of the buying. She has to make things go around. She has to do most of the saving. She has to protect the future. These artificial increases in the cost of living all decrease the amount she can purchase and save.

"What of those women who must eke out the reduced buying power of these magic formulas?

Quotes Dr. Kemmerer.

"Dr. Kemmerer, speaking in New York City a month ago, said: 'We have already set into operation powerful inflationary forces which when they have ultimately worked out their influence on commodity prices will probably result in giving us a cost of living approximately double what it is today.'

"Over 40 million women are the beneficiaries of life insurance policies alone. Sixty-five per cent of all savings accounts are in the names of women. There are some 63,000,000 women and girls in the United States. We have been accused of a few forgotten men, but the New Deal has forgotten all the women.

"Lincoln said, 'Don't swap horses in the middle of the stream.' A school for Democratic ladies is repeating that advice. They should be sure it is a horse. My belief is that it is a white rabbit.

PART VI.

MORAL REGENERATION IN GOVERNMENT.

"The Republican party must face tasks beyond economic and social regeneration. There are tasks of moral regeneration. The Republican party was born to meet a moral issue.

"A nation is great not by its riches or buildings or automobiles but through the character of its people. The fibers of that are work, thrift, piety, truth, honesty, honor, and fidelity to trust. I emphasize this before a group of American women because it is at the knees of American womanhood that the men of America have generation by generation learned these standards.

"The first standard bearer of these virtues must be its government and public officials. But there is apparently a New Deal in virtue.

U. S. Stamina Suffers.

"Every spread of burocratic control that makes men more subjective or dependent on government weakens that independence and self-respect. National stamina suffers by encouraging parasitic leaners whether on doorposts or governments. There is self-respect and dignity that marks free men.

"Honor in public life begins with political parties. The people must depend upon political parties to carry out their will. When men are elected to high office on certain promises and those promises are cynically broken, how may we expect a citizen to feel the obligation of a promise and good faith?

"There are standards of intellectual honesty in government. Framed propaganda and perverted figures mislead the thinking of the people. Pressures upon the press lead down the same dark alleys. That is salesmanship, not statesmanship.

Strikes at Snoopers.

"There are standards of gentlemen in government. The seizure by the government of the communications of persons not charged with wrongdoing justifies the immoral conduct of every snooper.

"There are standards of financial honor in government. The New Deal devalued the dollar. Thus it repudiated the covenants of the government to those who had entrusted it with their savings. Senator Carter Glass on April 27, 1933, rightly said: 'To me it means dishonor; in my conception it is immoral.' If a private citizen had repudiated 41 per cent of his debt to the grocer by just telling him it was off, at least he would be removed from his church.

"He also would be expelled from Wall street. The government cannot restore the dollar, but do such transactions build character in a people?

Assails Gold Program.

"The New Deal administration ordered every citizen to bring in his gold coin and receive $20 an ounce for it under penalty of jail. At the very time citizens were bringing in the small funds that many of them held against a rainy day our government was paying $35 an ounce to foreigners to purchase gold. If a private person were to coerce his neighbor into selling him something for less than it was worth he would be sent to jail. If financial honor does not rest in the government, can we expect it in the people?

"The Republican party has never dishonored the government promise to pay. We must demand a return to financial honor in government.

THE SPOILS SYSTEM.

"There is a gigantic question of morals in this spoils system. President Theodore Roosevelt said:

"'The man who debauches our public life . . . by the corrupt use of the office as spoils . . . is a greater foe to our well being as a nation than is even the defaulting cashier of a bank, or the betrayer of a private trust.'

"Recently I had opportunity to observe comparative morals in the spoils system by a contrast between Tammany hall and the New Deal. In a Tammany-dominated borough in New York in early 1933 before the New Deal, there were about 11,000 persons on relief. Tammany had appointed about 270 additional officials under their particular spoils system to manage the relief at a cost of under $30,000 a month for the officials. This job was taken away from wicked Tammany influence and directly administered by the New Deal.

Give Lesson to Tammany.

"At a recent date there were in the same borough 2,000 federal officials appointed under the New Deal spoils system at a cost of $300,000 per month for salaries to manage 16,000 persons on relief. Tammany may learn something new in the spoils system. It was only 10 per cent efficient. And the same thing is going on all over the country and you know it.

"Can the American people be bought with their own money?

"And does any one seriously believe that when practically all of the people on relief over the whole country register Democratic that they are Democrats? We know thousands do not intend to vote the Democratic ticket. Does the action taken by these people to protect themselves from their own government make for character building and morals?

"Does it improve national morals and character in our people when they see huge sums being rushed into politically important districts two jumps ahead of an election?

FIDELITY TO PUBLIC TRUST.

"There is no fidelity higher than that owed by public officials to the constitution and the safeguarding of liberty in our government. That extends far beyond the letter of the law. It must be supported in spirit. Anything less is betrayal of trust if this republic is to live.

"When the New Dealers' convention meets near Independence hall they will no doubt summon with powerful oratory over a hundred broadcasting stations the shades of that heroic Continental congress. I trust at that moment the American people will remember what the New Deal has done to the congress of the United States in these recent years.

Lauds Independence.

"The independence of congress, the executive, and the Supreme court are the pillars at the door of liberty. For three years we have not had an independent congress. We have not even had a good debating society. We have had a rubber stamp applied by presidentially inspired gag rule. That is not fidelity to the spirit of the constitution.

"For the first time in American history the word 'must' has been directed to an independent arm of the government by the executive. The NRA was enacted by the house of representatives in six hours. The AAA was given eight hours.

"These measures would have gone far to transform the whole of America into a Fascist state if they had not been set aside by the Supreme court. Yet they had been operated for months in violation of the whole foundation precepts of democracy. Small business people have been penalized, people lost their jobs, and a thousand discouragements loosed in violation of the constitution.

Special Privilege Groups.

"Great groups of people receiving some special privilege have been built up. When this privilege is denied by the courts then the New Deal has sought to incite these people against the court as a public enemy.

"The parliamentary principle of control of the purse has saved liberty a hundred times over these last 300 years. It has saved the people from injustice in taxes many thousand times. So little is the New Deal congress interested that it made only casual inquiry into what would be done with a whole 4 billion 800 million dollars in one lump.

"There is also that gigantic secret fund of 2 billion dollars which was slipped to the President to operate in foreign exchange or to support government bonds on the market. Why, for the first time in American history, is there secrecy in government expenditures? Manipulation to support market quotations is properly prohibited to Wall street under the securities act. There is little point of taking sharp practices out of private life and putting them into government. Is that a training in morals?

Wants Independent Congress.

"We have worried much in our history over the independence of the Supreme court. We have more cause to worry over the independence of congress. Congress has delegated its conscience.

"If we examine the fate of wrecked republics the world over and through all history, we will find first comes a weakening of the legislative arm. It is in the legislative hall that liberty has committed suicide. For two hundred years the Roman senate lingered on as a social distinction and as a scene of noisy prattle after it had surrendered its real responsibilities to personal government.

"Sea lawyers may argue that these things do not constitute a violation of oath of office. Right thinking people will hold that they are a breach of public trust.

PART VII.

"I want to see not only the restoration of liberty, not only economic recovery, not only solution of economic and social problems, not only a regeneration of morals in government—I want to see recovery of sturdiness, of courage, and of faith in America. There is in every race some quality distilled from its racial life. Ours was the spirit of independence, of self-reliance, of devotion to duty in men and women. I have here a quotation from some country paper. I regret I have mislaid its source—but it breathes with honest Americanism.

"'We [Americans] have been historically a self-reliant, vigorous, assertive people. We refused to stand for tyrants or tyranny in whatever form. We have depended on ourselves. We created our own opportunities . . . we were not deterred by difficulties or defeated by disaster.

"'We were resilient, courageous, fearless. We sought new worlds to conquer, obstacles to surmount, and success to attain. As a people we were firm, courageous, unconquerable. And now what are we? We want things done for us. We flinch or cave in in the face of opposition. We lack forthrightness and nerve to oppose things that are wrong.'

Achievement Belittled.

"The New Deal has not done all that, but some of it. We have for four years listened to a continuous defamation of everything that has gone before. Honest achievement of men has been belittled and attributed to improper motives. Things embedded in our patriotism are smeared with contempt. We are told we must surrender liberty for economic security. We are told that the frontiers of initiative and enterprise are closed. We are told that we are in ruins and we must begin anew.

"People speak less today of the greatness of America. Pride in her achievement is weakened. There is doubt of her destiny.

"We think of ourselves as poor and helpless. Yet with only 6 per cent of the population in the world we have more youth in schools of higher learning than all the other 94 per cent. We have more laboratories dragging new secrets from nature than all the others put together. We have more developed mechanical power than all of them.

Production Record Cited.

"We can produce more food and clothes and iron and copper and lead and coal and oil than any other country in the world. We now have nearly two-thirds of all the automobiles, radios, and bathtubs in the world. We have a larger proportion of people who own their own homes and farms than has any other nation.

"In a generation we raised the purchasing power of wages by 30 per cent and we knocked two hours off each working day. This has been achieved under private enterprise and free men. They could do even more in another generation. Women have ever taken a larger view of life than men. It is now the life of America that is in question.

"Our trouble today is moral as well as economic. Is it not time we jerk ourselves out of this and clean out the high priests of these heresies? Should we not defy a few brain trusts and restore the national virtues of thrift and honor and hard work?

"Then the greatness of America will shine again."

Highlights of Hoover's Speech

Philadelphia, Pa., May 14.—(AP)—Highlights of Herbert Hoover's speech here tonight follow:

"I have devoted myself to . . . exposure of the New Deal for what it really is . . . solely because the republic is in great peril."

"People speak less today of the greatness of America. Pride in her achievement is weakened. There is doubt of her destiny."

"We have for four years listened to a continous defamation of everything that has gone before. Honest achievement of men has been belittled . . . things embedded in our patriotism have been smeared with contempt. We are told we must surrender our liberty for economic security. We are told that the frontiers of initiative and enterprise are closed."

"Many years of observation have taught me that women have a keener perception of morals in government [than men]."

"The President may deny that he intends to travel into a collectivist desert. But his policies are driving the people there, and many of his advisers glory in the progress already made."

"Is it not time we jerk ourselves out of this and clean out the high priests of these heresies?"

"Congress has delegated its conscience."

"It is in the legislative halls that liberty has committed suicide."

"There are five horsemen of this new apocalypse. They are profligacy, propaganda, patronage, politics, and power. Their other names are pork-barrel, poppycock, privilege, panaceas, and poverty."

"I trust these gentlemen [of the New Deal, when they go to the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia] will bare their heads before Independence hall. Under the invisible presence of the men who founded a nation that liberty might live they should apologize to the American people."

"We have been accused of a few forgotten men, but the New Deal has forgotten all the women."

"Lincoln said, 'Don't swap horses in the middle of the stream.' A school for Democratic ladies is repeating that advice. They should be sure it is a horse. My belief is that it is a white rabbit."

Belgian Aviator to Fly Atlantic in a Balloon

PARIS, May 14.—(AP)—The famous Belgian balloonist, Ernest de Muyter, twice winner of the Gordon Bennett cup, today announced plans for a trans-Atlantic flight in a spherical balloon, starting from a point on the North American coast. He said he expected to land in Norway within 80 or 90 hours after the takeoff. M. Charlier, a French engineer, will accompany him, De Muyter said.

BORAH ASSAILS G.O.P. LEADERS IN EASTERN SPEECH

Fewer than 1,000 Hear Monopoly Attack.

Newark, N. J., May 14.—[Special.]—Launching a bitter attack on the present leadership of the Republican party, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho declared here tonight that the defeat of the social security bill by the New York state Republican assembly was typical of its folly.

The Republican party is foredoomed to defeat in the fall election unless the present leadership is ousted and the party is liberalized, he asserted. He charged that the party leaders were aware of this, but were willing to wreck its chances to maintain control of the party organization.

Speaking before an audience of fewer than 1,000 persons in the Kreuger auditorium, Senator Borah made his last major address of the preconvention campaign on the dangers to the American people of monopolies, which he pledged himself to destroy if he should be elected President.

Willing To Bolt Party.

After he had completed his speech he was asked if he would be interested in a third party.

"That is a big question," he replied. "I have not thought of it myself. I am not sure of anything, but myself. I am going to stick to the issues I set forth tonight and I am going to be where I can advance them best."

"If that should be in the ranks of the Democrats, would that make a difference?" he was asked.

"Nothing will stop me," he replied.

"Do you think that there is any chance of getting most of your ideas in the Republican platform?"

"With me this campaign will not be satisfied with a platform," the senator replied. "I want some one on top of it to execute it."

Refuses to Go on Air.

Angered because the National Broadcasting company would grant him only a half hour broadcast, Senator Borah declined to go on the air over a nation-wide hook-up and delayed his arrival at the auditorium until the radio time had expired. Representative Hamilton Fish Jr., his eastern manager, spoke in his stead. The announcer explained that the period was limited by commercial commitments.

Warning that a European war might break out at any time and that every effort would be made to embroil the United States in it, Senator Borah said that under no circumstances should this country allow itself to be dragged into such a conflict. He said powerful influences were trying to induce the American people to join themselves to the European system.

He took direct slaps at former Ambassador Walter E. Edge, one of the "Big Four" candidates for delegate at large at the presidential primary here next Tuesday, who are pledged to Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, and at the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, in this connection.

"Should Mind Own Affairs."

"Over in New York City we have a great fund that was created by a man who never drew a loyal American breath, that is trying to persuade the American people to become a part of the European system," he declared.

"I say that the United States should mind its own affairs and devote itself to maintaining the American way of living; and let the European nations settle their own disputes."

He recalled that Edge as a member of the senate in 1919 voted for the league of nations when he led the "bitter enders" fight against it.

"One of my primary reasons for entering this campaign," said the senator, "was to try to avoid the scandal that has attached to some Republican conventions, when the nominations were determined in rooms filled with smoke and other things," he declared.

"It ought to be, and I trust will be, one of the most fully debated campaigns in history.

Finds Constitution O. K.

"We have passed through six dreadful years—years perhaps without precedent in the history of the United States.

"There are people in this country who seem honestly to believe that our form of government has proved inadequate, and that there must be drastic amendments made to our fundamental charter and to our fundamental principles in order to meet the new strains upon it. But they are wrong.

"There is no occasion for our changing the constitution or the government of the United States in any drastic way whatever. If the people are to restrain their power, it is necessary that we retain the constitution of the United States as we have lived under it for 140 years."

CHARGES NEW DEAL ATTEMPTING TO HIDE DATA ON "BLUNDERS"

Washington, D. C., May 14.—(AP)—Representative McLeod [Rep., Mich.] today charged the New Deal with attempting to "impose a mantle of secrecy on blunders" in drafting a resolution to make information from government departments more easily available to house members.

His resolution would make information from department heads available upon a request signed by 40 representatives or a third of a house committee.

"This tendency of the administration to hide facts which should be open matters of public knowledge comes perilously close to indirect violation of the first amendment to the constitution," McLeod said in a statement.

He named the failure of the house to obtain data on old AAA payments and the senate's success in a similar demand as an example of how the house rapidly was losing its right to obtain facts "under the Roosevelt administration policy of suppression."

LANDON TO PAVE WAY FOR KANSAS TO SHARE U. S. AID

Believes Social Security Act Unworkable.

Topeka, Kan., May 14.—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon announced today a special legislative session would be held, probably in July, to propose a constitutional amendment for Kansas' participation in major phases of the federal social security program.

At the same time in response to press conference questions the governor, a Republican presidential possibility, voiced a belief that the present federal social security act "is a hastily drawn makeshift and unworkable."

"There will be a special session," the governor told reporters. "It probably will be in July, after the harvest rush is over, in order not to work a hardship on farmer-members of the legislature.

July 31 Deadline.

"The legislature may act as late as the last week in July, for the people to vote upon the question in November. Otherwise there would be no opportunity to vote on it before 1938."

Constitutional amendments may be submitted only at regular general elections.

"The majority of the legislative council [an advisory group] agreed that a constitutional amendment is necessary before Kansas can participate in the old age assistance, pension, and unemployment insurance phases of the program," he said.

Gov. Landon expressed the view that an attempt to provide for state participation by legislative action alone without the support of a constitutional amendment would be short sighted since, under certain conditions, that course might cause a two year delay.

Courts Might Upset Plan.

He said such would be the result in the event the legislature went ahead and then the courts held its action to be unconstitutional "in whole or in part."

In response to questions, Gov. Landon said:

"I am in favor of a social security program, but I have stated repeatedly that I believe the present federal act is a hastily drawn makeshift and unworkable.

"However, I believe the legislature and the people have a right to decide any question for themselves. It is up to them."

HOOVER WILL NOT BE AT CONVENTION NEXT MONTH, SAYS RICHEY

Philadelphia, Pa., May 14.—(AP)—Lawrence Richey, secretary to Herbert Hoover, said tonight the former President will not attend the national convention in Cleveland next month.

He said Hoover, who addressed the Republican women of Pennsylvania tonight, will go to Richey's fishing camp at Catoctin Furnace, Md., tomorrow "for a day or two."

Concerning the Cleveland convention, Richey said earlier Hoover would be in the east, fulfilling two engagements at that time.

G. O. P. FACING WORST DEFEAT, FARLEY OPINES

Barre, Vt., May 14.—(AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley said today the Republican party faced the worst defeat of its career this year, "because it has allowed itself to come once again under the domination of the wealthy Liberty league sponsors."

He addressed the Vermont state Democratic convention which elected ten delegates to the national convention pledged to President Roosevelt. Farley charged the league was "du Pont owned" and so discredited it "is not worth answering."

More than 1,000 state delegates and alternates heard the national Democratic committee chairman assert there no longer was "rock ribbed Republican territory." Vermont never has gone Democratic.

DIRKSEN SLATED TO GIVE KEYNOTE OF STATE G. O. P.

Schroeder May Become Permanent Chairman.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Selection of Congressman Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin as temporary chairman and keynoter, and of Attorney Werner Schroeder of Chicago as permanent chairman of the Republican state convention at Peoria on May 22 appeared last week to be in the minds of party leaders.

Dirksen is popular in the Peoria-Pekin district which he has represented for two terms in the lower house at Washington. Schroeder is known to the older element in the party, particularly to the Len Small wing.

McCullough Confers Here.

State Chairman Perry B. McCullough of Lawrenceville was in Chicago yesterday discussing the convention with Cook county leaders. He made no announcement on the chairmanships at the convention, which is expected to include more than 2,000 delegates, but other sources said that the Dirksen-Schroeder choices were likely ones.

Two of the principal speakers will be Wayland Brooks, nominee for governor, and Otis F. Glenn, who was nominated for a second term in the senate at Washington. Brooks will discuss state issues; Glenn, national.

Chairman McCullough reported that the downstate districts will send large delegations to the convention, some county chairmen finding the interest so great that they are doubling the number of delegates and giving each half a vote.

Harding Strength Grows.

As the convention nears, opinion grows among the Republicans that the selection of eight delegates-at-large to the national convention at Cleveland in June will clinch the election of George F. Harding of Chicago to succeed Frank L. Smith of Dwight as national committeeman for Illinois. Reports from downstate indicate that the Harding candidacy is gaining strength there.

With the state convention out of the way, the Republican state candidates are expected to begin informal campaigning. They plan to become increasingly active following the national convention, getting their campaigns well under way well ahead of the customary time, which is mid-fall. Several of the candidates are now out of the state, including George Hatzenbuhler of Bloomington, nominee for lieutenant governor; Arthur J. Bidwill, nominee for state auditor, and John T. Dempsey, nominee for congressman-at-large.

Day Leads Borah in Ohio.

Attorney Stephen A. Day of Evanston, a candidate in the Republican presidential primaries in Ohio last Tuesday, was informed yesterday by the secretary of state's office in Columbus that his total vote would probably reach 150,000, and that he was leading Senator William E. Borah by about 12,000 votes. Mr. Day, son of a former justice of the United States Supreme court, is a native of Ohio. He is an expert on constitutional law. Robert A. Taft of Ohio ran far ahead of both Day and Borah.

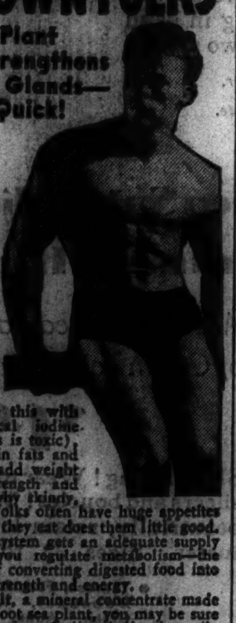
County Judge Jarecki yesterday dismissed the contest filed against Felix Kucharski as Republican committeeman of the 12th ward by the runner-up, Harry I. Parsons. Dismissal was on motion of Attorney Ignatz Spits, Parsons' lawyer, after a test recount of 10 precincts out of 52 showed a gain of only three votes for Parsons. Kucharski won by 65 votes.

Car Pushed Into Bedroom; Woman Sues for $20,000

Mrs. Anna Barta, 65 years old, 1631 Loomis street, filed suit for $20,000 damages in the Superior court yesterday against George Szalski, 11 154th place, Calumet City, and John Harcz, 2459 North Long avenue. She charges she was injured last Jan. 24 when Szalski's car crashed through the wall of her bedroom while the car was being pushed to a garage by Harcz' car.

SKINNY WEAK RUNDOWN FOLKS

New Sea Plant IODINE Strengthens Blood and Glands—Adds Lbs. Quick!



Thousands of skinny, weak, worn-out, rundown men and women who are nervous, sick and ailing hardly realize their principal trouble is very frequently iodine starved glands. When these glands, particularly the glands which control weight and strength building, lack natural iodine (do not confuse this with ordinary chemical iodine which oftentimes is toxic), even diets rich in fats and starches fail to add weight and produce strength and energy. That's why skinny, worn-out, tired folks often have huge appetites and yet the food they eat does them little good. Only when the system gets an adequate supply of iodine can you regulate metabolism—the body's process of converting digested food into firm flesh, new strength and energy.

With Kelpamalt, a mineral concentrate made from a huge 90 foot sea plant, you may be sure of your needed ration of plant iodine in easily assimilable form. 1300 times richer in iodine than oysters, Kelpamalt mixes with your food and helps your food do you good. It stimulates the glands which produce the juices that enable you to get the good out of fats and starches—the weight building foods. With proper assimilation of nourishment you build rugged strength, increase nerve force, banish fatigue and add weight.

Try Kelpamalt for a single week and notice the difference. See flattering extra pounds of "stay-there flesh" appear in place of skinny hollows. Notice how much better you feel and if you do not gain strength and weight the first week the trial is free. Seedol Kelpamalt costs but a few cents a day to use. Get it today

LEMKE PUTS DEFEATED INFLATION BILL BACK INTO HOUSE AGENDA

Washington, D. C., May 14.—(AP)—Representative Lemke [Rep., N. D.] today reintroduced his 3 billion dollar farm mortgage refinancing bill which was defeated yesterday by the house in one of the bitterest legislative battles in congress this session.

The measure introduced today was in the amended form which the house rejected by a 235 to 142 vote.

Lemke said his principal reason was to provide advocates with a clear copy of the currency-expansion legislation and to show the people of the country the legislation which was defeated by the house leadership.

Senate Group Hears Brain Truster.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, head of the brain trust, was before a senate appropriations subcommittee today but members made it plain that he would get no money out of the new $1,425,000,000 relief appropriation for his resettlement administration.

There were reports in senate circles that President Roosevelt deliberately left Tugwell out of his budget calculations in order to obviate as much talk about him as possible until after the election. Senators pointed out that more than 1 billion dollars of the five billion dollar appropriation of 1935 was still unexpended, and that, under the terms of that act, the President can give Tugwell as much as he pleases.

Queried on Activities.

Members of the subcommittee said Tugwell, who appeared at their request, was urbane and discreet and asked for nothing. He merely answered questions put to him relating to the activities of his administration, to which the President already has allocated $272,000,000.

The entire $1,425,000,000 relief appropriation in the $2,364,000,000 second deficiency bill is set aside for the WPA boondoggling program under Harry L. Hopkins.

Expect Floor Fight.

Not a penny is appropriated for the PWA, under Secretary Ickes, but there will be agitation on the senate floor to give him an additional 700 million dollars. Also, some of the western radicals are seeking to add 350 millions for Tugwell.

Senator Alva B. Adams [Dem., Colo.], chairman of the subcommittee, said he hoped to get the bill "written up" by Saturday so that the full committee could report it out on Monday. This means that the senate will take up the relief bill before President Roosevelt's corporate tax reform measure, the last item on the "must" list before adjournment.

DICKINSON TELLS TAX LOAD HIDDEN BY NEW DEALERS

Cost Since 1933 Equals 126 Year Total.

The New Deal has spent as much in three years as the total cost of American government in the 126 years from 1787 to 1913, United States Senator L. J. Dickinson, Iowa Republican, declared last night in an address over W-G-N.

"That is in line with the New Deal vanity of breaking precedents," Senator Dickinson said. "It is in line with breaking the taxpayer."

"Hidden taxes" now being paid by the average American family were placed at $300 annually by the senator, who is a leading dark horse for the Republican presidential nomination.

"Under Republican administration," he declared, "the bulk of public revenue was raised by direct taxation. Under the New Deal administration, taxes are concealed in the things you buy. When you buy a loaf of bread you are paying 53 hidden taxes. Ninety-four taxes are sealed in a bottle of milk of magnesia. There are 200 taxes on motor products. As a renter you are paying all the taxes that your landlord has to pay.

Hits Attempt to Fool People.

"The theory of the New Deal is that if direct taxes are lowered and indirect taxes are increased, the public will be fooled."

The American people, Senator Dickinson said, are "waking up to the fact that the 'more abundant life' promised by the New Dealers carries with it more abundant taxes."

On the subject of agriculture, on which he is regarded as an authority, Senator Dickinson proposed six governmental policies. He summarized them as follows:

1. Prevention of soil erosion and conservation of soil fertility with federal aid, under state supervision.
2. Elimination of marginal lands from production by governmental purchase, or by tax reduction.
3. Elimination of subsidized irrigation projects opening land in direct competition with middle western farm producers.
4. Retain the American market for the American farmer by an effective tarif.
5. Assist orderly marketing of crops by corn loans on corn sealed on the farm.
6. Provide federal financing for farm lands at reasonable interest rates on a fair appraisal.

America Must Choose.

"The campaign issue in the coming election," Senator Dickinson said, "will be America versus the New Deal. Thinking men and women of all political faiths are beginning to wonder. One by one they have seen our tried and true principles of orderly government threatened by extinction. They have seen these principles supplemented by costly experimental programs to satisfy the whims of Brain Trust dreamers.

"America is at the crossroads. It must choose. The question is: Shall we live by experience or by experiment?

"Europe has its despotism. America has its burocracy. The New Deal program of spoilsmanship, its un-American philosophies of government and its raid on the public treasury carry the threat of self-perpetuation.

Lists Burocratic Moves.

"When the administration seeks to regulate and regiment business, encourages every one to become financially obligated to the government, increases taxes, controls the farmer's crops, and when the banks of the nation have 50 per cent of their deposits invested in government bonds; and the chief executive has the power to fix the value of the dollar; and government spending piles up a crushing debt—these are additional steps toward burocratic control."

SENATE GROUPS IN DEADLOCK ON ROOSEVELT TAX

House Bill Earnings Levy Believed Doomed.

Reports on 75 Corporations.

Today he told the committee that 75 corporations in this class distributed no dividends in 1934 and paid only $27,000,000 in taxes, whereas, under the proposed law, they would have paid $96,000,000. He said 89 corporations in the same class distributed less than 45 per cent of their earnings and paid $35,000,000 in taxes, while they would have paid $78,000,000 under the President's plan.

Morgenthau admitted, however, that he had no figures on the losses the treasury would have sustained with 283 of the 600 corporations paying less than half and 138 of them paying no taxes. Senator Byrd said Morgenthau obviously had selected the smaller corporations in an effort to make a showing, and had failed to produce the figures he desired on the taxes that would have been lost.

Fails to Get Answer.

Senator Byrd also said he asked Morgenthau how many of the 75 corporations which distributed no dividends were in the debt class and, under the proposed law, would have paid a tax of only 22½ per cent. Morgenthau could not answer. The secretary merely figured what the tax increase would have been if the 75 corporations had paid the maximum of 42½ per cent on undistributed earnings.

PRESIDENT FACES NEW COURT FIGHT FOR SECRET NOTE

Utilities to Appeal Ruling Against Disclosure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—There was considerable quaking in New Deal boots today over the ultimate fate of President Roosevelt's secret memorandum which is alleged to set forth a policy of cracking down on private utility companies.

Although government attorneys won a temporary victory yesterday when Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat of the District of Columbia Supreme court ruled that the note could not be introduced in evidence, the issue will go to higher courts. Counsel for private utilities, fighting for their existence against the stream of easy money for municipal power plants, immediately took an exception to the ruling of Justice Wheat.

Program In Balance.

The entire power subsidy program of the New Deal hangs in the balance with the penciled note, initialed "F. D. R.," according to reliable sources. The contention of counsel for the private concerns has been that the New Deal is going beyond the letter and spirit of relief appropriations statutes in order to coerce the utilities.

The story of the President's note starts with problems confronting the electric power board of review, a subsidiary of the Public Works administration. Secretary of the Interior Ickes, as head of PWA, sent a letter to the President at his estate in Hyde Park, N. Y., in September, 1934, asking for a final decision on the government's policy regarding the making of grants, or outright gifts, and loans to municipalities for the purpose of constructing power plants.

Secret Uncovered.

The President's reply, written on or about Sept. 10, 1934, is said to have instructed Ickes and the power board that if private utilities came down with their rates not to advance PWA funds because then there would be no "social desirability" for them.

In an undisclosed manner, attorneys for the power companies learned of the secret "F. D. R." memorandum and issued a subpena for it. Then Wheat's ruling was made denying the attorneys access to the document. Jerome Frank, radical New Deal lawyer, declared that the President had expressly directed that the memorandum should not be revealed.

Administrator Ickes, angered at the "leak" in his staf, has ordered Louis Glavis, head of PWA's secret police force, to track down the culprit, it was learned.

Admits Seeing Note.

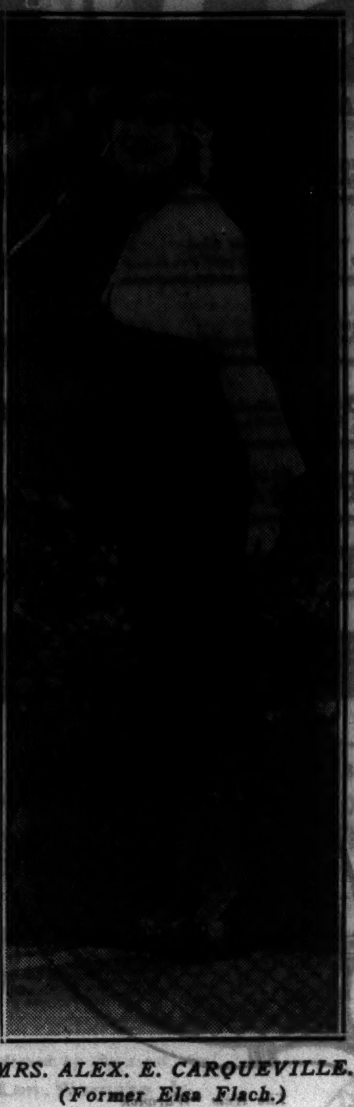
Otto Rau, a former member of the electric board, admitted on the witness stand in Justice Wheat's court that he had seen the memorandum. Other PWA officials have testified that representations were made to privately owned power concerns that if they would lower their rates sufficiently, grants and loans would not be made to construct municipal plants in their territories.

The case of the private companies for an injunction to block the subsidy program has been built about the charge that Ickes is exceeding the authority granted to him by congress for spending the money, namely, spending it for increasing employment, and instead is attempting to coerce private concerns.

In addition, a steady stream of witnesses has testified that their business will be ruined by the government's action. Not only does PWA make a loan to a municipality for building a power plant but it also parcels out roughly 30 per cent of the cost gratis. Thus the private company could not compete with the subsidized municipal company.

Ickes is expected to be called when the government presents its case in the District court tomorrow or next week. The companies involved are the Alabama Power company, the Texas Utilities company, the Oklahoma Utilities company.

Granted Divorce



MRS. ALEX. E. CARQUEVILLE. (Former Elsa Flach.) [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Alexander R. Carqueville, 176 Laurel avenue Highland Park, wealthy retired lithographer, a director of the Union League club, was divorced by Mrs. Elsa Flach Carqueville, the former German screen actress, in a secret hearing yesterday before Judge Ralph J. Dady in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan.

The couple were married Jan. 17, 1930, after a courtship which began in Berlin. They separated last April 13. Mrs. Carqueville charged cruelty and testified that on several occasions her husband struck her and slapped her face. Her testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Doris Duncan Murphy, 200 East Chestnut street.

Under an out of court settlement Mrs. Carqueville received $5,000, household furnishings, and a Packard car. She left last evening for New York to return to Germany, where she has been invited to act as a hostess in the Olympic games, according to her attorney.

JOE SAVAGE SUES CROWE FOR PART OF $37,000 FEE

A new phase of the litigation between former State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe and his former law partner, Joseph P. Savage, was taken into federal court yesterday. The previous squabbling has been in the Circuit and Superior courts.

Savage appeared before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan, petitioning that he be given a third of a fee of $37,000 recently allowed by the court to the new law firm headed by Crowe. The fee was for services in the reorganization of a $6,000,000 real estate trust of the Foreman Trust and Savings bank.

Judge Sullivan referred the claim to Referee in Bankruptcy Charles A. McDonald for hearing. Meanwhile a suit for an accounting of the assets of the former law partnership of Crowe, Savage and the late George E. Gorman is still pending before a master in chancery in the Circuit court.

NEW EFFORT IS MADE BY HEARST TO CHECK BLACK

Seeks Injunction to Halt Wire Use.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Another skirmish in his legal battle to carry the issue of telegram seizures by the Black lobby investigating committee to the Supreme court was pressed today by W. R. Hearst, publisher.

A new brief was filed by Hearst through his attorney, Elisha Hanson, in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here. The brief was a reply to the committee's answer to the Hearst appeal to the court for a speedy hearing on his demand for an injunction against further seizure or use of telegrams already seized by the committee.

Injunction Is Denied.

Hearst appealed to the court of appeals last April 29 to reverse the decision of Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat of the District of Columbia Supreme court. Chief Justice Wheat had ruled that he lacked jurisdiction over acts of the senate committee and refused to enjoin the committee from making any use of Hearst telegrams obtained through the influence of the federal communications commission from telegraph companies.

The new brief repeated the charge that telegrams now in the hands of the committee were obtained illegally and through an unlawful conspiracy. The brief cited the fact that one of the seized telegrams was turned over by the committee to a member of the other house of congress [Representative John J. McSwain, South Carolina Democrat], "Who made its contents public and under the cloak of congressional immunity, proceeded to make a violent and virulent attack upon the petitioner.

Constitution Violated.

"In combination with members of the federal communications commission, in defiance of law, without even a semblance of due process, they seized the private papers of this petitioner relating to his business as a publisher," the brief declared. "By so doing, they violated not only the fourth and fifth, but the first amendment of the constitution.

"In so far as one of these papers is concerned, by their own admission, it was not pertinent to their investigation for any legislative purpose."

DIARY BY BODY TELLS VAIN 45 DAY WAIT FOR PLANE CRASH RESCUE

MOSCOW, May 14.—(AP)—A diary found near the body of a soviet flyer disclosed today he had lived for 45 days after his airplane crashed on a barren peninsula near the Bering strait only to succumb to cold and starvation. Discovery of the wreckage solved the mystery of an airplane with a crew of three which had been missing for nearly five months.

The body was that of a mechanic named Bogdacheffsky. His companions, G. Volobuyeff, head of the Chukhotsk aerial group of the northern sea route department, and Pilot Butorin had left 27 days after the crash to try to reach aid. They have not been heard from and presumably perished.

The three had taken off from Cape Vankaren Dec. 19 on a 125 mile hop to Cross bay. For months a search was made with airplanes and dog teams for the missing men.

Coldwater, Mich., May 14.—[Special.]—High school students at Quincy, Mich., went on strike this morning when the board of education refused to give Gordon Giddings, athletic director and English instructor, a new contract. Recently the 125 students asked the board of education to hire Giddings for another term.

DANIEL C. ROPER IS EXPECTED TO RESIGN SHORTLY

Commerce Secretary Is Target for Criticism.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, who has been buffeted about by continued turmoil in his department, is considering submission of his resignation, it was learned today.

The report was current in the department of commerce and in Democratic circles and swelled the flood of rumors of wholesale changes in the New Deal cabinet. Those close to the secretary by virtue of positions in the New Deal said with the optimism of the administration that Roper would not resign until after the November election.

Roper has remained outwardly calm as party leaders have been screaming for his scalp, insisting that there is no internal conflict within the New Deal. At press conferences he has switched questions on resignation rumors to discussions of his favorite topic, which is Christian philosophy.

Protégé of McAdoo.

The secretary is the protégé of Senator William Gibbs McAdoo [Dem., Cal.], under whom he served as commissioner of internal revenue when McAdoo was secretary of the treasury in the Wilson administration.

Roper has been beset by troubles since he took office. At the outset he attempted to take part in the moulding of the NRA, but was ousted by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson. Since the collapse of the NRA he has gathered remnants of the Blue Eagle under his wing and spoken loudly of bringing about a voluntary regimentation of industry, but has failed to make one forward step.

In the department there has been friction among the personnel which was climaxed a year ago when John Dickson left an assistant secretaryship to join the attorney general's staff. Other resignations resulted from clashes within and without the department.

The Morro Castle and Mohawk disasters brought bitter criticism on the department's inspection service. Air crashes have brought equally severe charges of waste and inefficiency.

Roper also has drawn criticism for allowing the United States Shipping lines to retire the liner Leviathan without exacting the penalties for failure to operate the vessel under the agreement between the lines and the government and for approving a heavy federal loan and grant for the construction of a replacing liner.

Roper also stepped into the current congressional battle over ship subsidy legislation by declaring himself for the Copeland bill. Advocates of the three other pending proposals have expressed resentment over disregard of their plans.

The cabinet rumors have reached virtually every member of the high New Deal family in the last few weeks with the exception of Secretary of State Hull. The resignation of Postmaster General Farley to direct the election campaign has been expected for months.

Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes is said to be petulant over failure to get funds to continue the PWA. Secretaries Henry A. Wallace, Claude H. Swanson, George Dern, Henry Morgenthau, Homer Cummings, and Frances Perkins, it has been said from time to time, will not be back at their posts if the New Deal should squeeze a victory out of the November election.

LEGISLATION AGAINST LYNCHING.

Senator Borah attributes his defeat in the Ohio presidential primary in part to his candid opposition to a federal law to punish lynchers. No Republican, says the senator, can consistently favor anti-lynching legislation. The Republican platform will unquestionably demand full adherence to the constitution, and how, then, he asks, can the same platform and the same party favor an anti-lynching bill?

Mr. Borah assumes that such a bill would violate the constitution. He argues that the punishment of crimes of violence is a local concern, to be handled under state law in the state courts. In general, of course, that is true, but for the purposes of his argument Mr. Borah has conveniently forgotten the civil war and the amendments to the constitution which were born of that struggle. These amendments were intended primarily to establish and safeguard the civil and political rights of Negroes. It was well understood that the south would not voluntarily raise the Negro to the full stature of an American citizen. He would be held back and held under if it were at all possible to do so.

"Nor shall any state," says the fourteenth amendment, "deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." There are teeth in the amendment, for it provides at another point that "the congress shall have the power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article."

In face of these provisions, Mr. Borah is hardly justified in denouncing anti-lynching legislation as patently unconstitutional. He cannot pretend that there is no more authority for a congressional act to punish lynching than there was authority for NRA or AAA. It may be true, as he believes, that the Supreme court will say that the acts of lynchers are not acts of the states where the lynchings take place and are therefore not subject to federal legislation under the fourteenth amendment, but certainly there would be no such violent wrenching of the constitution in an anti-lynching bill as was apparent in NRA, for example. The federal constitution at no point suggests that congress has a right to enact appropriate legislation for regulating the sale of chickens. The men who made the fourteenth amendment were thinking of the wrongs which had been done to Negroes and were aiming to right them against all subsequent efforts to persecute black men.

It does not follow, of course, that any anti-lynching bill, however drawn, would be constitutional, but it also does not follow that no anti-lynching bill can be valid. The legislation must be "appropriate." Mr. Borah seems to think that no legislation against lynching can be appropriate. That is a large assumption.

THE SIXTH THOUSAND.

THE TRIBUNE massacre clock has recorded another thousand automobile casualties—six thousand killed or maimed in 134 days. The pace is becoming accelerated because it is only a matter of seventeen days since the fifth thousand was reported. At this rate the gruesome record for the year will reach twenty-two thousand dead and crippled. A comparison with last year's clock for the corresponding date is also damnable—an increase of twenty-four deaths and 241 maimings.

Statistics for the year 1936 started at a furious pace, showed encouraging signs for perhaps a month after March 1 when eastern time gave the evening rush an extra hour of daylight, but have resumed the upward tendency now that daylight conditions are on a parallel with previous years. There was a tendency for a time to blame the condition on the number of outmoded cars that were being driven beyond their period of efficiency because of the depression. With the number of newer cars noticeably increased, the killings continue. We cannot longer blind ourselves to the fact that the cause is public and official indifference. Public because, in spite of the efforts of the trafic courts, warning signals and other devices, the speed maniac is as much in evidence as ever, weaving his precarious death dealing course among the lanes of cars controled by saner drivers. Official indifference because, in spite of the demands of civic bodies and the press, no move is being made to construct safety highways that will segregate fast motor trafic from pedestrians and slow moving vehicles. Playing politics is the order of the day—"the public be damned."

THE JUDGES AND THE LAWYERS.

Forty-one judges of the Superior and Circuit courts meeting Wednesday voted to withdraw from membership in the Chicago Bar association. The board of managers had raised a question of unethical political activity against several judges and was proceeding to an inquiry to determine whether this activity was cause for expulsion from the association. The judges almost as a body voted to resign.

A number of important questions are raised by this abruptly developed controversy between the men who sit on the bench and the lawyers who practice law in their courts. If the judges had accepted the invitation of the association to appear and justify their political conduct they would have been on trial, without publicity, it's true, before the lawyers who try cases in their courts. The judge would have been the defendant and the question would have been his regard for judicial ethics in politics.

The public has come to look to the bar association for guidance in judicial elections. The bar primary has recorded the judgment of the lawyers and that has carried weight. It has been assumed that out of the lawyers' ability to estimate the judicial fitness and qualification of candidates would come recommendations in the public interest. The judges themselves have accepted this method for the most part as fair and they have not been indifferent to it.

No one can close his eyes to the fact that elected judges are in politics. Politicians can put poorly qualified men on the bench. They can at times keep good men off or even take them off. Judges can build a considerable personal following for themselves and occasionally this is done by methods not above criticism. Many excellent judges have found the bar association a safeguard of their withdrawal from active politics. Their judicial reputations are maintained by the verdict of the lawyers.

The public is interested in protecting the bench from politics, in keeping the judge from feeling a dependence on political organization, and from doing its bidding. If a judge disregards the judicial proprieties in his political activities it is important that he should be criticized or condemned for it. If the bar association had put such criticism in a report on candidates no unusual incident would have been created. One was when it was proposed to put them on trial before the lawyers of their courts. The difference between the two procedures was marked.

If the judges were not members of the bar association the conflict between them and the lawyers could not have arisen on this point and in this way and the question is: Should they be members? Probably not. When they take judicial office it might be well if they ceased to be members of a lawyers' organization within which the more politically minded of them can work for the recommendation of the lawyers if they so please.

If there had been this separation of the judicial office and the legal profession there could have been no occasion for an inquiry into the fitness of a judge to be a member of the organization. If the question of fitness for the bench arose it would have to be determined in another fashion, not in the manner of a union, club, or fraternal organization. That does not seem to be the thing. The remedy lies either in elections or in the manner provided for the removal of an unfit judge.

A bar alert on the administration of law in the interest of the public is a good thing. Its interest should touch not only the conduct of the bench but of the lawyer practicing in court. In the present instance there has been comment that the lawyers are less interested in some evils in their own profession which need discipline and correction than they have been in the political conduct of judges.

Editorial of the Day

[Boston Transcript.]

Who are the greatest eaters in the world? Lincoln Ellsworth, just back from Australia, where he was feasted after his return from the antarctic, says that the Australians have the hugest appetites in all Christendom. And Ellsworth has trotted hither and yon about the globe and eaten with the gourmands of many nations. In the old days, when he was sharing rare adventure with Roald Amundsen, he used to twit that famous explorer on the subject of Norwegian appetites. The American could never keep up with them at table. Amundsen invariably replied, "You should see the Swedes." But Ellsworth now says that compared with the Australians both Swedes and Norwegians eat like babes with the rickets.

Perhaps Mr. Ellsworth has never seen one of our great American eaters emptying his trencher. It is matter of debate whether the late Diamond Jim Brady or the late Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania had the hugest appetite. Mr. Brady used to start dinner with three dozen raw oysters as an appetizer, and his other feats at the table were equally astounding. Senator Penrose, too, liked oysters, and the money he spent in gratifying his taste for them would have kept many a family of twelve in plain and fancy groceries.

These men, however, were not representative of America by and large. As a race we do not take our eating seriously. Europe probably puts more mind to the matter of food than any other region of the world. Australia may have a more splendid general capacity, but in the art of dining she can't match the old home. There was no Caledonian thrift manifest in the dinners for which the Scots of the Edinburgh Assurance company used to prepare with prayer and fasting. The feast, on one anniversary, began with green turtle soup, followed by turbot with lobster sauce, soles, sperlings, and stewed cod with oysters. Iced punch, sherry, and sparkling champagne washed these dainties down. There followed in order a pigeon pie, a roasted saddle of five year old mutton with currant jelly, a dressed calf's head, a roasted turkey, a Dumfries ham, a curry, fillets of chicken with mushrooms, cutlets with sauce piquante, sweetbreads with tomato sauce, and veal patties. Rhein wines, hock, and claret danced attendance on these, and, following the cheese, there came port, a small glass of eau de vie or curacao or maraschino. Yet Dr. Johnson grumbled at the frugal fare of the Scotch and declared in his dictionary that oatmeal was their national food. It may well be doubted, nevertheless, whether the Australians could sit down to a banquet like this of the lean and hungry men of North Britain and go to work the next day.

PRACTICALLY THE BOSS.

Albert—Absolutely. I get here any time I want before 8, and leave just when I please after 5.—Canadian National Railways.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

R. H. L.

BUT AS KING VICTOR EMMANUEL recovers from his joy over being kindly given the job of emperor of Ethiopia by Mr. Mussolini he may sadly decide there's a catch in it. Maybe the Duce is gently hinting that if Vic Emmanuel is emperor of Ethiopia the natural thing for him to do would be to move there. And take his throne with him and his family and his household furniture and his automobile. And the Duce will probably give him a radio, so that even far out in Addis Ababa the new emperor of Ethiopia can listen to the Duce making speeches in Rome. But maybe Victor Emmanuel isn't quick at taking a hint. In which case the Duce may become a little more definite. He may confiscate Victor Emmanuel's shoes, and when Victor asks why Mr. Mussolini will answer: "Oh, they don't wear shoes out in Ethiopia." Now, almost anybody could understand that hint.

WHILE I DISLIKE rats very much, I feel that an apology is due them from J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation. Mr. Hoover said the outstanding criminals should not be called "public enemies," but "public rats." Despisable as a rat is, I insist that it is unkind and unfair to put him in the class of those we now call "public enemies." After all, a rat has his finer feelings as well as we do, and if Mr. Hoover will not apologize to the rats for the base stigma he has put upon them then I will. Public rattlesnakes would be a much better term than public enemies, and calls for no apologies.

NEW YORK proudly announces the invention of eight new words, among them being "humidauriculate," which means "wet behind the ears," and "ismer," defined as "a person given to isms, a brain truster." Oh, shucks; what's the use? New York may invent all the new words it wants to; it isn't going to get people to give up the dear old words which now comprise the most of their vocabulary—"ohkay," "swell," "alritie," and "baloney."

SILENCE IS A QUESTION.

He has nothing to say
Who has written all
On the telephone booth
And the courthouse wall.
And men passing by
Shall pay little heed
To words and to thoughts
The whole world may read.
But he who is silent
With word and with pen
Shall hear many questions
From his fellow men!

ROSA ZAGNONI MARINONI.

MR. ROOSEVELT is unusually quiet in these early days of the presidential campaign. In fact, if I were asked right quick who was the last Democrat elected President of these United States I would say Hickory Jackson. Or was it Thomas Jefferson?

THE IMPORTANT TIDINGS comes from New York that Al Smith has bought a brand new brown derby, which many insist means that he is going to the Philadelphia convention. Nothing of the sort. It is not important that Alfred has acquired a new brown derby. The important thing is whether he has been detected buying a pair of walking shoes. When he gets his walking shoes then it can only mean he is going to the Democratic convention and is fully prepared to put his walking shoes to the use for which they are intended.

THE LABOR DEPARTMENT down in Washington is completing a seven foot mechanical man that will make four minute speeches on men, machines, and things in general. But help, help! Suppose the Democrats are so carried away by the mechanical man they nominate him for the vice presidency? Or maybe they intend him for the keynoter at the Philadelphia convention.

SONG.

When springtime comes gayly
Around the green hill,
My heart beats in rapture—
And then I am still;

For can I be certain
That more springs will come?
Perhaps the next winter
Will strike my heart dumb!

But then I recapture
The breath of the flowers:
No thought of the future
Must mar these glad hours.

No whiff of pink orchards
Must fail to give joy;
In March I was aged,
Today I'm a boy.

The yesterdays vanish,
Today life is dear;
So out in the meadow
I cast away fear,

And garner the blessings
The gods fling at me—
The gardens new-tinted,
The river set free.

When May comes a-singing
My heart must sing too.
Though the winter deceived me

THE PROBLEM OF PSORIASIS.

WHENEVER an expert dermatologist [specialist in diseases of the skin] takes thought unto himself that he possesses all knowledge, let him be confronted with a baffling case of psoriasis. The chances are that he will meet his Waterloo.

Those with this affliction may be thankful that they do not live in the period when it was mistaken for leprosy. For three or four centuries these unfortunates were compelled to undergo the degradation meted out to the "unclean." The anesthetic character of the skin area, after the scale had been removed, was probably one of the factors that led to its confusion with leprosy. It was not until 1798 that an English physician, Robert Willan, carefully differentiated psoriasis from other diseases and gave it its name.

The scales are dry, silvery-white, and leave a reddish to pinkish, sometimes raw, looking area of skin when removed. Scales should never be dislodged forcibly. Daily warm baths, scrubbing the lesions gently with mild soapsuds, is the best method. A brush or a stiff turkish towel may be required.

Apparently regardless of what is done or what remedies are prescribed, the condition will come and go, improve or become worse. An individual may be free from it for weeks, months, or even years, but sooner or later—usually when the symptoms of fatigue and intestinal toxemia increase—the blotches will reappear. It is a common observation on the part of patients that whenever they lose sleep, become worried, are compelled to forgo regular meals, or consume undesirable types of food, the lesions become more numerous.

Curiously enough the victim is otherwise in excellent health. No single disturbance of any function of the body can be identified or located. Heart, lungs, and kidneys are acting normally. The condition has no relation to lack of vitamins or to the failure of any gland to supply its normal secretions. Slight injuries, such as a scratch on the skin, may, however, give rise to the typical raised areas. It remains true, nevertheless, that as the body drops in that intangible factor called resistance the patches tend to increase in number and extent.

Every remedy in the long category of therapeutic agents has been tried. Within the last year or two, due to the report that a high protein diet increases the extent of the disease, a menu free from animal and vegetable protein has been recommended. On the other hand, certain authorities have noted that a diet from which fat has been largely if not entirely eliminated is far more useful. It is not a rare experience to find patients in whom the skin will become completely clear of scales through the use of a fat free diet. On resuming the consumption of fat many cases will coincidentally develop the blemishes.

Of the numerous drugs employed Fowler's solution of arsenic is probably the best, but physicians have learned that care must be exercised lest it be taken for too long a period with resulting arsenic poisoning.

In the field of physical therapy, artificial ultraviolet or ultraviolet from the sun is of value. Exposures are continued until there is a definite browning of the skin. This plan of treatment appears to be rational, because most patients improve during the summer months when out of doors a larger percentage of the time.

A few months ago Elson of New Orleans advocated the use of large doses of pancreatic extract and his plan calls for several doses each day. This is given in conjunction with baking soda [soda bicarbonate] so that the pancreatic enzyme will not be destroyed by the acid gastric juice. Perhaps this is the way out—or it may be just another drug added to the already long list of cures. If extract of the pancreas proves to be of value it may be explained by its effect on fats, as the secretion from the pancreas plays an important rôle in fat digestion.

MAY BE CORRECTED.

H. W. D. writes: Is nearsightedness ever caused by bad teeth or other infection? Is there any cure? Until I was 15 years old my eyes were normal and then I gradually became very nearsighted.

REPLY.

Infections may have something to do with the condition, but it is generally believed that the trouble is congenital or even hereditary. Excessive use of the eyes makes nearsightedness worse. The chances are you were nearsighted even before you noticed the defect. There is no cure, but the condition can be corrected entirely by properly fitted glasses.

STOMACH ULCERS.

PEG writes: What is the cause of bleeding stomach ulcers? Is an operation advisable? The patient has been under a physician's care for six years and has been on a strict diet and takes powders every half hour.

REPLY.

A stomach ulcer bleeds when it is irritated by food. It would be impossible to advise you about an operation without more information. As the patient you refer to is under the care of a physician, I would suggest that he continue to follow his physician's plan of management.

CONSTANT THIRST.

Mrs. H. K. writes: How can I overcome a constant thirst?

REPLY.

Constant thirst can be caused by dry and salty food, dry and dusty air, and a number of diseases. For instance, an untreated diabetic is usually thirsty because he must drink sufficient liquid to produce enough urine to dissolve the sugar which is overflowing through the kidneys. An examination of the urine and a general check-up is advised.

SEE PHYSICIAN.

L. C. D. writes: What is the cause of dribbling from the mouth while sleeping? This does not occur every night, but when it does there is a brown stain on the pillow.

REPLY.

Any colored matter emitted from the mouth is a sign of an abnormal condition in the mouth, lungs, etc., and should come to the attention of a physician.

From Across the Sea

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Sir Herbert Matthews, secretary of the central chamber of agriculture from 1901 to 1927, has issued a warning about the inadequacy of the British food supply in the event of war and the vulnerability of its storage, in an address before the Royal Society of Arts in London.

Matthews said that if the war showed our danger as regards food supplies, the position today "would make people tremble." He urged an immediate inquiry into the whole subject by a committee set up by the new ministry of defense.

"So far as we have history to guide us we can see that neglect of this aspect of war has been more decisive in effect than all other factors," he said. "It is today, in this country, the first line of defense, yet it appears to be least considered by the authorities, and is certainly least understood by the man in the street.

"Let us for a moment glance at some of the factors that are new as compared with 1914. The population has increased by some millions; our mercantile marine has been greatly depleted; the submarine is a far more terrible weapon of offense than it was then; airplanes are an almost unknown force for all forms of attack. Even in 1917, with our navy at its strongest, and with many of our cargo ships and liners armed, we were only partially able to protect food supplies, while much raw material that was greatly needed could not be transported at all."

"Keep the plow going," was the motto for defense, Matthews said. "I am forced to the conclusion that we ought to hold at least six months' supplies in silos or elevators and aim at having another six months' supply in stacks."

These elevators should not be concentrated at the ports, but be scattered well over the country in order to save transport and to spread the risks of loss by enemy action, he suggested. The present storage of grain is almost entirely near the ports, he pointed out.

The old German navy, meanwhile, is helping to build the new British navy and merchant fleet. Steel plates are now being made at various places in the west of Scotland and Sheffield out of the scrap salvaged from the German warships at Scapa Flow which were scuttled by their crews in June, 1919.

A representative of Metal Industries, Ltd., of Glasgow and Rosyth, who took over the work of salvaging the sunken fleet, said that similar steel plates form part of the great new Cunard-White Star liner Queen Mary, which begins her maiden voyage to New York on May 27.

Brasswork salvaged from the warships is also being converted into various articles.

The latest warship to be salvaged is the 25,000 ton battleship Konig Albert, which left Scapa for the 250 mile journey to Rosyth Wednesday but has been held up by bad weather at Long Hope bay.

This great ship is being towed upside down by the most powerful tug in the world. It belongs to a Dutch company. The salvage feat is a repetition of the achievement a year ago when the 28,000 ton battleship Bayern was raised from the ocean bed with 90 feet of water above her hull—establishing a new record.

Seven or eight more warships remain to be salvaged. The company estimates the work will not be completed for six or seven years.

SHARING ESTATE.

Peoria, Ill., May 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My sister married a widower thirty-five years ago. The husband died intestate last November leaving as heirs two living children, and [1] two sons from one son deceased, both past 21, and [2] one heir from daughter, deceased, now 20 years old. 3. A guardian was legally appointed and estate was appraised at about $35,000, including the house and three lots which were appraised at $1,500. 4. Widow would like to either buy out dower rights of these heirs or sell the house. 5. Attorney says this cannot be done. Is this correct? 6. Cannot the court grant permission for sale if the other heirs give consent? If not [7] can she force them to do so before year is up? 8. One heir is making application to administrate for a good share of his portion and wants it May 1. 9. Is administrator permitted to make allowance to one and not all the heirs? 10. The property needs extensive repairs and administrator informs her any outlay must be paid [11] entirely out of her portion, estate sharing no part in expense. 12. Is this right? Administrator advises her [13] she can secure life rights to home by keeping up all taxes, insurance and repairs, at her death property reverting to heirs. 14. If she accepts this option and in future should want to sell could she do so with consent of heirs? 15. Her attorney is not disposed to give her information and she wishes to sell property outright or without heirs' consent? What is proper procedure in order to make title clear? C. J. B.

1 and 2. We assume that you mean grandchildren.

3. Since the grandchildren appear to be of legal age we do not understand the reason for appointing a guardian.

4. It is not clear what dowry rights you mean.

5. We do not understand the basis for his advice, but since he has the facts before him he is in a better position to advise you than we are.

6. Where owners of undivided interests in real estate cannot agree any one of them is entitled to force a division or a public sale by partition proceedings. The cost of such proceedings, including the complainant's, solicitor's fees, are chargeable against the proceeds of sale.

7. See preceding answers.

8. Some of these words do not make sense as you use them.

9. If he did it would be at his own risk and that of his bondsmen.

10. An administrator does not necessarily have anything to do with the real estate.

11. We do not see any basis for this on the facts that you state.

12. Depends on facts that are not before us.

13. The antecedent of this pronoun is not clear.

14. See preceding answers.

15. It seems probable that the attorney is properly looking out for her interests.

POWER.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 11.—Why do you not use the columns of your valuable paper more extensively to combat the evils of the power program the government is trying to put across? They emphasize the advantages of cheaper power, but do not mention the huge sums the taxpayers must pay in increased taxes to pay for these government built power plants. I am not at all interested in paying increased taxes so the people in Tupelo, Miss.; Jackson, Tenn., or Walla Walla, Wash., can have cheaper lights and power.

If I do not like the rates of the private power companies, I can use less, or the citizens can combine and remonstrate to the company—at least—one can do something about it. But what can any one do about taxes but just march up and pay them or lose your property?

You might use your columns and some cartoons to arouse the people and defeat those senators and representatives who are voting this terrible evil upon the taxpayers of the United States of America. We might much better pay the power companies' prices, whatever they are, than pay for the government owned plants, which are never economically managed, and which pay no taxes—but we have to make up for what they do not pay.

This power program of the government is selling the taxpayers into slavery. Let up on the "freedom of the press" for a while, for the people are not much interested in that—and try and educate the people about something in which they are vitally interested—namely, taxes.

DANCING SCHOOL RECITALS.

Chicago, May 12.—June is just around the corner and that brings to mind that the open season for the dancing school recital racket is in full swing. We the parents play the rôle of suckers. The recital which should be nothing more than an end of the term performance, to give the parents an idea of what has been accomplished with their child, is instead turned into a profitable affair for the school, with the parents, who are blindfolded by the pleasure we all experience in seeing our darlings in costumes on the stage, paying the expenses of the whole affair. Just what form of reasoning does the teacher take to convince herself that she is entitled to the sum she makes on recitals, while we the parents, who furnish the performers, their tuition even during rehersals, and their costumes, have to buy tickets to see them perform? Recital tickets should be sold for just what it costs to hire the theater and have tickets printed and not at a price that leaves a nice sum in the dancing teacher's pockets.

ONE OF THE SUCKERS.

A GOOD WORD GONE WRONG.

Chicago, May 12.—Dictionaries define the word "host" as the keeper of a hotel or inn and the word "hostess" as a female host.

Now that women of the most questionable character, such as inmates of houses of ill repute, women who entertain men in so-called "massage parlors," and girls whose work is to encourage men to spend their money on booze in bars, saloons, and night clubs, have appropriated unto themselves the title of hostess, I suggest that the air lines discontinue calling that fine set of young women who take care of the comforts of air passengers "hostesses" and call them what they really are, viz., "stewardesses." The name "stewardess" is still respectable, whereas the word "hostess" has a very bad odor.

GOOD MORNING.

Chicago, May 13.—I would like to suggest that some one with a statistical frame of mind calculate how much time is wasted daily in a city like Chicago by the ridiculous response of "good morning" or "good afternoon" one receives from switchboard operators in certain strictly business organizations. It is an absurd, meaningless banality, savoring strongly of Pollyanna-ism.

C. L. H.

LEARNING TO READ.

Chicago, May 10.—In THE TRIBUNE of May 9, Supt. Johnson is reported as saying that "the taskmaster method of teaching pupils to read by daily word drills will be removed and replaced with a system designed to create an individual desire for books."

The article further states: "The project was inspired by reading failures among elementary school pupils. A survey showed that out of every 800 eighth grade graduates entering Chicago high school there are at least 200 who do not read well."

Supt. Johnson seems to ignore the fact that the reason why more than a fourth of our grammar school graduates are unable to read is that "the daily word drill" in the elementary and grammar grades is a matter of ancient history. The only children who learn to read in the elementary schools of today are those whose parents teach them on the sly, or those who have the good fortune of attending some of the very few schools where the children are taught to read before they reach the fourth grade. The few old-fashioned schools where phonics are still taught are the only schools that really teach to read.

Why is it that the schools of thirty or forty years ago taught every child to read in two or three years? There was no need then for high school "remedial" classes in reading. The answer is simple. Every child learned the alphabet and learned the sounds of letters. He learned to sound his words—not to guess them by "story method." The trouble with the school system of today is that it is run by high salaried educational cranks who are ever making new "problem projects" out of the three R's.

AN EXASPERATED GRANDMOTHER.

PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Chicago, May 11.—I happen to be unfortunate enough to live in Chicago during the winter months, to assure getting to my work each day. This last year, in order to avoid annoyance by the police officers, I took out a city license on my car for the full year and in addition, since I get my state license in December of each year—instead of waiting until June, as many I have seen on Chicago streets seem to be doing—I had it sent to my business address in Chicago, as a matter of convenience. This address happens to be a factory, so you can imagine my surprise upon finding that I am assessed for personal property tax at that location.

Probably the collector's office will enjoy trying to collect it, but so will I enjoy refusing to pay it.

If that procedure isn't inane, dumb, and other things too hot to print, then I must be slipping in my old age.

A POOR REPUBLICAN SUCKER.

GARBAGE REMOVAL.

Chicago, May 11.—Aside from four years in Evanston, I have lived in Chicago all of my life, and have recently moved back to Chicago. The garbage has not been removed for the three weeks that I have been here, despite numerous telephone rquests to the department of streets and alleys, the health department, and a letter to the alderman. I am informed that Chicago's financial position is greatly improved; still the excuse for not removing the garbage is the old one of lack of funds. Surely, with fly time coming on, nothing could be more conducive to helping keep the city clean and healthy than prompt removal of its garbage.

BARES OUSTER OF NEW DEAL CRITIC ON 'FAKE' CHARGE

Congressman Finds U. S. Officials "Spying."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Representative Robert L. Bacon [Rep., N. Y.] today charged Jay A. Mount, former superintendent of maintenance of the bureau of air commerce, was discharged from the service on trumped up evidence for criticism of waste and inefficiency in the bureau.

The incident, now eight months old, Bacon, said, constitutes the most flagrant case of cracking down on a critic which has come to his attention, surpassing that visited on Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood for terming WPA funds stage money.

Bacon protested against Mount's dismissal on the floor of the house April 1. Since that time, he disclosed today, he has learned that in addition to converting the postal inspection service into a spy service the New Deal forced Mount's dismissal on forged evidence without giving him an opportunity to defend himself.

Recalls War Services.

In reviewing the Mount incident Representative Bacon recalled that Mount served in the army air corps during the world war, was trained in every department of aviation mechanics and technology and received an army pilot license. After the war Mount entered the postoffice air mail service and served in various capacities until he became superintendent of maintenance on July 1, 1934.

Shortly after the appointment, Bacon said, Mount went on a tour of inspection of the nation's airways and found that the radio signal systems of 26 leading stations were faulty, discovered equipment rotting in unopened packages, and grim, blackened beacon lamps through which light could shine only a few feet.

Criticisms Set Forth.

Mount's criticisms were:

1. That some $500,000 of the maintenance appropriation for the 1935 fiscal year had been diverted to new construction work at the cost of serious deterioration in the radio beam plants and beacon lights.

2. That inexperienced personnel had been widely placed throughout the field service, causing a dangerous relaxation in maintenance standards.

3. That the bureau of air commerce on numerous occasions delayed in correcting dangerous conditions in radio equipment after they had been reported formally by field inspectors.

Calls Charge Ridiculous.

From the submission of the report Representative Bacon said Mount became a marked man. Postal inspectors were put on his trail in February, 1935, and a month after submission of the reports he was suspended and appeared before the department's personnel board to face charges uncovered by the inspectors.

"The charge against Mount was ridiculous and deserved but a reprimand if it had been true, but because he was marked he was dismissed on a charge I am convinced was false," Representative Bacon said. "The charge was that while in New York on business he went to Atlantic City for recreation.

"The facts are that Mount went to Atlantic City one Sunday, his day off, and returned to New York at his own expense to continue his business Monday. The complaint was that he had stayed in Atlantic City Monday. Three reputable New York business men gave affidavits that Mount was in their offices on business on Monday, and the men volunteered to appear in Mount's behalf before the personnel board. Mount was not permitted to offer this testimony.

Points to Spy Work.

"The postal inspectors produced a bathhouse ticket which purported to prove that Mount was in Atlantic City Monday. The date on the ticket was palpably altered.

"I am interested to know since when has the postal service been converted into a secret service agency to spy on other government departments. The record shows that one memorandum covering the investigation was signed by the chief postal inspector, K. P. Aldrich."

At Aldrich's office Assistant Chief Inspector Joseph F. Gartland readily admitted the office had investigated Mount. He said that from time immemorial the service has been called upon to conduct investigations for other departments and is at all times willing to coöperate with other branches of the government.

Criticisms Repeated.

Mount's discharge did not follow immediately after his appearance before the personnel board in April, 1935. The charges were dismissed May 1 and he was restored to duty, but found that his work had been diverted to another person in the bureau, Bacon said.

Within a few days he was again ordered before the board and again voiced his criticisms, declaring that unless improvements were made a spectacular crash involving national figures would occur. Within five days Senator Bronson Cutting lost his life in an air crash in Missouri.

The death of Cutting brought a senate investigation. On Aug. 6, 1935, as the senate prepared to summon Mount, he was ordered out of town "before sundown," Bacon said, and was sent to a small station at Waycross, Ga., where the senate committee's summons reached him.

Mount testified at an executive session of the committee Aug. 19, 1935, and was dismissed from the service Sept. 14, 1935.

Comparison of Speed in Delivery of Air and Train Mail

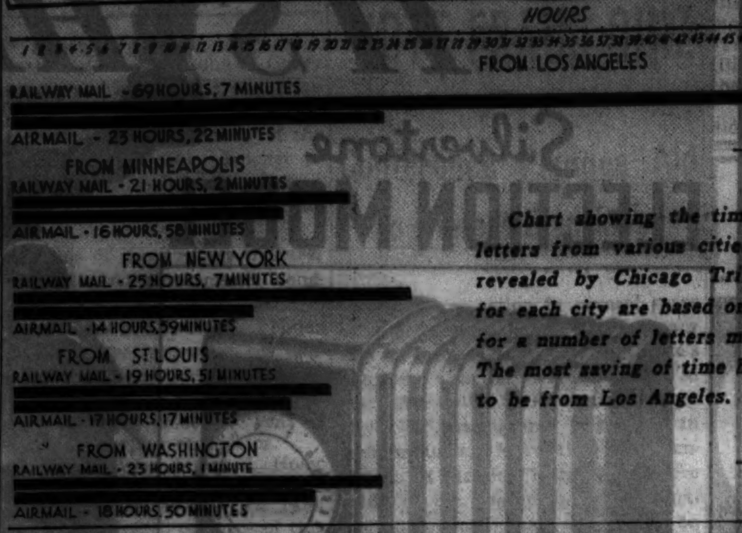

Chart showing the time required for delivery of letters from various cities by train and airplane as revealed by Chicago Tribune survey. The figures for each city are based on the average time required for a number of letters mailed at one hour intervals. The most saving of time by using air mail was found to be from Los Angeles.

DE KOVEN MERELY OUT ALL NIGHT AND DAY, BUT NOT 'MISSING'

New York, May 14.—[Special.]—Seymour De Koven, former Chicago book dealer, who had been the object of a police search after he "disappeared" from his room in a hotel after midnight, returned to the hotel shortly after 9 o'clock tonight and showed surprise at the news that he was sought as "a possible victim of kidnapers."

De Koven said when his "bodyguard" left his room last night he thought that the Brooklyn ex-detective was going to his home for the night. De Koven said he felt like taking another whirl at the New York night life and proceeded to dress and leave the hotel.

He went to a night club alone, he said, met congenial friends, and stayed with them until late this evening, when he returned to his hotel. There, according to the story he told police, he heard for the first time that he was being sought.

AIR MAIL SAVES 45 HRS. TO COAST, SURVEY REVEALS

Cuts 10 Hours Off New York Time; 4 from Capital

BY PERCY WOOD.

Business men using the air mail for their important correspondence will benefit, normally, by a time saving of more than 45 hours over rail mail between the west coast and Chicago; by about ten hours from New York, four hours from Washington and Minneapolis and more than two hours from St. Louis.

These are the major results shown by an air and rail mail efficiency test conducted by THE TRIBUNE on May 5 when weather conditions were described by the weather bureau as "more favorable than usual."

Letters were mailed from the designated cities to THE TRIBUNE at one hour intervals throughout the business day, two each hour—one air mail and the other by rail. Upon their arrival at THE TRIBUNE each was stamped.

Compute Average Elapsed Time.

The average elapsed time between the hours of mailing and receipt was then computed, with the following results:

	Average time.	Air savings.
FROM LOS ANGELES.
Rail mail	69 hours 7 min.
Air mail	23 hours 22 min.	45 hours 45 min.
FROM MINNEAPOLIS.
Rail mail	21 hours 2 min.
Air mail	16 hours 58 min.	4 hours 4 min.
FROM NEW YORK.
Rail mail	25 hours 7 min.
Air mail	14 hours 59 min.	10 hours 8 min.
FROM ST. LOUIS.
FROM WASHINGTON.
Air mail	18 hours 59 min.	4 hours 11 min.

Several peculiarities of transmission were noted in the test. For example, a letter mailed in Los Angeles at 3 p. m. took 30 hours and 33 minutes to reach Chicago by air, while another mailed at 4 p. m., one hour later, arrived here in 22 hours 52 minutes, and the 5 p. m. letter reached THE TRIBUNE in 21 hours 52 minutes.

Another result difficult to explain was noted in the case of an air mail letter from Minneapolis which was posted at 11 a. m. and was time stamped at its destination at 9 p. m. that day in ten hours, whereas the letter mailed an hour earlier, at 10 a. m., consumed 21 hours 49 minutes in transmission.

One of the St. Louis-Chicago letters, sent air mail at 11 a. m., was missent to Kansas City, was postmarked at the air mail field there, and then made the return journey and on to Chicago. The elapsed time of the entire trip was 20 hours, 48 minutes, which was only one hour short of the speed made by the next letter, which was mailed at noon. This missive arrived in 19 hours 50 minutes.

All save one of the Los Angeles-Chicago rail letters were time stamped at THE TRIBUNE at the same hour, 10:32 a. m., on May 8. The last letter followed 46 minutes later, at 11:18 a. m.

Bible Classes Harmful, British Bishop Charges

LONDON, May 14.—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. Alfred Blunt, bishop of Bradford, told a youth movement convention in London today that "most Bible classes do positive harm. They produce in the minds of those attending a feeling that religion is something to be argued about," he said.

SLAYING OF U. S. AGENT REVEALS NEW RUM RING

Federal Forces Massed to Hunt Down Killer.

rested. His car was nearby. He denied that he had anything to do with the Foster shooting and asserted he had only reached Chicago Heights on a southward journey. As for the firearms and the cartridges in the car, he said he carried weapons to protect himself from hi-jackers.

Once Imprisoned as Bootlegger.

He was first turned over to E. C. Yellowley, head of the alcohol tax unit, who questioned him and learned he had once served a prison term for bootlegging. It was information furnished by Jacobs that enabled the police to raid the Sola place. Those seized with the woman were her sons, Bruno, 16 years old, and Vincent, 17 years old; Vincenzo Maronte, 48 years old, of East Hazelcrest, and Joseph Pegorin, 39 years old, of Riverdale.

Mr. Yellowley and Chief of Detectives Sullivan, who coöperated through the evening, learned that the Solas customarily hid their alcohol cans in a haystack outside the house. It was not made plain whether Krupa, the cooker, was allied with the same ring.

The investigators said they were not satisfied with Jacobs' story of the cartridges in his car and still regarded him as a likely suspect in the shooting of the agent.

Story of Thrilling Chase.

The Foster shooting story was told by Guy Goodin, an agent who formerly worked in Wisconsin, but was recently transferred to the northern Indiana territory and was the companion of the slain man.

"We were parked near a filling station in Dyer," said Goodin, "watching for bootleggers' cars. When a dark coupe, a Ford, passed us, it looked like a good prospect. There were three men in it and, we suspected, some alcohol. So we followed.

"The car turned south in Route 41 and we followed at a speed that sometimes reached 75 miles an hour. A little north of St. John the dark car was turned into a dirt road leading east toward Crown Point. We also turned into this lane. There was a turn in the road a little way on and as we rounded it the men in the car had halted and were waiting.

Blast of Fatal Gunfire.

"There was a blast of gunfire and Foster, who had the wheel, was struck in the heart. He died almost instantly. He was able, however, to slow down the car and it rolled unharmed into a little ditch. Our attackers went on. I drove into Hammond with the body of Foster."

Foster was 35 years old. The son of Ruel Foster, assistant postmaster of Marion, Ind. He had been an insurance salesman until early in 1935, when he obtained a place as a revenue agent. He was assigned to the Calumet district and lived with his bride of a year at 42½ State street, Hammond.

Indiana officials of the federal tax unit disclosed that they were arresting an average of 1,000 liquor law violators a year, and the Indiana state police announced they had seized twenty specially constructed liquor running cars in a few months.

The growing importance of the bootleg industry in the last year has been the subject of much comment and investigation.

Unquestionably its extent is much less than in prohibition times, but there is still a market for the product, particularly in the west side flop house district and in areas of similar type in other large cities.

"If you will go to a certain corner of Madison street," asserted one private investigator, "you will see, almost any evening, walking bootleggers carrying from 20 to 30 half pints of watered alcohol under their overcoats. The stuff sells at 10 cents a half pint.

Dealers Make $200 a Week.

"The customers drink the alky in the nearest alley. There are hangers on of the industry who collect the bottles they drink from and return them to the original salesman, receiving half a cent apiece for them. This alky trade looks like a small business, but it has volume, and some of the fellows in the racket can make up to $200 a week."

Nazis 'Forget' in Celebrating Eckener Again Zeppelin Feat

FRANKFORT-ON-MAIN, Germany, May 14.—(AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, in contrast to his enthusiastic welcome in America, was politely ignored at home today after the big dirigible Hindenberg returned safely from a record-breaking flight to New Jersey.

Most Germans did not know Eckener was aboard and fewer know that the Nazi leader gave him a cup. His name was completely ignored in an official news account of the Zeppelin's arrival and only one Berlin newspaper with independent accounts mentioned his name.

[Dr. Eckener is in "disgrace" with the Nazi party because of his failure to take the stump for Hitler in the recent reichstag election campaign.]

Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of air, sent a telegram of congratulations to the Zeppelin company, which Eckener heads. It was addressed to "the Zeppelin company" and did not mention Eckener in either the address or the text.

Officials Mum.

Capt. Ernest Lehmann of the Hindenberg, who did all the talking here for publication, said the American flight made it almost certain no insurmountable difficulties lay in the path of regular trans-Atlantic services. A definite decision, however, will not be taken until after the scheduled summer flights have been analyzed, he added.

The Hindenberg was grounded at 5:45 a. m. [11::45 p. m. Wednesday, Chicago time] and almost immediately preparations were made for a return flight to Lakehurst to begin Saturday. Her time for the return trip was 48 hours 18 minutes. A crowd of thousands was on hand.

EXTEND CURFEW OVER JERUSALEM; NEW RACE CLASH

British Police Kill Arab; 4 Jews Injured.

Jerusalem, May 14.—(AP)—The Palestine government tonight extended the curfew law to the new city of Jerusalem as radical tension heightened with the death of an Arab and injuries to four Jews.

The curfew was proclaimed for the old city yesterday, prohibiting street movements between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.

Arabs attacked a train running from Haifa to Tel Aviv, breaking the windows in several cars with stones. Three Jews were slightly injured.

Arab Shot by British Police.

An Arab was fatally shot by British policemen near the Jaffa gate after he had attempted to stab another Arab, apparently for breaking the anti-Jewish general strike. Arabs wounded a Jew in a clash in the old city.

A delegation of Jewish citizens conferred with Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope, high commissioner for Palestine, and entered a protest against the racial disturbances.

The commissioner assured the delegation authorities were attempting to suppress the disorders and expressed the hope the situation would be cleared up in a few days.

Jewish members of the municipal council also demanded the resignation of Mayor Hussein Kahlidi. The councilmen protested the mayor's activities in the Arab general strike.

The Arab national council issued a proclamation calling upon the Arabs to stop paying taxes to the government, beginning tomorrow, and to continue the general strike.

Three bombs exploded in Jerusalem. One went off near the Home for the Aged Jews, another inside the old city—from which many Jews had evacuated—and the third near a Jewish bus. No damage was reported from any of the bombs.

WOMAN DROWNS HERSELF AS PARK CADDIES LOOK ON

While Lincoln park golf caddies looked on, a woman about 35 years old drowned herself in Lake Michigan yesterday at the foot of Cornelia street. When rescuers, headed by a park policeman, reached the woman she was dead.

Just before her plunge into the lake, the caddies said, she tossed the contents of a handbag into the water, supposedly to prevent identification. The bag, initialed "C," was recovered. The woman was a blonde, 5 feet 6 inches tall, and wore a brown caracul coat. The body was taken to an undertaking establishment at 3616 Broadway.

Also in Lincoln park yesterday the body of an unidentified man, about 45 years old and well dressed, was taken from the lake at Fullerton avenue. The body had been in the water since last winter, according to police. The man was described as being 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing about 200 pounds, with a grayish mustache. The initials "D. C. O." were found on an open faced watch.

"Washworn Clothes are a thing of the past... since I stopped using harsh soap"

says MRS. R. E. SELLE

"I used to think you had to rub the life out of clothes to get them clean. You see, I had been using cheap soap, and I had to scrub the clothes so hard I wore them out. I changed brands several times, but still the clothes came out looking dull and faded and washworn. I complained about it to my neighbor one day, and she said 'Try American Family.' I've been using it ever since—and it really does get things clean and snowy white, without hard rubbing. Best of all, my linens and the children's clothes stay fresh and bright much longer. So it's American Family for me from now on!"

YES, American Family Soap makes washing easier, safer, quicker . . . because the formula is created especially for the water of this region. You get more real suds-making material . . . purer, creamier DOUBLE-SUDS. That's economy for you! And these double-suds, you know, work double-fast yet gently. Out floats even the grimiest dirt—rinses completely—without hard rubbing. Colors stay true. All washables keep life, newness, months longer. Next washday, just try American Family Soap. See what a "find" it is in cutting washing time and labor, in saving money on clothes needs. |Here's added proof—Chicago women buy more American Family brand than any other.

BAR ASSOCIATION PLANS REPLY TO 41 JUDGES TODAY

Lawyers Meet for 3 Hours Without Action.

For three hours yesterday members of the board of managers and the judiciary committee of the Chicago Bar association were closeted in a meeting at which they considered the vote Wednesday of 41 of the 47 Circuit and Superior court judges to withdraw from the association.

At the end of the meeting Herbert M. Lautmann, president of the association, said no action had been taken and another meeting would be held today. He said a statement "covering the entire case" would be made public after today's conference.

The conflict between the association and the judges began with the demand by the association that four of the judges appear before the bar's board of managers next Tuesday to answer charges of judicial misconduct because of political activity in the recent primary campaign. The four judges—Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court and James J. Kelly, Oscar F. Nelson, and John J. Sullivan of the Superior court—have announced that they will not appear.

Differ in Statements.

Only one judge, Roman Posanski of Calumet City, who now is sitting in the Superior court, was invited before the bar officials yesterday. Late in the afternoon the judge denied that he had appeared, saying that he had ignored the summons and had decided to withdraw from the association.

President Lautmann, who presided at the meeting, said that Judge Posanski had appeared and had answered a number of questions relating to his candidacy for committeeman of one of the Calumet City wards in the April election. Lautmann said Judge Posanski's testimony had been taken by a court stenographer.

Two of the four judges who did not attend the judges' meeting on Wednesday announced yesterday that they did not intend to resign from the bar association. They are Daniel P. Trude of the Circuit court and William H. McSurely of the Superior court.

Others Out of City.

The other two judges who did not attend Wednesday's meeting are Hugo M. Friend of the Circuit court, who is absent from the city, and Charles A. Williams of the Superior court, who is convalescing in California from a heart attack.

The withdrawing judges yesterday said they would not resign from the bar association. Such a procedure would allow the board of managers of the association to determine whether or not the resignations would be accepted. Instead, the judges explained, they will sever their memberships by "withdrawing." This will be done in letters sent by the individual judges.

FIND ONE-FIFTH OF PUPILS HAVE SIGHT DEFECTS

Nearly 20 per cent of Chicago grammar school children have defective eyesight, according to the records of examinations conducted in 155 of the city's 327 elementary schools by Works Progress administration inspectors under supervision of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness. The tests are being continued.

Thus far the eyes of 83,717 children have been examined, with 67,913 showing normal vision. Of the 15,747 children whose eyesight was found to be below normal, 9,834 were in serious need of glasses or other corrective treatment.

More than 1,500 of the latter group have been fitted with glasses since the examinations began last fall.

BONDING FEES PAID POLITICIAN EQUAL SALARY OF MAYOR

New York, May 14.—[Special.]—The income derived by John F. Curry when he was Tammany leader, from one angle of the bonding business alone, was equal to the salary of the mayor of the city, Commissioner of Accounts Paul Blanshard told a luncheon meeting at the City club today.

The phase of the bonding business referred to was "performance bonding," Blanshard explained. He said city contractors had to take out bonds guaranteeing performance of contracts even though the city already was protected amply by the practice of withholding 10 or 15 per cent of the payment due the contractor.

Five men, Curry, James J. Hoey, Herbert J. McCooey, Albert V. Crespi, and Charles F. Murphy Jr., all Tammany men, divided 63 per cent of this business over a period of years, Blanshard said. He declared the surety companies made $9 profit for every dollar they paid out in losses on this type of business.

Despite efforts by Gov. Herbert Lehman and Mayor La Guardia to repeal the statutory requirements for the performance bonds, they are still on the books, Blanshard said. He cited this as one instance of how city governments could save money through elimination of politics.

Elect Kankakee Attorney 40th District Rotary Head

COURTNEY TELLS CIVIC HEADS OF VOTE FRAUD QUIZ

Conference Pledges Aid to Honest Elections.

Grand jury action in several cases of vote fraud at the April 14 primary was promised yesterday by State's Attorney Courtney at a meeting in his office with about 30 representatives of associations interested in civic matters. More than 550 complaints of election irregularity were made at the conference, and Courtney announced that all would be investigated by his fraud bureau, headed by Assistant State's Attorney Eugene O'Connor.

The meeting also indorsed permanent registration laws for honest elections. Gov. Horner has said that he will convene a fourth special session of the legislature next Tuesday and will ask it to enact such laws.

Acting as spokesman for the group, which conferred with him at his request, Courtney declared they were not against permanent registration for all the state, but that in any event such provisions should be adopted for Cook county.

"Lots of Leads" on Frauds.

He said the information given him by his conferees had provided "lots of leads" for his fraud investigators.

"The complaints were not confined to either party," he declared, "but existed on both sides of the fence. Many wards are involved. Undoubtedly there will be grand jury action."

In response to a question, Courtney said he had not received a letter written to him by Edgar J. Cook, Illinois manager of Senator William E. Borah's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, which cited specific precinct returns showing one-sided results in favor of Frank Knox, Borah's opponent in the Illinois preferential primaries. Cook charged the returns showed fraud.

"It seems improbable that one candidate or a group of candidates should get the total vote cast in a precinct," Courtney said. "Some 25 precincts where such a vote was recorded are under scrutiny."

Suggest Two Sets of Officials.

There was some talk at the conference on a proposal to provide two sets of precinct officials on election day, one to work during voting hours and the other to come on duty when the polls are closed and count the ballots.

Among those attending were Judge Jarecki, Alexander J. McKay, chairman of the election commission; Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission; Shelby M. Singleton, secretary of the Citizens' association; C. L. Rice, president of the Association of Commerce; Albert E. Jenner Jr., and M. B. Kennedy, representing the Chicago Bar association; Mrs. Harriet N. Robertson, president of the Women's Civic council, and E. J. Davis of the Better Government association.

Rice today will turn over to the state's attorney evidence described as showing "criminal balloting and other vote frauds" in 29 precincts on primary day. In each case, Rice said, the association will follow through any trials which may ensue and where convictions result, the informants will receive cash rewards up to $200.

'L' WORKER INJURED BY TRAIN.

Injunction Restrains 25c Cap Makers Out on Strike

An injunction restraining representatives of the Map Makers' union, local 5, from interfering with the business or intimidating employés of the Soboroff-Rosenwald company, cap makers at 1500 North Ogden avenue, was granted yesterday by Judge John Prystalski in the Circuit court. Two hundred and fifty employés of the plant went on strike last Monday.

A nationwide survey by The New York Sun indicates that 26,780,000 of a possible 29,937,000 workers have jobs today in industry, trade, mining, transportation and communications. These include all classes of workers, clerical, executive and manual.

Employers of more than 5,000,000 workers have reported thus far to The Sun. The survey continues in order to give the United States the true picture of employment, stripped of falsehood and propaganda.

Here are the facts, with thousands of employers, in every State in the Union, standing up to be counted.

All motor figures are included in the "automobile factories" total. The individual companies listed are not counted separately.

All cotton mills are included in the "1,196 counted mills." Individual companies are not counted again.

POLITICS IMPERIL RELIEF, LASKER TELLS RED CROSS

Washington Is Chosen for 1937 Convention.

The coöperation of citizens who unite in the American Red Cross to carry on welfare work is building a public sentiment which will eventually divorce welfare activity from political influence and party alignment. Albert D. Lasker, Chicago advertising executive, told delegates to the Red Cross convention yesterday in their final session at the Stevens hotel. Mr. Lasker spoke at a luncheon meeting.

In the morning session the delegates voted to hold the next annual convention in Washington, D. C. The convention here opened Monday morning.

Requires Public Pressure.

Mr. Lasker criticized government relief administration, characterizing it as "chaotic" in some states. The government system is failing, he said, because it does not permit public consciousness of welfare problems and needs. Direct participation, through an agency such as the Red Cross, is necessary to bring home to the public the importance and need of welfare work, he said.

"No balance will be struck as between need and expenditure in the welfare field of governmental activity until the time arrives when there is sufficient public understanding and public pressure to insist upon a segregation of all human welfare activities, freed from political influence and party alignment," Mr. Lasker said.

Government Agencies Inadequate.

"Until such a time is reached it is of utmost importance that an organization like the Red Cross, reaching millions of people through its membership and reaching thousands through participation in its service, should continue its work of informing the public."

The major task of the Red Cross is the re-building of human morale, Dr. Ivan Lee Holt told the delegates. Pointing out that the suicide rate has nearly doubled since 1928, Dr. Holt, who is president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ, declared it was the "spiritual mission of the Red Cross" to encourage discouraged humans, as well as to aid them in time of disasters.

Woman Wins $175,000 Balm Verdict

31 Illinois U. Students Under Fever Quarantine

Champaign, Ill., May 14.—(AP)—Two cases of scarlet fever placed thirty-one University of Illinois students under quarantine today. Twenty-four co-eds were exposed in an Urbana rooming house where an infant is ill, and seven men students are under restriction in another dwelling.

HELD ON HANDBOOK CHARGE.

Record Verdict

Miami, Fla., May 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Sarah Wyman, a wealthy widow, won an award of $175,000 in Circuit court today in her $500,000 damage suit against Edgar L. Newhouse Jr. of New York for seduction and breach of promise.

The verdict was the largest ever returned in this county in a similar case. Newhouse, a director of the American Smelting and Refining company of New York and several other corporations, did not contest the suit. No attorneys appeared in court for him.

Mrs. Wyman told the Circuit court jury that she either lent or spent $33,000 at Newhouse's request following his promise to marry her. Several letters Newhouse had written to her were introduced, as were notes, checks and other documents.

PURSE SNATCHER TAKES $312.

Mrs. Sadie McArdle, 8200 South Morgan street, was stopped at the entrance of her home yesterday by a young man who snatched her purse containing $312 she had just withdrawn from a bank.

WPA TO REDUCE JOBS IN STATE TO 152,000 BY JULY

Loss of Work Will Throw More on Relief.

The Works Progress administration will employ 152,000 persons in Illinois during the fiscal year beginning July 1, as compared with its peak of 202,000 in February and the 180,000 now on the pay rolls, it was reported here yesterday. The effect of this, relief officials said, would be to throw several thousand more persons on relief and increase an apparent shortage of $25,000,000 in state relief funds for the fiscal year.

One reason for the restricted WPA quota would be the payment to project workers of the wages prevailing in the district where they are employed instead of the present "security wages" of $44 to $94 a month. WPA officials seem certain that the administration will succeed in pushing this change through congress despite its cost to the government.

IERC Allocates $2,200,000.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission yesterday allocated $2,200,000 to its county units for the latter half of this month, after receiving word from Springfield that Gov. Horner had signed the bill appropriating $4,500,000 from the state general revenue fund to supplement sales tax relief money in May and June.

Approximately half of the $200,000 allocated by the IERC on May 9 will carry over into the latter portion of the month, bolstering yesterday's allocation. But since normal requirements are $2,600,000, there will again be a reduction in the budgets of relief families, this time averaging about 12 per cent.

The commission voted to reduce administrative expense in thirteen counties where there are fewer than 150 relief families by merging their administrative operations with those of adjoining counties.

Country township supervisors in Cook county, who almost unanimously declared last Monday that they were anxious to take over administration of relief July 1 under a new law, are apparently wavering in this decision. This was indicated yesterday when a committee of thirty supervisors reported to the joint city and county relief committee that they have been unable to decide definitly which of them want to give their relief duties to the county bureau of public welfare.

DR. G. B. OXNAM, HEAD OF DEPAUW ELECTED METHODIST BISHOP

Columbus, O., May 14.—(AP)—Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam, president of DePauw university since 1928, was elected a member of the Methodist board of bishops tonight on the thirteenth ballot with a total of 401 votes.

BROMLEY OXNAM.

Dr. Oxnam, who withdrew after the second ballot, when he had 327 votes, only fifty-seven fewer than the two-thirds majority needed, filled the fourth and last vacancy on the board.

He was conducted to the platform to join the three elected previously. They were Dr. Wilbur Hammaker of Youngstown, O.; Dr. Charles Flint, chancellor of Syracuse university, and Dr. Alexander P. Shaw of New Orleans, the colored member.

Dr. Oxnam's supporters reëntered him in the race tonight when the eleventh ballot failed to elect the fourth member. Dr. Harry W. McPherson, president of Illinois Wesleyan university, was leading then with 195 votes.

CONSTIPATION* MAY CUT DOWN YOUR ENJOYMENT OF LIFE

Long Neglected, It May Even Develop Serious Consequences

Common constipation* keeps you from being at your best. It causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches and loss of appetite. You feel below par, lack your usual vigor.

So many people treat this condition as a slight matter. But it can be the starting point of serious trouble. It contributes to a general run-down condition. With lowered bodily resistance, you are more likely to pick up the first chance infection you meet in your every-day routine.

Common constipation is due usually to insufficient "bulk" in meals. Fortunately, a delicious cereal supplies gentle "bulk." Within the body, the "bulk" in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass and cleanses the system.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, etc. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN oftener. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company as an effective laxative food for constipation.* Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Oats vs. Alfalfa.

May 14, 1936.

VOLUNTEER oats that sprang up in a field last summer are believed to have smothered out a 20 acre field of young alfalfa at the Tribune Experimental farm near Wheaton. Last week the farm manager found that the alfalfa was dead and decided that the field would be plowed up and used this summer for corn.

The alfalfa was sown in with oats last spring. There was a good stand of young plants when the oats were cut with a combine harvester last summer. The oats made a rank growth and lodged. Rains delayed harvesting to the point where much of the oats became so ripe and dry they shattered. From this heavy covering of seed a new crop of oats voluntarily came up in the field and smothered out the alfalfa.

Hardy Lespedeza.

Northern Illinois farmers and crop experts are watching the lespedeza in the Wheaton farm test plots with unusual interest this spring. Sericea No. 0473, one of the hardiest strains of perennial lespedeza, has surprised many observers by being hardy enough to live through the severe winter weather. A few rows of Sericea No. 0473 were started from seed in the plots last year. The plants thrived during the summer and the leaves and stems above ground were killed by frost last fall. The roots showed "signs of life" early in the spring but it was not until a few days ago that the farm manager was certain the plants had actually lived over winter in the open plots. Last week the young reddish colored shoots began to appear above ground.

The fact that this upright growing lespedeza has lived through one of the most severe winters in recent years indicates that farmers may be able to grow the crop successfully for hay or pasture this far north and thereby add another valuable legume to their list.

In nearby plots plants of the Harbin variety of lespedeza—an early strain of the annual Corean [Korean] lespedeza—is making a fine showing. The seeds have sprouted and young plants came through the ground more than two weeks ago. Harbin is much earlier than the ordinary Corean lespedeza. Plants of the latter strain have just started coming through the ground.

Fast Growing Hops.

Hops started from crowns in the test plots last year also have lived through the winter. The plants started their growth fairly early this spring and many of the vines already are several feet long and have started climbing the trellises. New crowns have been planted where the plants failed to grow last summer.

Farmers and insecticide manufacturers are keeping an eye on the pyrethrum plants in the test plots. These plants were started from seeds brought here from Japan and Iran [Persia] and started in 1935. The plants did not bloom the first year but blossoms are expected this fall. The clumps of plants came through the winter in excellent condition and were transplanted early to allow room for this season's development. The plants are now set in rows four feet apart and two feet within the row. The blossoms furnish poison used in controling insects.

Twenty Steers Sold.

Twenty more Hereford steers from the Yorkville farm were sold on the Chicago market yesterday. They averaged 935½ pounds and brought $8 a hundredweight. The transportation costs on the 20 head amounted to $28.07 and the costs after they reached the stockyards totaled $29.87.

It's our family's whiskey, neighbor—and neighbor, it's your price!

Our Dad said this—

"In our Family's Whiskey, we've got as fine a recipe as ever there was. And I always say when you got a good thing, let her be. I'm counting on my boys never to let a drop go into a bottle with the Wilken Family name on it, but what it measures right up to snuff."
Harry E. Wilken, Sr.

To Dad's way of thinking—and to ours, too—there can't anything quite come up to an honest-to-goodness family recipe . . . for real tastiness I mean.

And judging by your notes asking for our free home cooking album, and all your orders for our Family's Whiskey, it looks like you and us Wilkens think pretty much the same. I guess you'd think it kind of funny if The Wilken Family Whiskey wasn't good. Figuring the experience of Grandad, and Dad's 44 years, and all us boys shown at supper here—you might say it took 100 years for us to work out this Family's Whiskey Recipe of ours. Well anyways, I'm glad you like it!

B. J. ROSENTHAL, 68, HEAD OF MAIL ORDER FIRM, DIES

Noted for Philanthropies Here and Abroad.

Benjamin Jefferson Rosenthal, merchant and philanthropist, died in the Passavant hospital yesterday after an operation. Mr. Rosenthal, who was 68 years old, was chairman of the board of the Chicago Mail Order company. He entered the hospital two weeks ago from his home in the Ambassador hotel.

BENJAMIN J. ROSENTHAL.

Throughout most of his life Mr. Rosenthal was identified with humanitarian projects. Five years ago he established the Benjamin J. Rosenthal foundation for the support of several Chicago charities. Each year the foundation awards a medal to the person most conspicuous in furthering civic projects.

Awarded Legion of Honor.

Mr. Rosenthal's benefactions were not confined to Chicago. He was instrumental in establishment of a preventorium for tubercular children in Arbonne, France. For this work the French government conferred on him the decoration of the Legion of Honor.

Formerly a real estate man, Mr. Rosenthal was regarded as an expert on housing questions. About fifteen years ago he and a group of other citizens financed and built 175 homes which were sold on liberal terms to small wage earners. Early in the depression he urged construction of 50,000 homes in the city as an aid to recovery.

Lifelong Resident Here.

Mr. Rosenthal was born in Chicago on Nov. 5, 1867, and was educated in the grammar and high schools here. In 1884 he entered the employ of Gage Brothers & Co., wholesale millinery concern, as an office boy, and within seven years he was a partner in the business. He entered business for himself in 1890.

In 1901 Mr. Rosenthal married Miss Hannah Stumer, who, with two children, Mrs. Gladys Tartiere of Fontainebleu, France, and Mrs. Elaine R. Reinhardt of Chicago, survive.

Mr. Rosenthal was once a member of the city civil service commission and from 1894 to 1897 was a member of the board of education. In 1916 he served as a member of President Wilson's assay commission.

Peeks at Stars; Bank Killers Caught; Sues for Reward

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, May 14.—Lucio Berto, astrologer, today sued the Anglo-South American bank for a reward of 25,000 pesos [about $8,000] offered for the discovery and arrest of the assassins of two British bank clerks. The clerks were killed during a holdup of the bank's Santa Cruz branch last August. The astrologer claims the position of the stars enabled him to deduce the identity of the murderers. He insists that he put the police on their trail.

ALLENBY IS DEAD; DROVE TURKS OUT OF THE HOLY LAND

Famous Soldier's Victory in War Stirred World.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 14.—Viscount Allenby, who on Dec. 9, 1917, marched into Jerusalem and delivered the Holy Land from seven centuries of Moslem domination, died suddenly today. He was 75 years old.

Servants at his South Kensington house said Lord Allenby collapsed in his study and died almost immediately. His wife survives. The couple's only son, Horace Michael Hynman Allenby, was killed in action in France in 1917. The viscountcy goes to a nephew, Dudley Jaffray Hynman Allenby, an officer in the 11th Hussars.

Led Campaign in Egypt.

After consistent successes on the western front, Allenby was sent to Egypt, and began a campaign that resulted in one of the most brilliant victories of the world war. The military success gripped all Christendom.

Until then the Egyptian campaign was given scant attention. Allenby built railroads and prepared for a big offensive. When the time came to advance against the Turks he sent out "dust columns" by day, marching in one direction. When darkness fell he hurled his forces upon the unprepared Turks with an advance in the opposite direction.

Allenby pushed the Turks out of Egypt and cornered them in Palestine between the Jordan river and the Mediterranean. He drove the Turks out of their trenches and on Dec. 9 led his cavalry into Jerusalem, ordering that no shots be fired which would damage a sacred place.

Made Field Marshal.

Allenby was knighted as Sir Edmund Allenby during the war. In 1919 he received the baton of field marshal, was made a viscount and was voted $250,000 by parliament. He was high commissioner to Egypt and the Sudan from 1919 to 1925 and was in Cairo when Egyptian independence was proclaimed in 1922.

Returning to England he took little part in public life except on state occasions. He was "Gold-Stick-in-Waiting." This entitled him to march near the king.

In 1928 Allenby went to the United States to attend the American Legion convention in San Antonio.

Allenby was the son of an old Yorkshire family and attended the Royal Military college at Sandhurst. His first taste of active warfare was in the Zululand campaign of 1883-84 and the Bechuanaland expedition of 1884-85. He was in command of a cavalry squadron in the Boer war and was present at the capture of Johannesburg.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Paul Whiteman has a new scheme to make every bright little boy or girl's mamma listen to his Sunday evening musical varieties. The idea is that Paul is to conduct a nation-wide search for potential Shirley Temples and Freddie Bartholomews by way of his radio show. Details will be revealed at 8:45 p. m. Sunday over WENR-NBC. First prospects will be presented on the program of May 24. Real movie tests are in store for the young Whiteman winners. It may be added that Whiteman's sponsor likes the idea since he sells toiletries.

News briefs: Charles P. Hughes, producer of the W-G-N "Behind the Camera Lines" dramatic show, is in John B. Murphy hospital under observation. . . . Olan Soule, young actor currently heard in W-G-N's Bachelor's Children and the Titans of Science series from the University Broadcasting council, has been chosen as the new Amos 'n' Andy announcer, supplanting the veteran Bill Hay, who continues in radio as a member of the NBC sales staf. . . . Horace Heidt, who has just completed an eminently successful four month tour, will bring his radio Brigadiers back to the Drake hotel and W-G-N-MBS tonight for another long stay.

The William J. Bogan Memorial fund drive will be launched by radio at 9:15 tonight over WENR. Dr. Charles H. Judd of the University of Chicago is to outline the plans. . . . Ruth Etting will make one of her infrequent radio appearances as guest of Richard Himber's Champions at 9 tonight on NBC. Himber's sponsors have just got out a booklet called "From Rags to Richard Himber." . . . Charles Previn, conductor of the recent "Life Is a Song" series here, has gone to Hollywood to write and arrange the musical score for the picture "Parole," in which Ann Preston and Henry Hunter [Shaindel Kalish and Arthur Jacobson to their Chicago radio friends] have the leading parts.

Clem McCarthy and Edwin C. Hill have been picked by Buick to broadcast the Louis-Schmeling fight over both NBC nets on June 18. . . . Jack Benny has changed his plan of broadcasting from Chicago this forthcoming Sunday and will return to New York. Reported that Goodman Ace is helping Jack write his scripts at present. Well, if Jack ever gets sick Ace could substitute for him at the microphone, too. Their voices are a lot alike. . . . The General Motors Symphony concert will be moved for one week across the continent. On Sunday, May 24, it will originate in the Hollywood bowl, with Rosa Ponselle as soloist. Erno Rapee, regular conductor, will fly west for the concert. Switch is being made because Miss Ponselle is making a picture and couldn't come to New York.

The APTOHE [now there's an alphabetical merger to make the New Dealers envious], that is the Association for the Prevention of Taking Off Hats in Elevators, will be formally launched in a broadcast over WBBM-CBS and NBC at 10 p. m. tomorrow from the National Press club at Washington. Sir Wilmott Lewis, London Times correspondent, will sound the keynote, "International Implications of Lifting the Lid in the Lift." Among the charter members are Reps. Maury Maverick of Texas and Percy Gassaway of Oklahoma, ten gallon hat wearers. They argue that doffing hats in elevators is destructive to headgear, engenders flirtations, and embarrasses baldheaded men. Senator Sherman Minto nof Indiana wil speak extemporaneously.

The APTOHE song will be "Keep On Your Old Gray Bonnet."

WILLIAM MARBE KILLED BY TRAIN; ACTRESS' FATHER

New York, May 14.—[Special.]—William Marbe, the father of Fay Marbe, musical comedy and motion picture actress, was killed by a Hudson tube train today in the 23d street station. The police report said that Mr. Marbe "fell or jumped" in front of the train.

Trains going to New Jersey were held up for 25 minutes while an emergency crew removed the body.

As an actress and a litigant, Miss Marbe has figured in the newspapers for some years. She has appeared on the musical comedy stage in New York and London and in motion pictures. She once insured her smile for $250,000 and her legs for $100,000.

She sued a London theater manager for libel, and a few years back brought a breach of contract suit for $150,000 against a motion picture company. The suit was settled out of court for $6,000. She likewise won a suit in London, obtained $15,000, for the loss of a part in a musical show.

BIG FEES PAID FOR PROTECTION OF PROSTITUTION

N. Y. House Operators Tell Earnings.

New York, May 14.—[Special.]—Young women who testified frankly about their earnings in houses of prostitution and madames who conducted the establishments today told the story of the intricate operations of a vice ring which Charles Luciano is alleged to have headed and which reputedly netted annual returns in excess of $12,000,000.

Before Supreme Court Justice Philip M. McCook the witnesses appeared in unabashed procession while Luciano and the nine underlings on trial with him on compulsory prostitution charges calmly listened to the stories which may send them to prison for many years.

A 24 year old brunette, chic and self-possessed, who said she was variously known as Dorothy Arnold, Doris Sherman and, more intimately, "Dixie," testified that for the privilege of operating a place unmolested she paid agents of the vice ring $10 each week for each girl in her place.

Defends Were Agents.

It is these fees that Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey says provided the chief revenue for the Luciano ring, and it is his intention to show that men now on trial with Luciano made the actual collections and that they in turn were merely the agents of Luciano.

Several defendants were identified by the witnesses, although Luciano was a stranger to the girls and the madames.

Both Miss Arnold and Betty Winters, 22, a buxom Russian, described the systemized accounting methods of their houses, and each identified among the defendants men to whom they turned over their "bond fees."

Both indignantly denied that they ever had been prostitutes, but other girls, including Mary Thomas, 25, a plump blonde, were less finicky and compared the merits of street-walking and service in a house. Miss Thomas said street-walking was more profitable.

Readiest Source of Income.

Whether they appeared as madames or inmates of the houses, there was a repetitious quality about the women's stories. They started to earn their living early in life as clerks, as domestics, or factory employés, and then drifted into their new occupations.

Several married and when their husbands died or lost their jobs the houses of prostitution provided the readiest source of income, sometimes for themselves alone and at other times to help in the support of children.

Miss Arnold testified that she kept track of each girl's revenue by punching a card whenever "customers were entertained."

With these cards, Miss Arnold said, she computed the earnings of her house at the end of each day.

The cards, neat green squares of cardboard, were marked in such a way, she said, that the day of the week, amount earned, room used, and fees were recorded on it.

"I punched the cards each time," said the witness. "If a customer paid $2 I'd punch the card twice. If the next customer paid $3 I'd punch the card three more to make five."

RECAPTURE TWO CONVICTS; POSSE HUNTS 2 OTHERS

Three Hostages Freed; 1 Critically Shot.

McAlester, Okla., May 15 [Friday].—(AP)—Bill Anderson and Archie Herring, escaped convicts, were captured early today two miles southwest of Antlers, Roy Kenny, Oklahoma state penitentiary warden, said he was informed.

The men were captured by a posse without a shot being fired, the warden said. They were two of four fugitives forced to abandon a car near Antlers last night when officers fired on them.

Guard Shot in Neck.

Antlers, Okla., May 14.—(AP)—Two state prison guards and a farmer were released alive near here tonight by fugitive convicts, four of whom were being trailed closely by a posse of officers who said they were only "ten minutes" behind the fugitives.

The men released were Tuck Cope and Victor Conn, guards, and Wilburn Doaks, farmer who lives near Pittsburgh. Cope, shot through the neck, was in a critical condition. The other two were uninjured.

The three, shouting "We're guards, don't shoot," ran around the corner of a farmer's house near here late tonight into a crowd of Antler's citizens who had been attracted to the scene by shots officers had fired at four of the fleeing convicts.

The four convicts, speeding away in a stolen machine, were forced to abandon it a short distance away when officers showered them with bullets.

The four convicts, as identified by the guards, were Julius Bohannon, Jess Cunningham, Bill Anderson, and Archie Herring.

Cope said he and the other two captives and six of the convicts had been huddled in the brush near the place since early morning.

Officers Lose Trail.

Late today two of the convicts, Claude Beavers and Claud Pugh, went to town to get gasoline for the car, the one in which they had fled from the prison brickyard. The pair was forced to abandon the car 12 miles north of Antlers, as officers closely pursued them. No trace of these two had been found.

Late tonight, when the two had not returned, the four convicts decided to get another car and resume their flight, the guard said.

Taking their captives with them, they went to the home of Ralph Crabtree, whose car was sitting in the yard.

"We're turning you guys loose and you stay right here until 2 o'clock," the guard said he and his companions were instructed.

It was soon after this that officers opened fire on the convicts as they drove away near the house.

Held on Charges He Sold Money Making Machine

Morris Paschman, alias John Globber, 40 years old, 5026 Woodlawn avenue, was arrested yesterday on a charge of obtaining $27,500 from Samuel Schwartz of New York City in the sale of some dyes and a machine for making money. A warant from New York charges him with grand larceny on April 28, 1935.

RULES ARE RULES BUT AGING EGGS OVERTHROW 'EM

Could you restrain yourself if you stood beside a crate of aged eggs and were within accurate throwing distance of a foe? Neither could juniors and seniors of Armour Institute of Technology yesterday when they met for their annual clash in Ogden field on the campus at 33d and Federal streets.

It had been planned to arm each of 100 juniors and 100 seniors with an egg apiece. Facing each other three paces apart, the foes were to toss the eggs back and forth as they retreated one pace with each toss. At an umpire's signal they could throw the eggs with no expectation of their being properly caught.

But the sight of the not-too-fresh eggs being unloaded from automobiles at the edge of the field was too much for them. The 200 contestants pounced on the egg crates and pelted each other at close range until the ammunition was exhausted and the students were dripping.

Despite the disregard of rules, the juniors were declared winners because more seniors appeared to have been smeared.

Parents Plan Fall Functions for Debutantes

Two September Parties Are Announced.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE summer months fly by so quickly that it is no wonder those families who have daughters of an age to be presented to society already are making plans for the coming season, especially those mothers and fathers whose grown-up daughters will be introduced at early fall teas. The afternoons of Sept. 12 and 26 already have been chosen by the families of two prospective buds for teas, one in Winnetka and one in town, and many Christmas holiday dates are under consideration by other families.

Sept. 12, which is the second Saturday of the month, will mark the debut of Miss Fidelia Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus W. Richards, who will present her at a tea in their Hubbard Woods home. The day promises to be an especially gay one for the debutante because Mr. and Mrs. William T. Bacon of Winnetka are giving a dinner-dance for her that evening.

Miss Richards attended the North Shore Country Day school, where a younger sister, Marie, now is studying, and was graduated a year ago from Miss Hall's school in Pittsfield, Mass. During the last winter Miss Richards has been studying at the Art institute here, where she hopes to receive a master's degree at the end of three more years. She is planning now to continue with her studies next fall, although the gay life of a debutante may cause her to take a few months' leave of absence from school.

Sept. 26th's debutante—or one of them—will be Miss Anne Tracy, whose mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Redheffer, will introduce her at a tea that afternoon at their residence, 191 East Walton place. Mr. and Mrs. Redheffer will give a dinner at the Casino that evening for their daughter and her assistants and their escorts.

Miss Tracy is a student at Swarthmore college, where she will continue during her debutante season. She and Mrs. Redheffer are planning to go to Stanstead college in Quebec on June 9 to attend the graduation exercises of Joie Redheffer. Young Mr. Redheffer, who plans to enter Swarthmore next year, attended the Chicago Latin school previously, and is the only student from the United States at Stanstead.

Three Debutantes Will Return on Normandie.

Three young women who undoubtedly will be among the most fêted of the season's debutantes are Miss Annie May Henry, Miss Betty Keith, and Miss Anne Winston. They have spent the last winter traveling abroad with Miss Stout's school, and soon all will embark on the Normandie for a crossing that will land them in New York on May 25.

Mrs. Huntington B. Henry and Mrs. Stanley Keith will go to New York to meet their daughters. Mr. and Mrs. Henry have not made definite plans for the type of party they will give for Miss Annie May, or whether she will share honors at it with another debutante of the season, but the party will take place during the holidays. The Henrys will move out to their Lake Forest home soon after the debutante and her mother return from New York.

Miss Keith, whose family lives in Lake Forest the year around, will not see much of home during the summer, for Mr. and Mrs. Keith have planned to take her to Bermuda for

A LITTLE fellow went into a restaurant on Lake street, ordered a meal, and received a check for 23 cents from the waiter. Handing the waiter a quarter, the patron buried himself in his newspaper while the waiter disappeared and brought back two cents change, which he put down and stood by expectantly. The patron handed him the two cents, and the waiter in icy tones inquired, "May I ask what that is?"

Champ—Offer—Nonsense—Cribbed.

"Listen, I've seen cheapskates in my time," began the waiter. "I've been given ten cent tips and five cent tips, but a two cent tip . . . never. That's no tip."

The patron continued to read his paper and the waiter, not discouraged, went on with his angry harangue.

"Listen some more. Mr. —— is the champion cheapskate of this town and the lowest tip he ever gave me was three cents."

The little man folded up his paper and got up. "Shake hands with the new champion," he said.

To which M-G-M answered:

"Received your letter, but regret to inform you that because of excess of story material we cannot give you an opportunity, but we can give you Herman Manciewiscz, Samuel Hoffenstein, and Louis J. Weitzenkorn."

A FELLOW went into one of those Pullman car roadside restaurants and ordered roast beef with plenty of gravy.

"Plenty of gravy," he repeated, after giving his order.

The counter man put before him a dish of roast beef swimming in gravy, and the patron, looking at it with disfavor said, "I told you I wanted plenty of gravy."

"But there's so much gravy it's running onto the counter," expostulated the counter man.

"But I want it running into the street," said the customer.

Mrs. Hoover Guest of Girl Scout Group

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Fifteen hundred delegates to the Great Lakes regional conference of the Girl Scouts, volunteer adult executives from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, will meet today and tomorrow in the Palmer House for their twelfth annual conference. At the banquet tonight in the hotel they will hear their national president, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the former President, speak.

Mrs. Hoover arrived from California yesterday morning on the North Western Overland limited and spent a busy day. The program included a luncheon for the regional committee at the Homestead hotel in Evanston, a meeting there and tea later at the home of Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, 225 Greenwood boulevard, Evanston.

Hurrying in from Evanston, Mrs. Hoover and other officers, including Mrs. Frederick Edey of Bellport, N. Y., first vice president, were guests of the Girl Scout local directors of the region at the Chicago Woman's club at dinner. Mrs. Hoover spoke informally to the executives.

She described the Rocky mountain Girl Scout conference at Rock Springs, Wyo., which she attended, departing before it was over to come to the conference here. Some of the captains of Scout troops had traveled 600 and 800 miles from mountain homes to attend, she said.

"They were real people," she continued, "as were the people of Rock Springs, a little mining town. They were there for a purpose. They had not retired and gone there to live, as in Los Angeles.

"One girl of 18 had never before been away from her native town of Jackson's Hole. She never before had seen a railroad train. She spent most of her time at the conference going up and down in an elevator. Many of those mountain women had made their scouting uniforms and given their scouting instructions according to book, and had never seen another Scout."

To see them among the others there was little difference discernible, except that sometimes they used "queer pure English which you would never hear outside of Shakespeare," Mrs. Hoover said.

Miss Elizabeth Lundie of 733 Gordon terrace, executive director of Girl Scouts in Chicago, was elected president of the Directors Study club for the Great Lakes region after the meeting.

This is the second largest region in membership with 60,000 Girl Scouts, including a 14.2 per cent increase during 1935, it was brought out at the afternoon meeting.

After leaving here at the close of the conference Mrs. Hoover will attend Girl Scout conferences at Colorado Springs and Duluth.

Dr. A. R. Hatton of Northwestern university will be the guest speaker at the opening session of the conference in the Palmer House grand ballroom. Sixty Girl Scouts of Evanston will take part in the flag ceremony at this session. Mrs. Clarence M. Day of Detroit, chairman of the committee sponsoring Girl Scouting in the four states, will preside.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., May 14.—[Special.]—Parents were put on the stand for the depression and "its blighting effects on the minds and opportunities of youth" here today at the fortieth annual meeting of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Eight young men and women, representative of both city and rural life, high schools, colleges, and graduate schools, produced the challenge in a panel discussion on "The Rightful Place of Youth in Modern Society." More than 1,000 convention delegates crowded the Schroeder hotel ballroom to hear the discussion.

"Our elders have succeeded in getting us into the depression but they have not succeeded in getting us out," said Miss Laura Conrad of West Allis, Wis., teacher in a one room rural school.

"These years of economic change and insecurity have produced a pessimism and fatalism, an attitude of mind that definitly has hindered youth," agreed Miss Georgia Vruggink, freshman in Milwaukee Downer college and Wayne Weidemann of Columbus, a small Wisconsin farm community 75 miles from Milwaukee.

Donald Boyer of the graduate Teachers' college in Winnetka, Ill., stamped modern society as "a merry go round" and called the depression graduates of schools and colleges "the lost generation."

As a credit to the depression side, however, Mr. Boyer pointed out the CCC camps that have been established by the Roosevelt administration. But in this measure Otto Schultz, president of the student council of the West Division High school, Milwaukee, saw only "a big bill for this generation and the next to pay."

"Youth wants to find its own place. It doesn't want to be placed by the government," Miss Vruggink added.

As the result of the panel discussion, the eight students offered no guarantee that their generation would be better able to solve depression problems.

They pointed out patriotic service to the city, state, and nation as the greatest job for young people today, and advised clinging to the traditions that have stood the test of generations.

For developing leadership these young people commended the work of the 4-H clubs, the Boy and Girl Scouts, and the Christian associations.

Addressing the last general session of the convention tonight Mlle. Marie C. E. Butts, general secretary of the International Bureau of Education in Geneva, Switzerland, called on parents and teachers to "make peace more colorful and interesting to children—not just something negative consisting in things not to do.

"Long years ago William James pointed out that a moral equivalent for war must be found if it is to be successfully abolished," Mlle. Butts continued. "Young Fascists and young Nazis tell us that life has become dramatic and fine for them, that great sacrifices are asked of them, that they have a national ideal for which to live and die.

"In our democratic countries, if we wish our young people to love peace, we have to find causes for which they will love to make sacrifices, that they will be willing to live and die for—the rescuing of their own folk from slum life, the international fighting of great recurrent calamities such as flood and famine, the saving of all nations from the terror of war which will take a lot of hard thinking and planning and working.

"Peace cannot be obtained by vainly longing for it. We have got into the present impasse because none of our nations was willing to give up anything either of prestige or possessions or absolute autonomy. It is not possible to conquer peace unless each nation makes up its mind to give up some part of these."

Mlle. Butts indicated that the increased stress of physical education in European schools is the beginning of a more intensive militaristic program. She praised the Winnetka public schools and the Francis Parker school, Chicago, for their development of a feeling of internationalism in young children, also for their democracy.

The resolutions committee of the National Parent-Teacher congress, with Miss Ellen C. Lombard of Washington, D. C., as chairman, will ask the convention at its closing business session tomorrow morning to oppose all state laws imposing taxes discriminatory against the products of other states. This practice tends to engender ill will and sectionalism, the committee contends.

The resolutions committee also has indorsed extension of the merit system in government service, academic freedom of speech, and a federal department of education "providing the powers and duties of the department in no way encroach upon the rights of the states to control and administer their schools."

Flowered Ensemble for Evening

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

From a Chicago shop: An evening ensemble of flowered chiffon. The long coat has short, puffed sleeves, a narrow waistline, and is trimmed with bows and facings of robin's egg blue velvet ribbon. The evening gown under the coat is also trimmed with bows of the same blue velvet and features a tight bodice top and a full, clinging skirtline.

Dance Frocks Create Aura of Romance

Flowered Chiffons Have Velvet Trim.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Some of the most fascinating party frocks fashioned for starlit summer nights are of flowered chiffon. Typically party clothes, clinging and full of skirt, tight of bodice, ruffled, plaited, and trimmed with velvet.

Velvet bows, velvet sashes that end in long trailing ribbons at the floorline. Clear white backgrounds splashed with field flowers, with roses, with cornflowers; luscious white backgrounds with cool green leaves, and delightful deep blue backgrounds with prints of crisp white daisies, or quaint floral wreaths. This summer your party loot will be romantic, decorative, and the stuff you have dreamed about for years.

Long coats of the same flowered chiffon as the floating yards that make the dress are as new as anything to be found. Coats with full, almost circular skirts; short, softly puffed sleeves, and a tight bodice top and floor length will delight every one.

Cotton challis prints, copied in the soft mellowed peasant prints against dainty ivory white or pastel tinted backgrounds or the more vivid backgrounds of cerise, jade green, bright blue, and old gold, have small crimson rambler roses and their bright green leaves for contrast. These clever cotton challis frocks are fashioned with full swirling skirts, a rib hugging bodice top, and a lovely old fashioned perky peplum to the fitted long or short sleeved separate jacket.

Exotic prints are effective against cool linen, with the full wide picturesque skirts, and tight bodice tops. Black and navy blue backgrounds have purple, cerise, jade green, and pale yellow patterns. Flowered chiffons with huge roses widely spaced against the white have simple skirts, simple tops, and long trailing angel wings descending to the floor from each shoulder. Over them you wear short velvet capes, or tie a wide velvet sash in contrasting color around the waistline.

Fashion photograph . . . robin's egg blue velvet is tied in bows down the front of the long flowered chiffon coat. The coat tops a lovely dinner and dance dress also of flowered chiffon and also trimmed with bows of the same blue velvet ribbon. Short puffed sleeves and a snugly fitted bodice top accent the wide full skirt of the coat. The ensemble is available in a Chicago shop.

SLIGHT CHANGES AFFECT PRICES OF FRESH FOODS

Pork and Butter Down; Vegetables Lower.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Food shoppers in Chicago and suburban stores today and tomorrow will find most prices close to last week's level, although price tags have been changed slightly on more than a score of staples, meats, and fresh vegetables.

Butter is generally 1 cent a pound lower than last week. A few stores have lowered butter prices 2 cents a pound. Green beans, fresh peas, head lettuce, and spinach are down. Some stores have reduced their prices on green onions, old potatoes, fresh tomatoes, and turnips. Various kinds of canned vegetables are being featured in week-end sales by many stores.

Eggs are 1 to 2 cents a dozen higher than last week in practically all city and suburban stores. Coffee prices have gone back to their usual level after having been lowered generally in special sales a week ago. Green onions, fresh strawberries, bunch carrots, celery, fresh grapes, rutabagas, grapefruit, and sweet potatoes are slightly higher than last week in many stores.

Weather Keeps Meat Up.

Retail prices of fresh meats have made but few changes since last week. Apparently the cool weather of the last few days has kept butcher shop prices from being reduced in line with lower prices received by farmers and packers for live animals and wholesale cuts of meats.

Most butchers have placed pork loins and pork sausage on their bargain counters for this week-end. The lower quality cuts of pork loin roasts have been reduced as much as 5 cents a pound in many shops. Some stores have made sharp price reductions on fresh trout and whitefish.

Most retail cuts of fresh steaks and beef roasts are selling at about last week's prices. Some retailers have marked them 1 to 4 cents a pound higher. Cured ham is about 2 cents a pound higher in many stores. Lamb cuts still are relatively high and frying chickens are slightly higher.

Wholesale Prices Drop.

Nearly all classes of live stock and wholesale meat cuts have been reduced in price for the second consecutive week. Beef steers averaged 25 cents a hundred pounds lower for the week, reaching the lowest level of the year, but regaining part of the loss. Wholesale beef carcasses dropped as much as 50 cents a hundred pounds.

The heavier grades of live hogs declined 30 to 40 cents a hundredweight with the lighter kinds showing still more loss. Wholesale pork cuts dropped $1 to $1.50 a hundred.

Prices of both live lambs and veal calves showed some increase during the week and wholesale cuts of veal went up about $1 a hundred. Wholesale carcasses of heavy lambs sold steady to 50 cents a hundred pounds lower. Spring lamb carcasses dropped as much as $1 a hundred.

Wholesale prices on cabbage, cucumbers, head lettuce, dry onions, fresh rhubarb, spinach, fresh cherries, and pineapples are slightly lower than last week. Asparagus prices are increasing on the wholesale market since canneries started taking a good portion of the supply, but they still are considered reasonable.

Roasting Ears Arrive.

The first roasting ears of the season arrived this week, coming from both Florida and Texas. With the corn packed in ice and shipped in refrigerator cars, most of the delicate flavor is retained until it reaches Chicago kitchens. Prices are considered reasonable for this season of the year.

Strawberry shipments started in volume this week from southern Illinois, Kentucky, and Tennessee, although most of the berries still are coming from Louisiana. The first shipment of red raspberries arrived from California. They are selling at high prices.

TOMATOES STUFFED WITH APPLE SALAD.

6 tomatoes
¾ cup celery, chopped finely
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon sugar
¾ cup diced apples
3 tablespoons whipped cream
¼ cup pecan meats, chopped coarsely
3 tablespoons whipped cream
Mayonnaise

Cut off thin slice from stem end of tomatoes, remove seeds and pulp. Invert and chill thirty minutes, after having slightly salted inside. Soak celery in ice water to crispen. Add lemon juice, sugar, and salt [just a dash] to diced apples. Chill ten minutes. Add celery and nuts. Blend whipped cream and mayonnaise. Fold into mixture and pile into tomato cavities.

COTTAGE CHEESE AND SALMON SALAD.

1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup red salmon, flaked fine
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped sweet pickles
Salt and pepper to taste
Mayonnaise

CHEESE RING WITH SCRAMBLED EGGS.

1 onion, medium size
1 small green pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1½ cups tomatoes
3½ cups rice, cooked
Salt, pepper
1½ cups grated Swiss cheese
6 eggs
¼ cup milk
4 tablespoons butter.

Chop onion and green pepper and cook in butter until soft. Add rice and tomatoes and simmer until rice has absorbed tomato liquid. Add seasonings and cheese. Pack into buttered ring mold and keep hot. Scramble eggs with butter and milk and fill center of ring when unmolded.

FRESH STRAWBERRY REFRIGERATOR CAKE.

1 cup strawberries, sliced.
24 vanilla wafers.

Blend sweetened condensed milk and lemon juice. Add strawberries. Line refrigerator tray with wax paper. Cover with fruit mixture. Add layer of wafers, alternating until fruit is used, and finish with a wafer layer. Decorate top with fruit and serve with just a dab of whipped cream.

GOLDEN APRICOT PARFAIT.

⅓ cup granulated sugar.
½ cup honey
1⅔ cups evaporated milk.
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin.
2 taplespoons cold water.

Prepare the puree by rinsing 2 cups dried apricots, covering with water and boiling until tender from 40 to 45 minutes, without previous soaking. Then force through coarse sieve. Mix puree thoroughly with sugar and honey. Heat milk to boiling point, remove from stove and add gelatin which has been softened in cold water. Stir until dissolved. Set in refrigerator until milk thickens, then beat with rotary beater until light and fluffy. Beat apricot mixture into milk a small portion at a time. Pour into refrigerator tray and place in freezing unit until thoroughly chilled [1½ to 2 hours]. Does not need to be frozen.

NATIONALITY OF STEWS DICTATE THE SEASONING

The seasonings used in stews seem to vary with the nationality of the dish. The French stews or "ragouts" contain the seasonings from many herbs, added in small amounts to give subtle flavor. The Hungarians often add sour cream to their stews, and use a heavy seasoning of paprika. The Spanish and Mexicans favor plenty of cayenne pepper, curry powder, garlic and onions, to give the necessary spice "hotness" to their prize creations. And so it goes!

SOUTH AMERICAN BEEF STEW.

2 onions, medium
1 green pepper
2 tomatoes
1 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons lard, or other frying fat
3 tablespoons peanut butter
1 cup milk
Salt and butter

Chop onions, green pepper, and tomatoes and fry in hot lard. Add meat and seasonings. Cover with water and let cook slowly until meat is tender. When almost done, add peanut butter and milk, and finish cooking at a low temperature. This is served with boiled potatoes.

QUADS MOVE ON SLOWLY TOWARD NORMAL GROWTH

Passaic, N. J., May 14.—[Special.]—Days of slow, easy progress toward normal robustness were indicated today for the Kasper quadruplets as they entered the sixth day of life in an incubator.

After weighing the babies this morning, Dr. Frank F. Jani emphasized that he would not seek to hasten the process. Not until the babies attain a weight of five pounds will they be removed from the incubator in St. Mary's hospital.

Not until they leave the incubator will any one but himself and a few of the nurses be permitted to visit the babies. The mother, Mrs. Emil Kasper, still in the hospital, has not yet seen the children.

The fact that it's Raisin week makes a couple of perfectly grand raisin recipes [new ones we just picked up] timely. However, we think that these recipes, for a delicate caramel and custard dessert and a delightful and decorative salad, would be food news most any time of year.

First, here's the makin's of the patrician dessert, which flourishes under the homy title of Raisin Caramel Pudding. That doesn't tell you, of course, how utterly delicious it is, but we doubt that any enthusiastic description of ours could do so, either, until you've tried it yourself.

Raisin Caramel Layer Pudding
[Serves 6]
[Caramel]

- ⅔ cup seedless raisins
- ¾ cup sugar
- ⅓ cup water
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup heavy cream
- ½ cup walnut meats, chopped

Rinse and drain raisins. Combine sugar, water, and salt, and cook until a rich brown in color. Add cream and raisins, and cook and stir until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat, add nut meats, blend, and cool.

[Custard]

- 2 cups milk
- ⅓ cup granulated sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
- 2 tablespoons cold milk
- 2 eggs, beaten
- ½ teaspoon lemon extract
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine milk, sugar, and salt, and scald over boiling water. Remove from heat and add gelatin that has been moistened in cold milk. Pour over beaten eggs, stirring briskly, and return to double boiler for two minutes of cooking, stirring constantly. Add flavorings, and chill until firm.

Serve the dessert in stemmed glasses, alternately firm spoonfuls of the custard and the caramel. Top with whipped cream if desired.

Now for the decorative salad, which is just as good to eat as it is appealing in appearance.

Raisin Cup Salad
[Serves Four]

- ⅔ cup seedless raisins
- 2 medium oranges
- 1 3-ounce package cream cheese
- 3 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 medium apple
- ½ cup sieved Roquefort cheese
- Mayonnaise, lettuce
- 1 cup crushed potato chips

Cover raisins with boiling water and let stand five minutes. Drain and dry. Cut oranges into halves crosswise, and cut out fruit, leaving half shells unbroken. Divide fruit into sections, removing all white membrane. Cut apple into long, thin slices, cover each slice with mayonnaise, and sprinkle with sieved Roquefort cheese. Combine raisins, cream cheese, and three tablespoons of mayonnaise, and blend thoroughly. Form into small balls and roll in crushed potato chips. Arrange alternately slices of apple, orange sections, and raisin-cheese balls in the orange shells, and sprinkle with paprika. Serve on crisp lettuce.

MARSHMALLOWS GIVE HIGH CROWN TO PIE MERINGUE

Marshmallows are being used these days to make pie meringues of voluminous heights which have the faculty of maintaining their altitudes! Now that is happy news!

MARSHMALLOW MERINGUE.

- ¼ lb. marshmallows
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 2 egg whites
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract.

Heat marshmallows and milk directly over the burner, which is turned low. Fold over and over until marshmallows are about half melted. Then remove from stove and continue folding until the marshmallows have formed a smooth fluffy mass. Allow to cool to room temperature.

Beat egg whites until they just hold a peak. Then add very small portions of sugar and continue beating until meringues is stiff and smooth. Add salt and vanilla. Pour meringue into saucepan with the softened marshmallows and blend. Spread in swirls over a cooled pie. Brown under a very hot broiler flame for ½ minute.

Corned Beef Is Delicious When Decorated Like Ham

Corned beef is delicious when decorated in the same manner as a baked ham. First cook it in water until tender, then place in a baking dish and coat with brown sugar, honey, or maple sirup, and place in the oven long enough to melt the sugar and brown the meat [around 15 to 20 minutes in a 450 degree oven].

REHEATED ROAST BEEF DELICIOUS WITH THIS SAUCE

Reheat left over sliced roast beef in a delicious spiced tomato sauce made like this:

Melt 2 tablespoons of butter and add 2 tablespoons flour. When these are well blended add 4 tablespoons tomato catsup, ½ cup cold water, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon vinegar, and 1 tablespoon brown sugar. Cook all together, stirring constantly until boiling point is reached and a smooth sauce has resulted. Reheat sliced roast beef in this sauce and serve on a layer of boiled noodles.

All I COULD DO WAS LISTEN

My neighbor asked me the other day what kind of coffee I used. She said her husband was so fed up with the coffees she had been buying that he often refused to finish his cup. When I told her we used Hills Bros. Coffee, she shook her head and said, "I know it's wonderful, but we can't afford to buy it." My answer was, "You'd be surprised."

Well, she called me up this morning and was so excited and happy that I couldn't get a word in edgewise. She had found out that the price of Hills Bros. was practically the same as most of the brands she had been trying. And she agreed Hills Bros. Coffee was miles ahead in flavor.

Her Husband's Past

By Elizabeth York Miller

SYNOPSIS.

Nell Martin elopes to London with Eric Cameron, an older divorced man, who had been visiting in her home town, Wellsport, ignoring her parents' pleas to marry Dick Holmes, her childhood sweetheart. On their honeymoon Nell learns Eric has two children, Meg, 17, and Robin, 15; that she must make her home with them and with Mrs. Beaumont, the mother of Hilda, his first wife. Hilda has married and lives in South America. Her children have been told she is dead. Granny tortures Nell with constant reminders of Hilda. Nell returns to Wellsport with her ready-made family, where Eric has an engineering job. Nell is home alone one afternoon when a solicitor's clerk calls, with news that Hilda's husband had died, leaving her destitute. Nell arranges to send her a weekly sum secretly. The man leaves gloves behind which granny finds and insinuates Dick Holmes had been calling on Nell. Eric discovers money missing from the housekeeping account, and thinks the man who called may have taken it. Nell tells Eric she is expecting a baby. Her mother gives her £50 for expenses. A parcel sent from London arrives for Meg from her mother.

INSTALMENT XXIII.
A PARCEL FOR MEG.

Sensitive as she was to his slightest reaction, Nell saw her husband's hand tremble as he held it out for the little parcel. She saw the tightening of his lips, as one prepared to take punishment. If only she could spare him.

He hardly seemed aware of her touch on his arm.

The parcel had been addressed originally to Lillis Gardens, but that had been crossed out and The Port House, Wellsport, Essex, scrawled underneath in lead pencil. The alteration looked as though it had been made by the postoffice.

But London? Yes, as granny had said, the postmark was London.

"Why don't you open it?" the old woman demanded. There was a queer break in her voice that sounded dramatic but not theatrical.

"Because it is not for me," Eric replied. "Where is Meg?"

Nobody seemed to know.

"Mebbe she went along to the hotel to see Mabel Weston," granny suggested.

"I don't like her hanging around that hotel," Eric said irritably. "And I'm not at all sure I approve of her being so intimate with Miss Weston, either."

He wanted to get away from the subject of that little parcel in his hand, but granny brought him back to it.

"Mebbe there's a letter inside—one for me, too. Seems as if I had a right to know. If Hilda's in London I want to see her."

Granny for once was forgetting to act a part. She broke into a pleading whisper.

"Seems as if I can't wait, Eric."

"I am afraid we'll have to wait," he said. He moved away from Nell and put his arm around the old woman's shoulders.

"Let me see it," the old woman cried.

"Come inside the house, granny. There's a mist rising and you might get a chill."

The old woman let him guide her.

Yes, a mist was rising. Presently it would wipe out the landscape. It was moving up slowly from the estuary across the marshy meadowland, like a soft but implacable wall. Somewhere along the tidal river a siren sounded its hoarse warning. Fog. Further off a muffled response came from a distant ship at sea.

Already the moist creeping thing was finding its way into the garden, making huddled ghosts of the gooseberry and currant bushes.

If she deliberately advanced to meet it she might soon be lost, Nell thought. Her muslin dress was already a little damp. She supposed she had better go inside, too, or she also might catch a chill.

Eric had taken granny into the big front room which they called the living room. Nell did not like to follow them. She was turning toward the stairs when the front door opened and there was Meg, looking gayer and more friendly than usual.

"The fog chased me all the way home," she said breathlessly. "But I won. Did you ever see anything like it! It came up so quickly. I ran all the way."

The girl's cheeks were flushed carmine and her eyes sparkled with laughter.

Then she broke off suddenly.

"What's the matter? Has anything happened? You look sort of queer."

"Something came for you by the post—a parcel," she said.

"For me? Where is it?"

Nell motioned toward the living room. Then unexpectedly she found herself moving toward Meg, putting her arms around the girl and kissing her tenderly.

"It—it will give you a little shock, Meggie dear. O, I'm so very, very sorry I ever did anything to hurt you!"

"You mean about my mother?"

How quick she was to understand.

Nell nodded.

"That's all right," Meg said a little brusquely. "You didn't mean me to hear."

Eric came to the door. "Hello, Meggie," he said. "Er—there's something for you here."

"Yes, I know," Meg replied. "It's a parcel. Nell told me. She said I was going to get a shock."

Nell again turned toward the stairs, but for the life of her she couldn't manage to go on up. What was taking place in there had nothing to do with her on the surface, but at heart it was most crucially her affair.

She thought: "I told that Shyner man if Hilda communicated with Eric or the children I wouldn't send any more money for her."

She heard granny's voice raised in a creaking falsetto: "There might be a letter in it for me. I don't see why you can't open it here. I don't feel as if I could wait much longer."

The import was clear. Meg wanted to take the parcel up to her own room and open it in private.

Nell rose from her seat on the stairs. If Meg came out she would think her stepmother was eavesdropping.

But Meg didn't come out, and—like granny—unable to bear the suspense, Nell went into the living room.

None of them would notice her, she felt sure, and if they did, they would hardly question her right to be there.

No, they didn't pay any attention to her. She stood pale and remote, her eyes fixed upon Eric. It was as though she and not Hilda was the intruder on this occasion.

Meg opened it and granny craned her neck and held out a tremulous hand as though itching to take possession.

"It's that string of pearls you gave her when you were married," granny said to Eric. "But isn't there a letter?"

"There's a card," Meg said. Her voice sounded cool and unflurried.

"Let me see it—let me see it!" the old woman cried.

"It only says, 'With love to my daughter, Margaret, from mother,'" Meg told her.

She tucked the lether case under her arm.

"I guess you didn't notice that the postmark was London," her grandmother said.

"Yes, I did. It means that mother is in London—in England, anyway. I think I'll go up to my room now, if you'll excuse me."

Eric stood aside. He put out his hand in a mute sort of gesture, but Meg passed him with a set smile on her face. She passed Nell, too, as though she did not see her.

Mrs. Beaumont was snuffling and using her handkerchief.

"I think Hilda might have written . . . just a word or two," she quavered. "I think I'll go up to my room, too. I don't want any supper. No, Eric, I can manage by myself."

In a couple of minutes he was back again.

STARVED ROCK'S BEAUTY PERILED BY PICNICKERS

But Long Fight Against Raids Is Being Won.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Starved Rock State Park, Ill., May 14. — [Special.] — The ravages of a quarter of a century of wanton picnicking are being fought here in Illinois' oldest state park.

Since 1911 the park's picturesque summits, overlooking the Illinois waterway, and the fern filled canyons and wooded hollows have been the happy recreation ground of thousands of Sunday roamers.

The picnickers, awed by natural beauties, have worked diligently through the years to take those beauties home with them. They have pounced upon the plants and flowers, and have disfigured the landscape with numerous trails.

As a result the wild flowers gradually disappeared. The trails caused erosion. The public byward became "help yourself: it's free."

But in the last three years the wooded acres have undergone a forcible reversion to their native loveliness. More than 250,000 native shrubs and trees have been replanted. New trails, wide, edged with planting and following scenic routes, have been made, and, gradually, the erosion and the flower picking is being stopped.

Tourists Study Botany.

Members of an official state conservation week tour set out early this morning, while the branches of ancient hackberries and elms still sparkled with dew, to review the effects of this new conservation movement.

They were footsore after three days spent touring parks, but they soon forgot their weariness as the expedition turned into a wandering school of botany.

A crest, bare three years ago, flowers again.

As the caravan wanders down natural stone steps to the lodge near the river the clear notes of a woodthrush ring out. "We counted 148 varieties of birds here last year," commented a superintendent. "They're coming back."

From here the tour, nearing an end, will wend its way Chicagoward along the dirt towpath of the old Illinois-Michigan canal, built a hundred years ago this July—and now being restored into a state parkway.

15 Miles Now Parkway.

So far, only 15 miles of the 96 mile route between La Salle and Chicago have been made into parkway, but eventually it will include 40 miles. The remainder will be accessible only by foot, canoe, or horseback.

"We're trying to do two things," explained Robert Kingery, state director of public works. "Make of this old waterway a new recreational area for canoeing, hiking, and picnicking, and at the same time reclaim the important historical trafic artery that helped make Chicago."

Berries Keep Best in IceBox if Stored Without Washing

Berries keep best in the refrigerator if stored without washing. If they are to be kept for a few days, turn them out of the box to be sure they are firm throughout. If those on the bottom are inclined to be soft, turn berries out onto a plate and cover lightly.

IT'S CLEAR DAY; MICHIGAN SHORE IS VISIBLE HERE

The sand dunes of Michigan, about 50 miles across Lake Michigan, could be seen yesterday from Tribune Tower and other Chicago skyscrapers. A northeast breeze blew smoke away from the lake, making possible the clear visibility.

C. A. Donnel, official in charge of the Chicago weather bureau, saw the Michigan shore from his office on the fourteenth floor of the federal courthouse. He said it was the first time he has noticed the condition, although visibility across the lake is not uncommon from the heights of skyscrapers.

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd predicted last night that today and tomorrow will be fair and warmer, with the maximum temperature in the 70s today.

Roosevelts Tea Guests of Mount Vernon Ladies

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Roosevelt drove to Mount Vernon this afternoon to have tea as the guests of forty-eight state regents of the Mount Vernon Ladies' association, which owns and maintains the estate. The regents are holding their annual meeting there.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 14.—[Special].—Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim, of Babylon, L. I., prominent society sportswoman who received a brain concussion in a fall at the Atlantic City horse show last night, when she slipped from her runaway mount, was said to be recovering satisfactorily at the Atlantic City hospital today.

Ripe Olives Add a Subtle Flavor to Chicken Dressing

Sliced ripe olives add a fine subtle flavor to chicken dressing. For stuffing a four pound fowl, use approximately a half cup of sliced ripe olives.

SALES DRIVE FOR CANNED PEACHES PROVES SUCCESS

San Francisco, Calif., May 14.—[Special.]—Success of the nationwide canned California peach sales drive was assured today as the third week of the experiment in marketing surplus crops through the coöporation of 34,000 chain groceries removed the threat of a glutted market to peach growers of the western state.

A large increase in canned peach sales throughout the country, in one instance as high as 700 per cent, was indicated by figures released by the California Canning Peach Stabilization committee. The committee was organized by leading growers in March to stimulate the consumption of the product.

A substantial reduction already has been made in the surplus pack of last year's California peach crop, although sales reports from the principal chain store organizations, which went to the aid of the growers at their request, cover only the first week of the campaign.

1 medium onion, diced
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
4 tablespoons lemon juice
1 bottle tomato catsup, small size
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
½ tablespoon mustard
1 cup water
½ cup chopped celery
Salt and red pepper

Brown onion in butter, add the other ingredients and let cook slowly until thickened, about one hour. Serve either hot or cold with meat.

SALMON JELLIED LOAF.

1 package gelatin
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon minced onion
Juice of 1 lemon
1 can salmon
2½ cups water
12 dates, cut in halves
6 stuffed olives, sliced
1 tablespoon minced green sweet pepper
1 cup finely chopped celery

Pour a little of the gelatin into a fancy mold. Artistically arrange dates, sliced olives, and eggs around the sides and on the bottom of the mold, pressing the pieces to the mold firmly with the hand, then pour about three-fourths cup of the gelatin mixture into the mold very slowly and set in refrigerator to congeal.

Break salmon apart with a fork and add onion, celery, green sweet pepper, and remainder of gelatin. Carefully pack into the decorated mold and chill. Invert mold on platter. Decorate around edge with lettuce, piccalilli cups, and cucumber baskets.

½ cup walnuts.
½ cup flour.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
¼ teaspoon salt.

Cook butter and sugar together until smooth and well blended. Cool and add the unbeaten eggs. Beat well. Add dates, nut meats and vanilla. Stir in sifted dry ingredients. Spread in a pan lined with waxed paper. Bake in moderate oven [325 degrees F.] for 30 minutes. Remove from pan and take off wax paper immediately.

Vegetable Colorings Add to Hue of Fruit Drinks

Vegetable colorings are very effective in accentuating the natural colors of the fruits used in summer drinks and desserts. Strawberry and raspberry ice creams and sherbets are far more attractive if the color is heightened by the use of a little artificial coloring.

"soap scum doesn't mean you have to stop using soap"

And wondered what to do about it!

I did, and I asked my grocer's advice. He told me that soap in any kind of water forms 'curds' or 'scum', which means that perfect cleaning is impossible!

'What you need', he said, 'is a grease-dissolving cleanser. I recommend CLIMALENE!

'Just sprinkle CLIMALENE, a tablespoon or so, into the wash or dishpan before adding your soap or flakes! CLIMALENE cuts grease instantly, allows water to wash the dirt away! My customers tell me they get twice the suds with ½ the soap and get their work done in ½ the time!'

I took his tip. And now I, too, am a warm friend of CLIMALENE!"

Parents Plan Fall Functions for Debutantes

Two September Parties Are Announced.

a month or so before the fall season starts. The Keiths have not decided when or where they will introduce Miss Betty.

Narcissa Thorne to Be Debutante.

The Robert J. Thorne's youngest daughter, Miss Narcissa Thorne, who has grown up in Lake Forest, will be another of the season's widely fêted debutantes. She has been studying at Northwestern university during the winter, but will pack her books away for several months when Mr. and Mrs. Thorne move out to their Lake Forest home next month.

The Thornes are expecting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Gillespie, to come from the west for a visit this summer. They hope, too, that another daughter, Laura, now Mrs. Alexander B. Spence, will come from the coast with her infant daughter to spend part of the summer here.

Barbara Frey Also Will Bow.

Another attractive young woman whose name will appear on the season's debutante list is Miss Barbara Frey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Frey. Miss Frey is a student at Sarah Lawrence. When she returns from college next month she and her family will leave for a western ranch to spend most of the summer. Miss Frey has an older brother, Charles Jr., who is a student at Yale, and who will be a member of the stag lines next winter.

The John Jay Bryants' pretty blonde daughter, Miss Anne Jay Bryant, will be presented this season at a party in the autumn. Miss Bryant was graduated a year ago from the Shipley school and has been taking a domestic arts course this winter.

The debutante list will not be without twins this year, for the buoyant Castle twins, Caroline and Josephine, daughters of the Alfred C. Castles, will be presented formally. They are students at Vassar college. Mr. and Mrs. Castle are not going to occupy their Knollwood home this summer for they have other plans. Miss Caroline and Miss Josephine will not arrive in Chicago until mid-July for they are going to visit college friends in the east when school is out.

Miss Nancy Poole, daughter of the Ralph H. Pooles of Lake Forest, has put off making a debut once or twice, and it is possible that she may again postpone being a debutante or else give up the idea entirely. She will be graduated from Sarah Lawrence next month, and when she and her mother return to Lake Forest around June 15 they will decide whether she is to be a debutante.

Those debutantes who do not go away to school during their first season "out," usually take an active part in the Service club show, for the club always invites all the debutantes to help with its annual revue. The club is holding its annual spring luncheon and meeting on Tuesday, May 26, at the Glenview club. Later this summer Mrs. Frank S. Sims, president, and members of the board will give a party for the young women whom the club will invite to take part in the show on Oct. 24.

Two Events Tonight Benefit Lighthouse.

The Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind will receive the proceeds from two entertainments tonight, a Bavarian beer party the Lighthouse Volunteer Aids are giving at the Germania club, and a play the seniors of the Starrett school will present at the school, 4515 Drexel boulevard. Some of the alumnæ of the school will go first to the play and then to the Germania club party, which promises to be one of the gayest of the season. It will be a buffet dinner-dance and numerous cocktail parties will be given earlier in the evening.

Mrs. Roger Q. White and Mrs. Eugene Cary Jr. are among those who have planned cocktail parties. Mrs. White is president of the Aids and Mrs. Cary is corresponding secretary.

The other officers of this organization which contributes money to and works for the industrial training school for the adult blind conducted at 3323 West Cermak road and called the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind are: Mrs. W. C. Smith, first vice president; Miss Mary Harrington, second vice president; Miss Barbara Fortune, recording secretary; Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., treasurer; Miss Betty Brawley, assistant treasurer. Mrs. John F. Evans and Miss Virginia Thatcher also have been active in making arrangements for tonight's party.

Chicago Club Dinner for Thomas Hinde.

Two hundred members of the Chicago club will dine together tonight at the club to do honor to Thomas W. Hinde, for 18 years the chairman of the house committee. Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, who has taken over Mr. Hinde's duties, is in charge of the affair and Charles H. Hamill, president, will be the toastmaster.

The wives of the men who will attend the dinner at the Chicago club all will be seeking entertainment elsewhere and undoubtedly many of them will go to the Deerpath theater in Lake Forest where Maj. McLaughlin's wife, Irene Castle McLaughlin, is staging one of her fairly frequent, and always successful, benefits for Orphans of the Storm.

A movie, "The Perfect Gentleman," with Frank Morgan and Cecily Courtneidge, will be shown at the benefit. Gail Page, contralto, and Daniel Ericourt, pianist, will contribute a musical program. Mrs. McLaughlin is entertaining at dinner for them at the Deerpath inn before the performance. Miss Mildred FitzHugh is giving a supper party for Mr. and Mrs. Ericourt at her home in Lake Forest later tonight.

Among others who will have dinner guests and then take them on to the theater are Mrs. Laurance H. Armour, Mrs. Harry B. Clow, Mrs. James Norris, Mrs. Louis F. Swift Jr., Mrs. Mason Phelps, Mrs. George A. Richardson, Mrs. Donald B. Douglas, and Mrs. Dexter Cummings.

The wedding will take place at 3 o'clock, also in the Faulkner home at 4746 Dorchester avenue, but it will be a small affair, with just relatives and a few intimate friends present. The reception will be larger.

Miss Oberndorfer will have her roommate at Smith college, Miss Elizabeth Shute of New York, as her only attendant, and Mr. Corson will have one of his roommates at Dartmouth for his best man. Child Should Save Money for a Purpose

Profits by Having Reason for What He Is Doing.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Once there was a little boy and his uncle gave him $10, and he said: "Now this is to start a bank account with, Carl. And you can add to it from your savings."

So Carl went with his mother to the big savings bank and they opened an account, and Carl put his little brown book in a drawer.

Once in a while when Carl received a little money present his mother would say, "Carl, shan't we go around to the savings bank and put half of the money in your account?"

Carl was always lukewarm about these suggestions and he'd always ask, "Mommie, why do we just put the money there and leave it?"

Carl had an allowance from the time he was a small chap—5 cents a week, increased by 5 cents a week each year.

One day a devoted grownup friend gave him an engaging, solid, puppy bank, with a little slit in back behind the collar. The bank was cast in two parts and screwed together with a big, long screw.

This small boy, all bubbling "regular" boy, was generous and warm hearted and loved giving presents at Christmas and on birthdays. Soon pennies were dropped in the bank, and as he grew older, nickels and dimes, and the money presents that people gave him. He had lots of fun with his allowance, but always there was a fund in that puppy bank for presents, and always he was left free to unscrew the pup and take out some or part of its contents.

As he grew older uses for the money became more varied. Sometimes the savings were spent for a new harness for his dog, a new baseball bat, or a fancy lizard to add to his reptile collection.

It was amazing what he covered with the money that came out of the cocky little puppy bank. But never could he work up any enthusiasm for having figures written down by the bank teller in the little brown book! Yet Carl has learned a lot about money. He has a very real sense of its value.

Douglas Fairbanks Does the Interviews for His New Wife

New York, May 14.—(AP)—Douglas Fairbanks and his wife, the former Lady Ashley of London, left tonight on the 20th Century for California to establish a permanent residence at Santa Monica.

The 52 year old film actor is through with acting, he said. In October he will go to China for personal production of "Marco Polo."

His dark suit and black Homburg hat were in direct contrast to Mrs. Fairbanks' tea rose tweed suit and hat, with red shoes and matching gloves.

Asked if she will go in the movies, Mrs. Fairbanks said:

"My dear, you know my husband does all my talking."

Said Fairbanks for Mrs. Fairbanks: "Absolutely not."

Exclude American Debutantes from List to Meet King

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 14.—Requests from American women to attend the royal garden parties in Buckingham palace have flooded the American embassy to such an extent that officials have decided to exclude debutantes from the list of presentations this year. The only American women to attend the parties, on July 21 and 22, which will take the place of the usual courts, will be those whose husbands hold important positions in the United States government or diplomatic corps.

Mrs. Robert Worth Bingham, wife of the ambassador, is arranging for their presentation, but the earl of Cromer, the lord chamberlain, has announced he will present each woman to King Edward of England instead of this duty being performed by the matron sponsoring the presentations.

Usually between 11 and 13 American women are presented at each court, but at the forthcoming garden parties the number will be reduced to 9 or 10.

Here is a Drugless Way to Lose Ugly Fat!

A way that has astounded women everywhere . . . Weight losses of 7 pounds a month have been reported

HERE, at last, is a SAFE way to reduce. A way that does NOT call for strict dieting, exercising, or taking drugs. A way that actually increases your mental and physical energy as pounds of ugly fat seemingly melt away.

Please read carefully: In a recent test, held under the direction of the eminent Dr. Damrau of New York, 14 people who were gaining at the rate of 1⅓ pounds a month, followed this method. And the average loss registered was 7 pounds a person in a single month—WITHOUT STRICT DIETING OR EXERCISING.

What You Do

Now, all you have to do is this: Mix ¾ of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ of a glass of water—and drink before each meal, and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly—and this is what happens.

First, Welch's Grape Juice satisfies your normal craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to over-eat fattening foods—yet you do feel comfortably satisfied.

Second, the grape sugar in Welch's is quickly burned up—producing vital energy—and, most important, helps nature to burn up excess fat.

Irene Rich is over 40, but weighs the same as at 16. She says, "Eat sensibly—drink Welch's Grape Juice."

Only One Thing to Watch

In following this proved, SAFE way to lose ugly fat, eat sensibly—and then there is only one thing to watch. Use only the genuine Welch' Grape Juice. In order to get the finest, selected, premium grapes grown we pay more than anyone in the United States. That is why Welch's is always full strength. No adulterants; no artificial coloring—Certified Pure. Insist upon Welch's.

Tested and Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau

"Gives Quick Pep and Energy"

"Red" Woodworth, All-American Star and Coach at Morgan Park Military Academy, says: "Welch's Grape Juice gives my boys strength and energy without adding health-destroying fat. The minerals and vitamins are valuable in helping to build red blood, strong bones and teeth. I recommend it for all growing children and athletes. I have also found it excellent between meals as a quick energy pickup-drink for children and grown ups."

Clark Gable Prepares for Fight Scenes

Works Out with Gloves to Get His Wind.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., May 14.—[Special.] —It was midday and the San Fernando valley sun was making up for some of the cool days in April. The thermometer near the Warner studio tennis court which separates the administration offices from dressing room row, was in the nineties. Clark Gable, in a heavy sweat suit of the kind college track athletes wear while they're warming up, came through the chicken wire gate at the end of the court and sat down on a bench alongside the temporary fight ring.

Harvey Perry, one of the films' best known stunt men, an Olympic games diver at Stockholm in 1912, and recently recovered from a back injury sustained in a fight for "Call of the Wild," came over and sat down by Gable.

"How ya feel?" Perry wanted to know.

"Swell, but it's hot, ain't it?" Gable asked in return.

"Not much," said Perry, about 168 pounds of trim, well muscled flesh.

Louis Hippe, the studio conditioner, came in and dropped four boxing gloves on the bench.

"Let's get goin'," Perry told Gable, "take those flannel pajamas off." Gable stripped to a short pair of blue bathing trunks. He stripped taller and huskier than Perry by about 23 pounds.

Hippe handed Perry two small red boxes. Perry opened one and removed two semi-circular chunks of white rubber. He handed one to Gable. Gable turned it over and looked puzzled. Perry seemed to be eating his rubber.

"Protector for your teeth," the stunt man said, retracting his lips and squirming them about as he muzzled the rubber pad into place. Gable, too, stuck his chunk of rubber into his mouth. He sought to follow Perry's facial contortions, but his mouth opened and the piece of rubber jumped out, bounced across the concrete court and disappeared under the boxing ring. "Nuts," he said, and stooped after it.

Perry climbed back out of the ring to help. Hippe looked unworried. If Gable had to go bending and climbing under a lot of scaffolding, that might be just as good for his waistline as a sock with a boxing glove. All Hippe wanted was to see the Gable belt line contract.

Gable came from beneath the ring and went over to the fountain and washed his rubber. "Lemme help," suggested Perry, and stuck his gloved hand into Gable's face and began pushing. "Here," remonstrated Gable, "You're pushing my nose. Let me alone, you little shrimp."

Perry shrugged and climbed in after him. Hippe laced on Gable's gloves.

"Now," said Perry, "we'll go three rounds easy. "Umphhh wumphhh," said Gable.

Perry danced on his toes, then stepped in and whacked Gable smartly on the tummy. "Oooshhh," said Gable, and swung on his left, but Perry wasn't anywhere near there. Then the screen hero remembered, put his left out and kept it poking, and together they slapped at each other, Perry doing most of the slapping and Gable most of the swinging.

Finally Hippe called time. Gable leaned on the ropes. Moisture was cascading off him. "Nuff," he said.

"Don't you think that about enough for today? Remember, Harve, I've been gettin' most of my exercise playing golf."

"Now listen, Clark," said Perry, "you got to go ten rounds in this picture. ["Cain and Mabel."] "We got four or maybe five weeks to get in shape for that fight, which'll take four or five days to film. Believe me, you'll need all the wind and endurance you can work up. You're in good condition, but you're ten or twelve pounds overweight. We got to get that off. Now come on." Gable moved slowly back into the center of the ring.

Another round [a short one] and they rested ten minutes. Hippe looked happy while they struggled and disappointed while they rested.

"No, not that way," Perry said sharply. "Watch me closely for an opening. You can do it. Now, really give. Don't pull it. You can't hurt me."

They circled, Perry dancing, and making opportunities for Gable, the latter eyeing him cautiously.

Suddenly the actor lashed out with the left, then crossed with the right. It caught Perry on the shoulder and glanced to his jaw. Perry, caught off balance, toppled down. "Whoo," he said, rising slowly and shaking his head a bit. "Good punch. Say," he added as an after-thought, "maybe we had enough for today. Sun's pretty hot."

Spool and Bobbin.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Spool and Bobbin" is one of the oldest pieced patterns, and is based on the fundamental four patch design. When the block is used as an all over pattern the three shades comprising the single square form a series of lozenges running around the quilt in three directions. Red, white, and blue are the patriotic colors suggested for this quilt block, but they need not be the exact shades found in our American flag. Cherry red and French or old blue create a most satisfying effect.

Bellini Arias Are Revived by Miss George

Ornate Works of Sicilian Are Pleasing.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Florence George, the coloratura soprano who shared a Curtiss hall recital last night with Louis Jacobson, gave Vincenzo Bellini the best boost that the half forgotten Sicilian has enjoyed in many a long day. She programmed four of his ornate little arias, the youngest of them over a hundred years old.

Miss George's singing is not yet characterized by complete ease and sureness, and the enchanting sweetness of her basic tonal quality is sometimes marred by visible effort in delivery. She has a dainty way of phrasing and a sound musical intelligence.

The mechanics of coloratura singing are so difficult that a soprano may be pardoned for occasionally losing sight of the absolute necessity of keeping her tone clear and limpid [and apparently effortless], if the fetching but often meaningless patterns of sound that this old fashioned form delights in are to justify themselves by their sheer sensuous beauty.

Florence George's interest in the coloratura répertoire has not blinded her to the value of developing that delicacy and versatility which now permit her to deal convincingly with quite a different type of song. The little encore that followed the second consignment of Bellini was exquisitely done.

Louis Jacobson is a tenor of the French type with a ringing, virile voice quality. He succumbs frequently to the temptation to force it beyond its natural limits in seeking for some especially dramatic effect.

Curiously enough, an out and out piece of vocal lyricism was the most successful item on the first half of his program. The little song called "Homing" benefited by Jacobson's carefully thought out phrasing and his round, opulent tone. The delivery was noble and fitting, free from the exaggeration which had lost the Carmen "Flower Song" and the Giordano aria the suavity that even operatic music requires when it is presented with only piano for accompaniment.

This piano, by the way, was in charge of Rosalie Saalfield for both singers. Fortunato Cavone played two flute obbligatos to Miss George's songs.

Kirsten Flagstad Hurt as Powder Box Falls in Opera Stall

LONDON, May 14.—(AP)—Kirsten Flagstad, Norwegian soprano of the New York Metropolitan Opera company, was injured tonight when a glass powder box fell on her head while she was watching a performance of "Die Gotterdaemmerung" at the Covent Garden Opera house.

The box was dropped from a tier above the stall in which Miss Flagstad sat. Members of the audience helped to staunch the flow of blood until a physician was summoned.

The singer is scheduled to make her Covent Garden debut Monday as Isolde in "Tristan and Isolde."

Jews and Christians Plan Late Summer Institute

The Chicago Round Table of the Conference of Jews and Christians, which was organized last November under the chairmanship of Charles G. Dawes, now has a membership of 935, it was announced yesterday at a meeting of the executive committee.

Dr. James M. Yard, secretary, made a report on a program for an institute of human relations to be held under the conference's direction late in the summer at Appleton, Wis. The purpose of the conference and the institute is to bring about a better relationship between members of the Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish faiths.

Hollywood, Cal., May 14.—(AP)—Ginette Barboeuf-Hoyet, 5 years old, arrived today from France to meet Shirley Temple. The French girl won a contest because of her resemblance to the American child actress. Shirley had to work, so she couldn't meet Ginette at the train, but welcomed her at the studio instead.

GASOLINE ALLEY—ANOTHER GALLERY

JUNIOR MISS' FROCK.

Don't ever say that you can't sew for yourself! If you would like a smart frock for late spring and early summer, one which will suit many occasions and be both comfortable and practical, go to your favorite shop and purchase material for the dress pictured today. Nothing could be simpler to make. There is not a single difficult detail in the entire frock. The back and front sections are one piece affairs, and the sleeves are delightfully easy to fashion, being full and capelike. Simple tucks fit the frock to your waistline without any trouble. There are no plaits in the attractive skirt, which is flared to just the right degree.

While the major portion of this frock is designed along the simplest lines possible, the clever collar will deceive admirers of your dressmaking ability into thinking that this is a model which required a great deal of skill. The collar is draped in scarf effect, falling gracefully low in back, and gathered into a smart pin, brooch, or clip at the front of the neckline.

The original of this delightful dress is smart in sand colored tub silk, attractive for both town and country. A decorative brown wooden buckle fastens the collar and is matched by the belt buckle.

Style No. 2985 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Made Invisible with Oxygen

Thousands who formerly suffered the embarrassment of ugly hair on lips, chin and other parts of the face, now use Dioxogen Cream and have a skin lovely to look at and lovely to feel.

Oxygen is nature's safe bleach. It is not drying to the skin. The fact that Dioxogen Cream actually makes face hair invisible, shows that it really does things which ordinary creams cannot do. Dioxogen Cream clears out the pores, refines coarseness, lightens spots and breaks up the greasy substances that cause blackheads.

Start using Dioxogen Cream and within 24 hours you'll see a surprising improvement in your skin. Within 30 days you'll have the kind of complexion you've always dreamed about.

Old Fashioned Methods Often Aid to Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

My personal feeling is that for the great majority of us women the modern methods of keeping up with one's best self can't be improved upon, what with modern chemists striving to improve creams and lotions daily.

However, once in a while one runs across a person who has had handed down to her some sage advice from a grandmother who herself was proof of its efficiency. Neila Goodelle, whose radio voice is familiar to you listeners-in, had such a grandmother.

But even Miss Neila, granddaughter of the Normandy beauty, concedes that the good modern manufactured cold cream as a cleaner, makeup remover, and foundation base has its indisputable high points. The homely old lemon juice remedy, however, as a bleach for hands and face, stands with Miss Goodelle as a remedy beyond improvement.

To soften the skin and keep it feeling like velvet, sour milk or buttermilk in raw form gets endorsement as an active principle in grandmother Goodelle's beauty upkeep. An astringent tip out of the Goodelle past is the juice from crushed, fresh cucumbers and used "as is" without dilution. Miss Neila, who claims to use it regularly, says that the effect of the cucumber juice use is as refreshing as rubbing ice over the skin.

Yes, in that older beauty régime, face packs were common indulgences. In this department, perhaps our borebears could give us a few tips, although I must admit that modern packs are wonder workers. Neila Goodelle recommends, instead of mud or other packs, a homemade oatmeal one. The trick is to take oatmeal and rub it in the hands until is becomes powdery. Then add water to thicken to a paste consistency. Spread on the face and allow to dry. Follow its removal with the cucumber juice astringent, and maybe you'll look like Neila. Maybe you won't. But, I ask, who wants to mess around with juice extraction and so on when modern science offers you, over the counter, the advantages it does today?

According to CULBERTSON

ASKING BIDS PROOF AGAINST INTERFERENCE.

The new technique of slam bidding through the use of asking bids has proved so deadly accurate that it has induced a mad scramble on the part of slam defenders to find effective interference methods. As a matter of cold fact, the asking bid system is aided rather than obstructed by opponents' attempted interference. Instead of shutting out the correct responses, opponents' bids often save a round of bidding for the side approaching the slam. I have yet to see a hand in which the defenders could have interrupted successfully the flow of information conveyed by asking bids.

The bidding:

1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 clubs*	Double	Redouble†	Pass
4 hearts‡	Double	Redouble§	Pass
5 clubs¶	Double	Redouble£	Pass
6 spades‖	Pass	Pass	Pass

*Spades having been agreed on as the trump suit, South now makes an asking bid.

†Without West's double, North having no ace would have to sign off, at least temporarily, with four spades. The redouble, however, shows merely second round control of the asked suit.

‡South now investigates how many heart tricks must be lost, by making his second asking bid.

§Exactly the same situation as before. North shows second round heart control by redoubling.

¶South now knows that only one heart can be lost, but still is uncertain about the club situation. North may have the K x x. To find out, South makes a repeated asking bid in clubs, inquiring about third round control.

‖The six spade bid now is made in almost absolute safety, as accurately as though North and South had seen each other's hands.

Obviously, the only thing that could have defeated the beautifully bid slam would have been a fantastically bad adverse lay of cards, such as an opening lead of a heart and immediate ruff. As it was, the declarer had a "cinch," winning the opening king of clubs lead with the ace, ruffing a second round in dummy, ruffing a diamond into his own hand, and ruffing a third club with one of dummy's high trumps. Since the club suit broke 4-3, only one more club had to be ruffed, but even against a 5-2 division there was no danger. Without the opening lead of the heart ace, declarer, of course, could have made an overtrick, but this would have involved a slight risk and he wisely considered only his small slam contract.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

It's just about time for us to issue our annual warning against too much sun. Then we'll drop the subject, because we have a sneaking suspicion that all the sun worshipers won't pay much attention to us anyway. They seem to go right ahead and burn themselves up year after year, then wonder why they have the difficulty of dry hair and dry skin all winter.

There is only one sensible rule about sunning yourself: Take it easy! Don't try to get a tosh coat of tan over a week-end or in a day. Take exposure by slow, short stages. If you begin now to sun a little each day you can be cocoa brown by midsummer, if that's what your heart desires. But if that's out—if you have only the week-end in which to catch up with your coat of tan, you'll simply have to use your head about it to avoid trouble.

Use the thing you like either to promote a tan or to prevent it, but don't get sunburned. People who do don't deserve sympathy. The skin is definitly damaged by a burn; it's coarsened and dried out. Too much sun stores up trouble in winter.

And sun is death on dry hair. We would suggest to every one looking forward to the outdoor life this summer that they have some bang-up scalp treatments as a preliminary to the exposure. The treatments will circumvent the horrible drying that makes hair unattractive and unhealthy as well. Oil massages, stiff brushings, and all types of treatment that improve circulation and the flow of oil have great value in the sunny months.

But take it easy! Don't rely too much on treatments and sunburn preventives. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Popularity Is Dependent on the Individual

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The boy is 19. He has no friends among the opposite sex. "I guess I must be a bad mixer," he confides. "At times I feel like taking the easiest way out of it all!"

Now I ask you, son, why should any girl be interested in a person who'd even voice an expression about taking "the easiest way out"? If that's the way you feel about yourself, what have you to offer a girl to interest her? Nothing, is the answer, and you'd better shake out of it pretty quickly if you'd ever make anything of yourself that would attract a girl.

Think it over, boy. We aren't taking your suicide suggestion seriously, understand. But the fact that you'd speak such a cowardly line indicates a weakness that has no appeal to any one, much less a girl out looking for a good time. What a weight you'd be on an evening out! What a dud. Probably expecting the girl to do all the entertaining.

Why aren't you a good mixer? Why don't you learn to be one? We aren't completely out of sympathy with your bashfulness. But we are out of sympathy with your enjoying it.

Well, it might serve as an impetus for you to realize that people who get anywhere today, get there on their own. They get there by overcoming obstacles themselves, not waiting for some one else to come along and lift them gently over the barriers. This applies to social life just as it does to business advancement. You do the progressing on your own.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Dead Letters

Link Venom Purchases to Victim's Mate.

TIENTSIN, May 14.—(AP)—Two physicians who examined Mrs. John Colbert during the illness her 50 year old husband is accused of bringing on by poison testified today the young society woman had been given a deadly compound.

Their testimony was in response to questions by District Attorney Felthan Watson during the third day of the trial of the former St. Louis, Mo., physician.

Called "Deliberate Poisoning."

Dr. J. W. Grice said Mrs. Colbert was a victim of "deliberate poisoning," but declined to answer Watson's questions, "Did you regard Dr. Colbert as the person poisoning Mrs. Colbert?"

[The defendant previously had diagnosed his athletic wife's illness as anemia and an enlarged heart.]

A Russian doctor named Cherdyntzeff, a blood specialist, said he had "found abnormal presences" in the patient's blood, but "there were no anemia symptoms in her blood or in her appearance."

Dr. Cherdyntzeff said he was mystified by the color of Mrs. Colbert's skin and asked her husband if a certain compound "which is poisonous if taken excessively" had been given to her.

Face Black, Matron Testifies.

The matron of Victoria hospital, to which the doctor's fourth wife was admitted last Nov. 21, said "when Mrs. Colbert arrived on a stretcher her face was almost black, her legs were dark, and her lips and eyes purplish."

Employés of several drug stores read statements into the record showing purchases of poison by Dr. Colbert between Sept. 23 and Nov. 22 "in unusually large quantities."

The hospital matron, United States Consul Whitney Young asserted, gave him a sealed box containing four ampules of a compound which proved to contain a "specific blood poison." This poison, the prosecution alleges, was the one Dr. Colbert had been administering to his wife.

U. S. SUB IN WHICH 40 MEN DIED TO TAKE HER LAST DIVE TODAY

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

HONOLULU, May 14.—The submarine S-4, symbol of disaster and hope, will end her career in 1,000 fathoms of water west of Oahu tomorrow. Her usefulness to the navy ended, the vessel that in December, 1927, carried forty men to death off the coast of Massachusetts will be towed far to sea from Pearl Harbor for her last dive. Her rusted hull is now in drydock, where it is being stripped of everything of value.

The craft has been used for testing the lung and the rescue chamber—two of the most modern developments in submarine rescue technique. Following her salvage she became an experimental laboratory at New London, Key West, Coco Solo, Dan Diego, and Pearl Harbor, where she was towed in August, 1932.

Her last actual operation was off Barber's point, where she was sunk in 150 feet of water with a skeleton crew aboard. Utilizing the lung, all made their way to the surface safely.

Youth Takes Auto Motor, Builds Own Plane; Flies It

MEXICO CITY, May 14.—(AP)—Miguel Carrillo, who built his own plane of pine wood and powered it with a four cylinder automobile motor, landed here today after an 80 mile flight. The youth, who has never studied mechanical engineering or aviation, piloted his home-made ship from his home at Zitacuaro in the Michoacan district. The motor in the ship was taken from a truck which had been in service for six years.

U. S. MERCHANTS IN N. CHINA PROTEST JAP SMUGGLING

Tokio Dispatches Fresh Troops to Area.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 14.—The American Chamber of Commerce at Tientsin today strongly protested against the wholesale smuggling of goods into North China by the Japanese. The protest was drafted at a meeting attended by leading American merchants of North China.

The chamber appointed a representative to confer with American merchants of Shanghai to support a united protest which will be sent to Washington, D. C. Japanese smuggling activities were described as politically inspired with the object of destroying the Chinese government and the nation's financial structure. The smuggling is ruining American and other occidental trade in the far east, the merchants said.

Cotton Mills Close Up.

The newspaper Sin Wan Pao reported that 19 Chinese cotton mills, operating more than 250,000 spindles and 1,500 looms, have suspended operation due to the smuggling. Many mills are being sold.

Japan's military leaders emulated Mussolinian tactics in answering the international chorus of protests against Japanese smuggling and other activities in North China. An immediate increase of the Japanese garrison in the Peiping-Tientsin district was announced. The vanguard was expected to arrive at Peiping tonight from Manchukuo.

The number of fresh troops the Japanese are sending to the northern provinces, according to a secret report quoting Japanese diplomats, is 8,000. Five thousand are assigned for duty at Peiping.

Hurls Insult at Army, Navy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, May 14.—Smarting under one of the worst insults ever hurled at Japan's fighting forces, Admiral Osami Nagano, minister of the navy, burned with anger in the diet today when Yoshiya Tsumura, a member of the upper house, questioned the loyalty and patriotism of officers of the army and navy and hinted that they lacked Bushido spirit.

[Bushido is the unwritten code of moral principles regulating the actions of Japanese knighthood.]

An uproar followed Tsumura's remark that he believed soldiers in the ranks who serve the nation without pay are more patriotic than officers who are highly paid.

Gen. Juichi Terauchi, minister of war, delivered a warning that Japan will strengthen its fortifications in the Pacific if a new naval treaty is not concluded to succeed the Washington pact, which expires at the end of the year.

"If no treaty is made it will be necessary to build up defenses to guard against a new situation in the Pacific," he exclaimed.

FIND U. S. SOCIETY GIRL IN FLAT OF POISONED VALET

PARIS, May 14.—(AP)—Police said tonight they had found a 21 year old American society girl in the luxuriously appointed apartment of an Italian valet, who died when removed to a hospital. After questioning the girl police were uncertain whether the valet, Luigi Mayer, 35, had committed suicide by drinking poison or had taken a fatal draught by accident.

The girl's name was withheld, but authorities described her as "the daughter of a rich American industrialist, who had come to France to perfect her French." They added that she was "merely a victim of misfortune." She told the police, authorities said, that Mayer wooed her after a chance meeting in a Montparnasse café. She said the valet represented himself as an interior decorator.

A friend described Mayer as an "excessively emotional type." An autopsy will be performed to determine the manner of his death.

GOLDENGLOVERS GATHER FOR OLYMPIC FINALS

24 Must Report This Week-End.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Rivals for National Golden Gloves boxing championships, which will be decided Wednesday night at the Chicago Stadium, will be on the move toward Chicago today, preparatory to finishing training at the scene of battle. The eight winners in this final round of amateur boxing's greatest tournament will represent the United States in the Olympic games at Berlin next summer.

Six of the finalists already are here. Four of them are Chicago boys, Johnny Brown, Chester Rutecki, and Andy Scrivani, of the Catholic Youth organization, and Arthur Oliver, of the Savoy Athletic club. Ted Kara, Golden Gloves featherweight champion remained in Chicago following the preliminary rounds last week.

Frank Nelson, No. 1 middleweight alternate from Davenport, quit work at his shoe shining stand early this week and for two days has been training assiduously at the C. Y. O. gym, hoping that he will have a chance to substitute for either Ord Fink, of Syracuse, or Jimmy Clark, of Jamestown, N. Y.

Twenty-four Enter Training.

Twenty-four boys, the finalists and eight alternates, will be here this week-end. All must report, according to edict of the United States Olympic Boxing committee, by noon Monday or forfeit their position in the tournament or preference as alternate. All will weigh in Wednesday afternoon and take physical examinations.

Neither John Behr, head coach of the Olympic team, nor Fred Caserio, chosen to be his assistant by the committee, is training or instructing the boxers. Those staying at the Illinois Athletic club are supervised as to meals and hours, but their training is matter of concern for themselves and their coaches. In nearly all instances, coaches or trainers have accompanied the boys who will fight for amateur boxing's greatest prize, the right to participate in the Olympic games.

In theory, at least, Chicago has a chance to win four championships. From the standpoint of Golden Gloves competition, seven of the eight titles may be won by Golden Gloves. Only in the middleweight fight between Ord Fink, of Syracuse, and Jimmy Clark, of Jamestown, N. Y., is there a zero chalked against the Golden Gloves boys of Chicago's Tournament of Champions.

One N. C. A. A. Entrant Left.

Fink is the only finalist from the National Collegiate group although another college boy, Carl Vinciquerra, of Creighton university, entered the tournament as Golden Gloves light-heavyweight champion.

Vinciquerra's opponent, William R. Townsend, is the only army man who reached the championship round. Townsend is a private first class, 8th field artillery, Schofield barracks, territory of Hawaii. By his triumphs in the National Golden Gloves preliminaries, Townsend is one victory removed from representing the United States in the Berlin bouts.

Most fans probably would select Vinciquerra to whip Townsend Wednesday night. Carl is a natural athlete, a football star, and has had more experience boxing, although he has not boxed as many years. He also will outweigh Townsend, who will not come within five pounds of the light heavyweight limit of 175 pounds. Vinciquerra always has to reduce a few pounds to qualify.

Townsend Can Take It.

If there is a knockout, the chances are Vinciquerra will deliver the blow, but those who saw the army's red head fight at the International Amphitheater know he can take it. He also passed it out.

This is Townsend's second enlistment. He joined the army in 1930 in his home city of Memphis, Tenn. He admits a lure of the open spaces, or rather a desire to escape his confining work in the Baptist hospital's drug department was responsible. He was assigned to the 18th Field artillery at Fort Sill, Okla. There he received his first instruction in boxing and in 1931 and 1932 had acquired sufficient proficiency to become the junior welterweight of the post.

Discharged in 1934, he visited his parents in Memphis and then hiked to Los Angeles where he reënlisted in May last year and was assigned to the Hawaiian department. He was the runner-up for the Hawaiian division championship and this year won the department championship and the right to make the 5,000 mile trip to the Olympic trials. If Townsend gets to Berlin, he will have traveled nearly half the way around the world.

Chicago probably never will have eight amateur championship bouts of the same caliber of these next Wednesday night. The 16 survivors not only qualified from all major amateur organizations, but fought through a select group of 86 which began the tournament at the Amphitheater.

PLAY ON PARK GOLF COURSES

Chilly weather prevails as five courses of the Chicago park district open. Left to right are: John J. McGillen, Mrs. Isabelle Meaney, and Marion Drebing, who played yesterday at the Jackson park 18 hole course. Other courses opened yesterday were in Marquette, Columbus, and Lincoln park, the latter with the Waveland and Diversey links. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

PREAKNESS STAKES.

BOLD VENTURE, because of his victory over Brevity in the Kentucky Derby, will be favorite for the Preakness stakes at Pimlico tomorrow afternoon at 1 3-16 miles, a half furlong shorter than the Derby route.

Opposition appears less formidable in advance than at the Derby, although as that race was run Brevity furnished the only real contention. Widener's colt was not nominated for the Preakness. His campaign, mapped out in Florida last winter, was Derby, Withers, Belmont, and then on to Arlington Park for the Classic if his form to that time waranted.

So Bold Venture finds the field against him consisting of several he beat in the Derby, including Granville, which hardly will lose his rider again, and dark horses, including Memory Book, which have not received thorough tests. There always is danger in this element.

The Preakness was first run in 1873, won by Survivor, so really antedates the Kentucky Derby by two years. There was a hiatus, however, from 1889 to 1909, while the Derby has been renewed annually since 1875. Its distance varied from 1½ miles to 1 mile. Record for the present route of 1 3-16 miles was set at 1:58 1-5 in 1934, when High Quest beat Cavalcade.

Let's look at the last half dozen Derbies and Preakness results to see

Bold Venture Reaches Pimlico; Woolt to Ride Him in Preakness

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., May 14.—The only thing that seems to be lacking in the general historical setup for the renewal of the Preakness stakes here at Pimlico Saturday afternoon is the fact that the fine old horse after which the race was named neglected to come over with Lord Baltimore.

Everything else is perfect and even though old Preakness himself wasn't one of the early colonists, they say that every one of the early Americans who organized the Maryland Jocky club and built the old hilltop track now called Pimlico, had one or two ancestors who sailed over with the founder of Maryland.

Pimlico dates back to 1831. The story goes that on many a Saturday of that year President Andrew Jackson and his brain trusters, if there were brain trusters, turned the key in the White House front door and commuted to Baltimore in a body to see the horses run.

How It Started.

It was 39 years later that the horse Preakness, a son of Lexington-Bay Leaf, entered the picture. So impressive was his victory in the celebrated Dinner Party stakes of that year that in the words of Gov. Oden Bowie of Maryland "It was simply unthinkable to disassociate Preakness from Pimlico."

So the Preakness started. It is three years older than the Kentucky Derby.

Bold Venture on Scene.

Bold Venture, the Kentucky Derby winner of nearly two weeks ago, arrived here at 2 o'clock this afternoon from New York and simultaneously sophisticated Baltimore actually got excited about its famous horse race. Not so much excited over the presence of the Kentucky Derby winner in their midst, but rather because they believed that one of the ten starters in the probable Preakness field who did not go to the post in the Kentucky Derby will give Bold Venture a good, sound thumping.

These ten Preakness starters, who were far away from the Derby scene at Churchill Downs when Bold Venture beat Brevity by a neck in that rough and tumble scrap, but who are now fit and ready, so their owners believe, to prove their greatness, are:

Horse.	Owner.
Memory Book	Mrs. H. H. Whitney
Snark	Wheatley stable
Bow and Arrow	E. R. Bradley
Jean Bart	Walter M. Jeffords
Giant Killer	Walter M. Jeffords
Knight Warrior	Mrs. W. W. Vaughn
Swashbuckler	Mr. Janon Fisher
Transporter	Mrs. M. D. Somerville
Hollyrood	Hal Price Headley
Conquer	Mrs. Louise Viau

Bold Venture, the Derby winner.

Granville, who lost his rider.

Teufel, who ran slower than old No. 8, the Monon local freight.

He Did, who quit.

Grand Slam, who didn't seem to have any excuses.

Hirsch Has Jocky Trouble.

This has been a turbulent week for Maxie Hirsch, who trains Bold Venture. In the first place he had to search high and low for a jocky to ride the Derby winner. Ira Hanford couldn't do it because he is serving a 15 day sentence for rough riding in the Derby.

Trainer Hirsch tried to hire Wayne Wright to ride Bold Venture in the Preakness. That fiery little western kid was evidently still mad about what happened to his mount Brevity in the Kentucky Derby and turned down the job.

Next Trainer Hirsch hired Sonny Workman. A few hours later Workman was ordered to Churchill Downs to ride one of C. V. Whitney's fillies in the Kentucky Oaks on Saturday. Workman is under contract to Whitney.

Tonight George Woolf agreed to

MAJORS REVIVE PLAYER POLL FOR ALL-STAR GAME

Vote to Give Contest Back to Fans of Nation.

Boston, Mass., May 14.—(AP)—The best features of all the tested methods of selecting players for the 1936 All-Star baseball game, which will be played at the Boston National league park on July 7, were combined today by the major leagues.

During a meeting, attended by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, William Harridge, president of the American league; Ford Frick, National league president, and General Manager Bob Quinn of the Boston Bees, it was decided to limit each All-Star squad to twenty-one players.

Sixteen on each team will be selected by the public, through a nation-wide poll conducted by newspapers. Each of the managers of the 1935 pennant winners, Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit Tigers and Charlie Grimm of the Chicago Cubs, will be permitted to name five players to complete their squads.

Originated by the Tribune.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, which sponsored the first All-Star game in 1933 as baseball's contribution to Chicago's A Century of Progress Exposition, originated the idea of letting fans of the country name the contesting players. The poll, however, was discontinued by the major leagues last year when Cleveland staged the third annual game.

Last year the teams were selected by Cochrane and Frankie Frisch, the St. Louis Cardinals' manager, and much dissatisfaction was expressed in National league circles.

All votes for the All-Star players will be gathered by the newspapers and turned over to a Boston sports writer, preferably an unemployed one, for tabulation which must be ready for publication by June 27. Two days later the All-Star managers will name their selections.

Limit Pitchers' Work.

The baseball public's selections will be limited to four pitchers, two catchers, five infielders and five outfielders for each of the All-Star teams. The managers will not be permitted to include more than two pitchers in their five selections for their squads. They also will appoint the coaches, trainers and bat boys.

It was agreed that no pitcher would work more than three innings, provided the game did not go into overtime, and that the official baseballs of both leagues would be used.

The Boston National league team's regular price scale of 50 cents to $1.50 will be maintained. After each league takes out $10,000 for its own welfare fund and $2,000 is turned over to the Boston chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, for similar purposes, the remainder will be given to the Association of Professional Ball Players of America to care for its sick and indigent members.

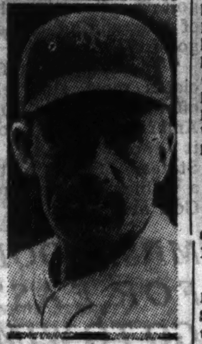
Hubbell Yields Only 5 Hits as Cubs Lose Fifth Straight, 5-0

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 14.—Awed by the great Carl Hubbell, who really was great for the occasion, the Cubs staggered to their fifth straight defeat today. They couldn't hit the willowy southpaw. Neither could they field behind the pitching of Lon Warneke, so the Giants after earning one run, picked up four bargain tallies good for a 5 to 0 triumph. It was the first shutout inflicted on the stuttering league champions this season and also the first the New Yorkers have dealt out.



CARL HUBBELL.

In his quest for victory Hubbell lost no time reaching the finish line. He yielded only five hits, all singles and walked only one. Practically all this hitting was done by two members of the Chicago ensemble. Two of the hits, one a fluke went to Augie Galan, who also drew the pass. Two of the other hits went to Woody English. The remaining one was picked up by Stanley Hack. With this sort of an attack the champions were able to get only one runner as far as third base.

Chuck Klein Chief Sufferer.

Chief among the sufferers before Hubbell's masterful throwing was Chuck Klein, who has no love for southpaws. Klein fanned with a mate on base in the first inning. He hit one to the pitcher with the bases empty in the fourth. In the sixth he fanned again, this time with two on. In his fourth attempt he rolled out in feeble fashion. Not much better than Klein was Billy Herman, whose bat was a big factor up to a short time back. In four efforts, three with one or two runners on base, he couldn't push the ball past the infield. He now has the proud record of one hit in his last 17 times at bat.

As long as Warneke yielded one earned run, which would have been sufficient to beat him, not much fuss can be raised over the causes of the remaining tallies. The earned run went across in the fourth, propelled by Hank Lieber, after a couple of passes. Then in the sixth Hack erred making a throw which led to the second run. The three others went across during the seventh when English lost a grounder that should have concluded the inning before anybody reached the plate. Warneke bogged down after the error, but finished the inning before going into retirement.

Galan Opens with Single.

Galan, who switches to a right handed batting stance whenever the enemy is employing a southpaw, opened the battle with a single over third. This proved the only bit of pleasure the Cubs encountered for quite a stretch. Galan was forced on Herman's easy grounder to Jackson. Klein did the best he could by swinging vainly at three strikes. On the third strike Herman advanced to second by stealing his way. Hartnett sent a long fly to left and Moore misjudged it momentarily, but with a

BEAT SENATORS IN NINTH INNING WITHOUT A HIT

Stratton Lets 10 to 1 Lead Slip Away.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox and the Washington Senators yesterday put on a colossal, mammoth, and stupendous baseball carnival and circus at Comiskey park. And when the charioteers had quit racing around the bases, the clowns had stopped whirling on and off the pitcher's mound, and the infield tumblers had ended their ludicrous acrobatics, the Sox had won their fifth straight ball game, 13 to 12, with none out in the ninth.

Though the Sox were the victors and went into undisputed possession of fourth place, their clowns were much funnier than those in the Senator troupe—that is, up till the game ended with that great laughing skit, the pitcher's throw to third with no one there. This side splitting special never was executed better than Firpo Marberry put it on to end the grotesque affair.

Serious Minded at Start.

The Sox appeared serious minded when they made eight runs in the first and added two in the next two innings for a 10 to 1 lead. In the fourth, however, the Chicagoans entered into the spirit of the mardi gras. While Monty Stratton, Clint Brown, and Red Evans, aided by Luke Appling, were giving the customers some of the richest clowning ever seen in any sawdust ring the Senators tied the score in the sixth and went ahead in the eighth.

The Sox regained the lead with two runs in their half of the eighth, but the Senators tied it in the ninth with the first major league homer Buddy Lewis ever made and had men on first and second with none out. Washington had the bases full with two out when Vernon Kennedy, fourth Sox pitcher, struck out Wally Millies.

Nice Work, Firpo!

Then came the big act of Marberry, the reformed umpire. Firpo had done a swell job of relieving to halt the Sox in the eighth, but he got the home ninth going by walking Haas. Next he hit Walker with a pitched ball. Bonura bunted just as he was expected to do. Marberry grabbed the ball, whirled, and threw perfectly to third base. Lewis wasn't there, however, and the ball rolled to the Sox bullpen as Haas dashed home with the winning run.

The victory ran the Sox string to seven out of eight since the Chicagoans ended their eight game losing streak. The outcome lifted the Comiskeys above the .500 mark and moved them out of a fourth place tie with the Detroit Tigers.

That Big First Inning.

The Sox showed only minor concern when the Senators hopped off to a one run lead in the first inning, a run in which a safe bunt by Lewis and a double by Stone figured. The boys seemed to sense the powers they were about to unleash.

And here is the way they unleashed said power: Kreevich doubled off the left field wall, an easy homer had the premises not been altered. Haas' sacrifice moved Mike to third, whence he scored on Walker's line single to center. Bonura tripled to the center field flagpole, scoring Walker, and Zeke scored on Appling's single to right. Piet singled to center and Dykes walked, filling the bases.

Russell was yanked and Weaver went in. Weaver walked Sewell, forcing Appling across the plate, and

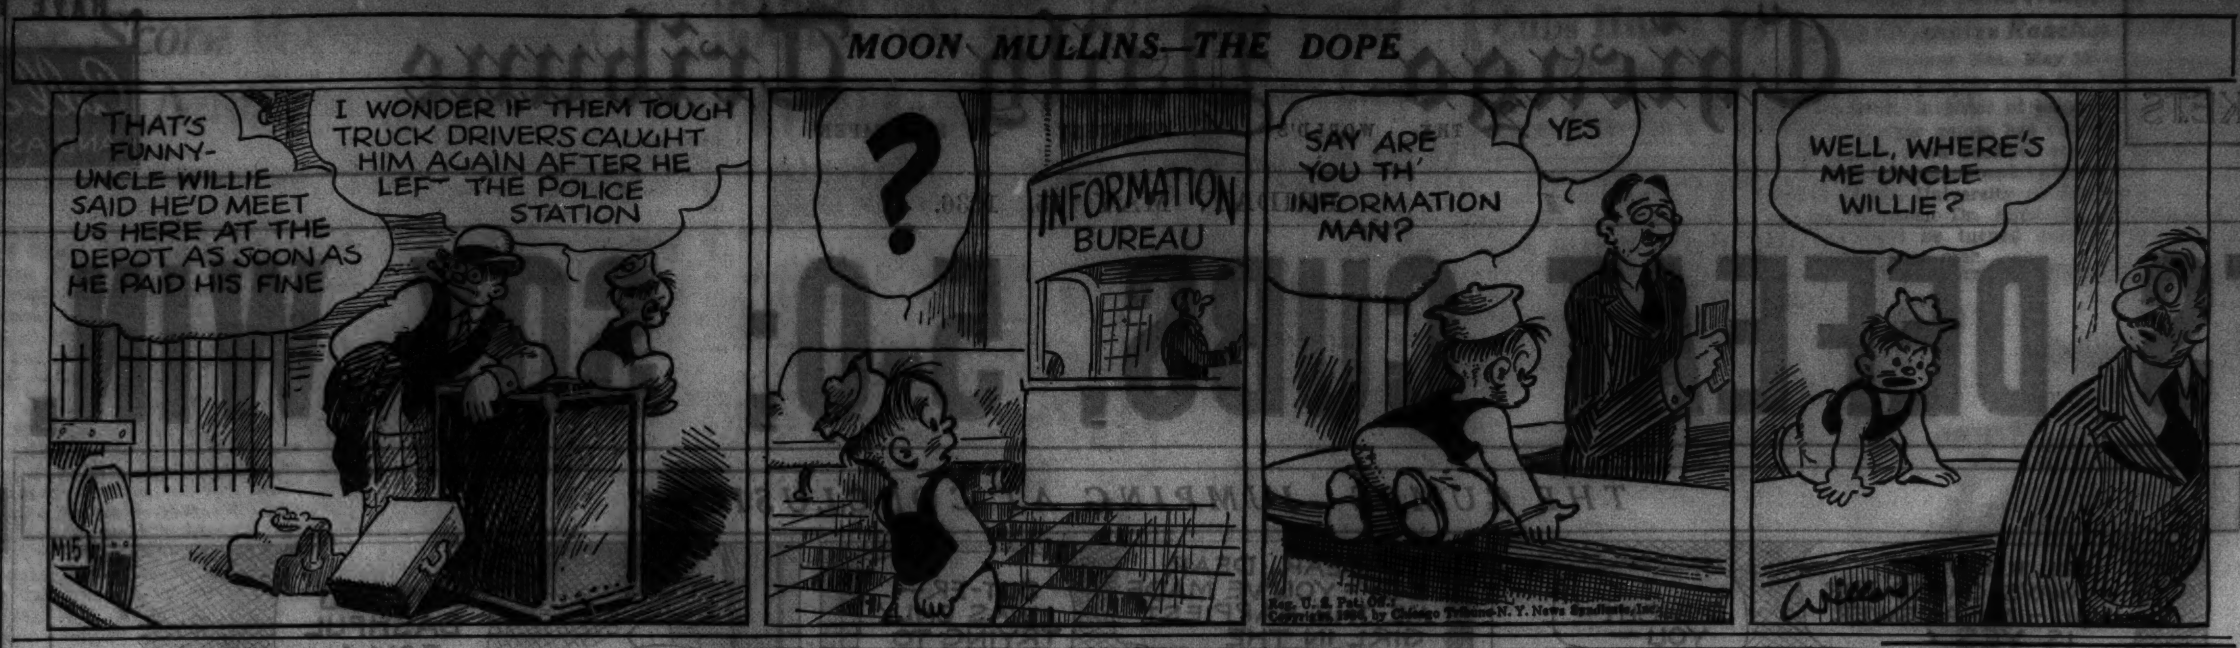
MOON MULLINS—THE DOPE



WESTLAND WINS C.D.G.A. HANDICAP OPENER WITH 73

Misses Par by 1 Stroke at Glen View.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The official family of the Chicago District Golf association had a brisk day of visiting yesterday, skipping from its opening one day handicap tourney at the Glen View club out to the Midlothian Country club, which was playing host to its first press party.

Par—Out	434	445	354—36
Par—In	434	535	444—36—72
Westland—Out	525	444	454—37
Westland—In	434	535	444—36—73

Westland needed three from the edge of the first and third, dropped 12 and 15 footers on the second and sixth, and drew a bunker at the seventh. He matched par the rest of the way.

MICHIGAN CARDS HOME AND HOME SERIES WITH YALE

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 14.—[Special.] — A home and home football series between Michigan and Yale was announced today by Athletic Director Fielding H. Yost.

The Wolverines will play Yale at New Haven on Oct. 22, 1938, and at Ann Arbor on Oct. 28, 1939.

Michigan has been meeting leading eastern teams in intersectional clashes since 1924 and has played home and home games with Navy, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, and Pennsylvania.

Only once in its long football history has a Yale team played in the central states. Yale played the Maroons in Chicago in 1932. The game ended in a 7 to 7 tie.

Tedesco Will Beat Scrivani, Says Expert

"Tommy Tedesco will beat Andy Scrivani as sure as I'm standing here."

That's what Kid Howard Carr, veteran Chicago boxing promoter, predicted yesterday during a debate on the merits of the 19 year old Niagara Falls, N. Y., altar boy, and Scrivani, who meet in the finals of the National Golden Gloves tournament at Chicago Stadium next Wednesday night. The winner of this lightweight contest and the victors in the seven other weight divisions will represent the United States in the Olympic boxing meet at Berlin in August.

"Tedesco will win. He is speedier and punches more accurately that Scrivani," said Kid Howard, who promoted Jack Dempsey's first match in this part of the country at Fort Sheridan and at one time managed Jess Willard, former champion.

However, there are many who think otherwise.

Scrivani, 1935 Chicago Golden Gloves featherweight champion, competed as a lightweight in this year's Tournament of Champions at the Stadium. Apparently below form, he lost to Pete Lello of Michigan City, Ind., who continued on to the championship. In qualifying for the Olympic finals in the two day competition at the International Amphitheater last week, Scrivani displayed his old fighting spirit and ability. Lello was eliminated by Tedesco at the amphitheater.

Aurora amateur boxers tonight will meet a team of Chicago representatives in a series of fights at Northwest stadium, Irving Park boulevard and Milwaukee avenue. Among the matches will be those between Pat Heneghan, Chicago junior welterweight, and Willie Lorenz, Aurora; Vince Pellegrini, Chicago featherweight, and Harry Peck, Aurora; Izzy Janik, Chicago heavyweight, and Mon Polick, Aurora, and Ed Shapiro, Chicago flyweight, and Vern Bailey, Aurora.

Leo Lomski, Seattle, Wash., veteran, probably will appear in a five round semi-final to the headliner involving Jack Kranz and Charley Belanger at Marigold Gardens Monday. . . . Pat McCleary, eastern heavyweight wrestler, and Art Van Saxon, California, have been signed to meet at Arcadia Gardens next Wednesday. Ali Baba will make his first Chicago appearance as the division champion in the windup with Walter Podolak.

Max Marek, Chicago heavyweight, is to open hard training this afternoon at C. Y. O. center for his ten round bout with Johnny Erjavec at Chicago arena May 27. Efforts are being made to match Mickey Patrick with Joe Mendoza or Red Johnson, and Al Nettlow with Billy Sullivan in two of three contests at six rounds. Two matches at four rounds also are planned. . . . Tony Herrera, El Paso, Tex., lightweight, and Adolph Wiater, Green Bay, Wis., heavyweight, will leave tomorrow for contests at Louisville and Green Bay next week. Herrera is matched to face Johnny Durso at Louisville Monday and Wiater is to oppose Mickey Dugan at Green Bay Wednesday.

San Francisco, Cal., May 14.—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody left tonight for New York ostensibly to exhibit oil paintings next week, but friends of the tennis star believe her ultimate destination is Wimbledon, England, scene of her spectacular comeback triumph last year over Helen Jacobs.

Mrs. Moody parried questions on the subject of defending her all-English net crown, saying, "I will make up my mind while in the east. Really, I haven't decided on going abroad although I should like to."

THE BATTLE OF THE BEERS AND DREWRYS ALE

What is happening in beer-flooded America is certainly of life and death importance to the beer brewers. But it ought to be of considerable importance to the beer drinkers.

America is being flooded with cheaper and cheaper priced beers.

Whether this means poorer and poorer beers is up to the drinker to decide.

★ ★ ★

Beer, after all, starts with the basic commodities of malt and hops, plus water. And the genius for brewing them.

But what happens to the percentages of malt and hops and water as prices drop is anybody's guess.

The disturbing thing to the drinker is that the old National Brewing strongholds of known quality have been most furiously attacked, and some of them, in price structure at least, have fallen.

★ ★ ★

It is time—and this is said merely with a gesture of good will—it is time that the drinkers of America have a better understanding of what these few comparatively well known beers have meant throughout a long, long past in maintaining the beer quality of America.

★ ★ ★

As for Drewrys Ale—it is not in price competition anywhere in America. And therefore, it has no axe to grind.

Drewrys is the finest possible ale that money can produce, and the drinker who orders it expects it to have the quality that he desires.

Drewrys has no problem. Of the hundred and forty-seven cheaper ales that came into our markets a year or two ago, very few are left.

So when it comes to the drinking of ale, the public does want quality—and can more easily recognize quality.

★ ★ ★

But beers are another matter. Beer is a weaker drink, a lighter-bodied drink, and the standard of quality, at first, is much more easily confused.

In our beer drinking right now it is not a bad idea to stick to known names where, for half to three-quarters of a century, we have had known quality.

TIGERS HELD TO 5 HITS; RED SOX TRIUMPH, 3 TO 1

Lefty Grove Wins Duel with Auker.

Detroit, Mich., May 14.—(AP)—Robert Moses Grove, left handed ace of the Boston pitching staf, tamed the Detroit Tigers with five hits for the second time this season today as the Red Sox won, 3 to 1, to take the series, two games to one.

Elden Auker held Boston to seven hits in the eight innings he worked, but two of them were damaging two base drives by Heine Manush.

Manush's double in the first inning scored Cramer, who had walked and stolen second. His second opened the fourth, and Manush scored on Jimmie Foxx's single. Foxx went to second on the throw and scored when Auker picked up Eric McNair's bunt and threw past Jack Burns at first base.

Gerald Walker appeared in center field for the Tigers, replacing Al Simmons, who developed a lame left shoulder as the result of a collision with Charlie Gehringer in practice last Sunday. Walker responded by pounding out two doubles, the first of which scored Goose Goslin in the second.

Sox Score Without a Hit in Ninth to Beat Senators

Stratton Goes Into Swoon.

The home second and third each produced a run for the Sox. Appling scored in the second after leading off with a single. In the third successive singles by Haas, Walker, and Bonura notched the run.

Here is the record of Stratton's amazing swoon under a 10 to 1 lead in the first of the fourth inning: Travis and Reynolds walked and Kuhel singled to center, scoring Travis. Bolton singled to center, scoring Reynolds. Linke doubled to the scoreboard in left center, scoring Kuhel and Bolton. Miles furnished the first out with a grounder to Piet. Lewis walked. Myer's bouncer went past Dykes into left for a single, scoring Linke. At this point Dykes decided Stratton had lost his effectiveness and called in Brown. Stone and Travis were retired, thanks to some inspired fielding by Bonura which reduced potential doubles to putouts.

Drive Brown to Cover.

Reynolds opened the fifth with a double and scored on a double by Kuhel. Bolton sent an easy grounder to Appling, who threw the ball away, putting runners on first and third. Kress batted for Linke and hit into a double play, Kuhel scoring. Miles and Lewis followed with singles, but the inning ended when Haas made a running catch of Myer's drive to right center.

Stone opened the sixth with a triple to the center field wall and scored on Travis' single to center. Again Manager Dykes suspected the pitching on his side wasn't effective and replaced Brown with Evans. Reynolds was safe at first when Appling fumbled an easy grounder. Kuhel doubled to right, scoring Travis with the tying run. Bolton was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Appleton hit into a double play, Appling to Sewell to Bonura. Miles popped to Appling.

Senators Go Ahead.

The Senators went ahead, 11 to 10, after two were out in the eighth. Bolton doubled to right and scored on Appleton's single to right. Appleton, incidentally, made two hits all last year in the International league. Miles grounded to Bonura.

The Sox broke their chain of four scoreless innings by counting twice in the eighth. Appling opened with a single to right and Piet doubled to left. Dykes singled to left, scoring Appling. Piet was sent home on what probably could be termed a boner by the third base coach, but it worked out all right. Bolton got Travis' good throw in plenty of time to retire Tony, but wasn't content simply for a tag out. Bolton tried to put a flying mare on Piet and dropped the ball, Tony diving to the plate with the run that put the Sox ahead 12 to 11.

Bolton was knocked cold in the wrestling maneuver and was replaced by Millies as Marberry replaced Appleton on the mound. Lewis threw out Sewell, Evans flied to Miles and Travis threw out Kreevich.

Lewis Ties It.

Lewis tied the score with his first major league homer to start the ninth. Myer walked and again Dykes had the thought that his pitching wasn't the best. Kennedy replaced Evans and walked Stone on four pitches. The runners moved up on Travis' sacrifice. Piet made a great one handed leaping catch of Reynolds' looper over second and the bases were filled with an intentional pass to Kuhel. Millies was called out on strikes after missing a left field double by inches when the ball curved foul.

Then came the aforesaid ending which was in such perfect keeping with the clownish character of the day's proceedings.

White Sox Will Send Sugar Cain Against Yankees

Sugar Cain, who was received from the St. Louis Browns in the trade for Les Tietje, will pitch for the White Sox today in the opening game of the series with the New York Yankees at Comiskey park.

Lefty Gomez or Johnny Broaca will pitch for the Yankees.

Pitcher Whit Wyatt, who came to the White Sox from the Detroit Tigers several years ago in a swap for Vic Frasier, yesterday was released to Kansas City on option. The Sox now are down to the player limit effective at midnight tonight. Trades can be made without waivers until June 15, but the Sox at present are contemplating none.

The Giants' attack during the first three innings was exactly the same as that of the Cubs. One enemy reached base. After three had dropped in order before Warneke in the first, Ott opened the second with a dribbling single to English. Nothing of consequence followed. Leiber popped foul to Hack. Mancusco flied to Klein after which Ott was out trying to steal second. Warneke then dispatched three of the Giants in succession in the third.

Warneke Hits Wild Streak.

Before becoming afflicted with the streak of wildness that cost him a run in the fourth inning, Warneke got Moore out of the way on a fly to Galan. Trouble blossomed when Whitehead walked but this was reduced somewhat when Terry rolled into a force out. Ott walked, mainly because Warneke couldn't refrain from thinking about the little fellow's habit of slapping homers into the nearby seats. Then Leiber did the heavy work. He pummeled a line single over short to score Terry. The situation eased up when Galan took Mancuso's fly.

The Cubs came through with a hit in the fifth, but this merely evened up with the Giants' total. Hack singled to left with two out, thus making himself the second Chicagoan to reach base. He died stealing. Then in the sixth the Cubs suffered extensively because two hits availed them nothing. English led off with a single to left and was forced on Warneke's bunt. Galan beat out a scratch on which Hubbell fell down. The two men advanced on Herman's bounder to Terry. Klein then took a hand but died on two swings and a third strike, at which he didn't swing.

Error, Pass Lead to Run.

The Giants came up with their third hit off Warneke in the sixth, but it was mixed with an error and a pass for a run. Moore produced the hit, a single to left with none out. White bunted to Hack and Moore should have been out at second, but the throw pulled English off the bag. Terry shoved his two employés along by bunting. Ott was accorded an intentional pass, filling the bases, whereupon Leiber sent a fly to Demaree, Moore scoring. Mancuso also flied to Demaree for the third out.

Misery began to spread for Warneke in the three run seventh when Jackson beat out a bunt. Jackson went to third on Bartell's bunt and Hubbell's roller to Cavarretta. Moore was purposely passed. Whitehead grounded to English for what should have been the third out, but Woody let the ball seep through his paws, Jackson scoring and Moore sprinting to third. Terry cracked Warneke's first pitch for a single to center, Moore counting. Ott doubled past Cavarretta and Whitehead ran home. Then Leiber walked and English threw out Mancuso.

Cubs Hurry Off to Philadelphia; Lee Pitches Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 14.—The Cubs hurried from the Polo grounds to the station to catch an early train for Philadelphia, where they'll be detained for only two days. Bill Lee will pitch tomorrow's opener with the Phils, this being his first attempt since injuring his right ankle in a game with the Boston Bees on May 7.

Casey Stengel, the funny man who manages the still funnier Brooklyn Dodgers, is willing to give away one of his pitchers, his ace, Van Lingle Mungo, excepted. For instance, Stengel says he'll give the Cubs Fred Frankhouse, but for nothing less than Frank Demaree or Chuck Klein. That's too much for Manager Grimm.

After having his pocket frisked of $393 at Chicago, Lon Warneke ran into some more bad news. The money wasters have served notice on him that he hasn't paid enough income tax.

The atmosphere had a wintry touch, but a bright sun helped to keep the chills from the assemblage of 6,566.

Taste Test No. 7— KENTUCKY DERBY

74% vote for White Owl's Vintage Flavor

LOUISVILLE, KY., MAY 2—Another great Kentucky Derby—and one more victory for White Owl's Vintage flavor . . . a great day for thoroughbreds.

We asked 214 men at the Derby to make a taste test . . . we picked them at random—gave each one two unidentified cigars—a Vintage White Owl and another, representing the leading nationally advertised brands.

The cigars bore no names or familiar bands to prejudice them. Each man smoked both cigars—then indicated the one he liked best. They chose by taste alone . . . for taste is the only thing that really counts in a cigar. 74% preferred Vintage White Owl's mildness.

MORE SMOKING PLEASURE . . . Today's White Owl is a double "best buy." It's a Vintage cigar—and it's larger, too. Look at this actual-size picture. White Owl averages a 10% longer smoke than other widely advertised 5¢ cigars.

Wherever you are, you can get the same mild, uniform Vintage cigar that won these taste tests. It costs but 5¢ at your nearest cigar store.

NECK AND NECK . . . into the finish—thundering hoofs every inch of the way. And up in the stands White Owl was leading by a far greater margin . . . nearly a 3 to 1 vote in favor of Vintage tobacco's fine mildness. Only White Owl assures you of Vintage filler tobaccos in every cigar. It's one cigar that you can depend on.

IN THE PADDOCKS . . . the stands . . . everywhere around the grounds—wherever the tests were made, the majority of smokers were in favor of White Owl's mildness. They liked its mellow fragrance. Lots of them discovered the flavor of Vintage tobacco for the first time—and said they would be White Owl smokers for life.

WOOLF TO RIDE BOLD VENTURE IN PREAKNESS

ride Bold Venture. He's also a far westerner, a great money rider, and if there's any rough stuff going to happen in the Preakness he is fully capable of taking care of himself and also Bold Venture. Woolf became available when Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, who holds his contract, decided not to start her colt, Delphinium, in the Preakness.

The early Preakness wagering tonight indicated that Bold Venture will be the post time favorite at 8 to 5 or 2 to 1 and that Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney's Memory Book may be the second choice.

There's a lot of whispering around about this son of St. Germans-Memento. His public training drills have been sensational. Some private trials have been even better according to the stories circulating everywhere in Baltimore.

Watch Transporter.

The dark horse of the field is Transporter, a son of The Porter-Sun Agnes, owned by Mrs. Marion Dupont Sumerville. It is very easy to discover that a lot of long shot players are going to have their wagers riding on him.

Yes, those noisy Detroiters are here, just as they were at the Derby, praying for rain so that Grand Slam may win the Preakness. Maybe they don't live right, for there isn't a cloud in the skies tonight and the chilly, crisp weather does not smack of moisture.

The Pimlico track was slow today but unless there is a favorable answer to the prayers of the Detroiters it will be lightning fast in a few more hours.

Lean to Opera, Not Fighters, at Preakness

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., May 14.—Do you suppose there is something wrong with Kentucky Derby culture? Out here they open the Preakness week celebration with Lawrence Tibbett, opera singer, as the headliner. Rough and tumble wrestlers and box fighters put it on for Louisville.

"Well, the Irish will breathe easier," remarked Mosie Cossman, Col. E. R. Bradley's betting commissioner, after it was definitly anounced that Bien Joli would not start in the Preakness, and that Bow and Arrow would be the lone Bradley color bearer. "The only reason the Irish didn't go broke on the Kentucky Derby," says Mosie, "was because most of them got a little hot and bothered when they tried to pronounce Bien Joli's name."

Cossman, who is a Chicagoan, believes that Bow and Arrow will give a splendid account of himself in the Preakness. "He's undersized, but every inch of him is horse," Cossman told friends. Col. Bradley and Cossman have headquarters at Belmont Park in New York, but commute to Pimlico to see that Bow and Arrow is doing his Preakness work satisfactorily.

Charley Kurtsinger will be the only jocky in the Preakness who has piloted a horse to victory in this stake. He rode Head Play when that colt triumphed in 1933. He will be aboard Mrs. Silas B. Mason's He Did in Saturday's fixture.

Bow and Arrow, regardless of what he does in the Preakness, will be shipped to Chicago on Monday along with other horses in the E. R. Bradley stable that are trained by William Hurley. Another big stable leaving Maryland Monday for the Hawthorne track is that of A. C. Compton, trained by H. G. Bedwell. Bow and Arrow is to be pointed for the Illinois Derby at Aurora and Chicago Derby at Hawthorne.

Eastern horsemen were rushing in their final payment to the Arlington Park Jocky club offices in Chicago today for the Arlington Futurity and Arlington Lassie stakes. Tomorrow is the deadline for these final payments. Every good 2 year old in the east is eligible for these races.

Pat Nash of Chicago is coming to Pimlico to see the running of the Preakness, but will not have a color bearer in the race. His eligible, Bright Light, was declared out today by Trainer J. J. Greeley.

Turnbull May Ride in British Motorcycle Races

Don Turnbull of Vancouver, holder of all world's indoor flat track motorcycle records, probably will be making his last Chicago start of the season tonight when he competes in the 17 event program at the Chicago arena, 333 East Erie street. The Canadian champion has been weighing an offer to ride in London, England, and Glasgow, Scotland, where the outstanding motorcyclists in Europe will compete in a series of championship races. He is entered in five races tonight.

what happened. Gallant Fox in 1930, Burgoo King in 1932, and Omaha in 1935 were repeaters. In 1931 Mate won the Preakness with Twenty Grand second. Twenty Grand took the Derby with Mate third. In 1933 Brokers Tip won the Derby in a rough riding finish from Head Play. Head Play romped home in the Preakness with Brokers Tip last in a field of ten. Cavalcade took the 1934 Derby rather easily, but lost by a nose to his stablemate, High Quest, in the Preakness. The latter did not start in the Derby nor Arlington Classic, which Cavalcade subsequently won.

"Unto the Least of These."

[Dedicated to M. C.]

I saw her on a bitter winter's morning
Scattering crums before her humble door;
The shivering sparrows came in little eddies
And gratefully pecked the welcome saving store.

Another time I saw her placing food
And bidding a discouraged weary roamer

Forgetting not the lowliest in their woe—
I've often thought what wondrous things must wait

Scales of Justice?

Harve: Now about these rough riding finishes. Brokers Tip won the Kentucky Derby of 1933 because Jocky Don Meade fouled Head Play. When they next met Head Play won and Brokers Tip was way back. Top Row won the Santa Anita handicap because Cowboy Wright bumped Time Supply out of it. The next time he ran Top Row was far behind.

CROWS BEST AS TARGET DURING NESTING SEASON

BY BOB BECKER.

If hunters want to burn shotgun powder while having some fun with flying birds there is nothing to equal a crow hunt at this time of year. And the time is right because the big "black birds" that are enemies of our song and game birds are nesting.

Another pleasure of a crow hunt during the next few weeks is to be found in the beauty of the woods, where spring flowers to delight the eye may be seen.

On our first crow hunt of the season at the Tribune Experimental farm, we found some of the birds are just starting to nest while others had well feathered young in the nest. Inasmuch as the oak trees have not developed all their leaves it was possible to spot nests quite easily.

Can Be Called.

When we go on a crow hunt to get both old and young birds we invariably start off by using a crow call to see if we can get shots at the old birds.

The other morning this system worked perfectly. At the very first blast from the caller a couple of birds gave us a swing. One was in range and we dropped it.

After one has tried to decoy old birds for sporty wing shooting through the tree tops the next step is to raid nests in order to destroy nests, eggs, and young.

Although one does not need a crow caller or an artificial owl decoy to conduct a nest raiding expedition it is more fun to use a call, bring the grown birds around and thus get wing shooting in the timber.

One Party Kills 59.

Lee Gould of Chicago wrote us that his party of four crow hunters killed 59 crows last Sunday morning. Most of these were rooks, though some old birds were killed. This result provided a good example of what crow raiding parties can do in the woods to destroy these birds—birds far too numerous for the good of song and game birds.

To hunt crows at this time of the year, when they can be decoyed quite easily, is not only sport but also a conservation measure, as bird authorities have pointed out many times.

The Chicago chapter of the Izaak Walton league is urging sportsmen to go crow hunting this spring and has figured out a novel way to stimulate the sport. On May 19 officials of the chapter say they will release 50 crows, each banded with the league's emblem. If a crow shooter should kill one of these banded birds and return the band to the chapter he will receive a $5 bill.

IT MAY ANNOY MR. HOWARD, BUT SHERRON IS FIRST

When the news that a 5 year old thoroughbred called Sherron won yesterday's fourth race at Aurora drifts down into the blue grass country of Kentucky, a little man named Jack Howard will begin once more to go through the sad routine of shaking his head and gnashing his teeth, an event that has become more or less habitual with him during the last two years.

For two seasons back Jack Howard, then known on every race track as one of the shrewdest of American trainers, in a moment of pique over the horse's contrary disposition offered to give him to any one who would lead him away. Another trainer, Bryant Ott, took him up on the unusual proposition. And since that time Sherron, although he has brought misfortune to some of the owners to whom he was passed on, has been winning enough purses to make him one of the more valuable members of the plater brigade.

No Whip for Sherron.

Yesterday Sherron was carrying the blue and white silks of John Oros of Aurora when he went to the post for the mile and a sixteenth fourth race. George Rukas, Aurora apprentice rider, was in the saddle. He had orders not to touch Sherron with his whip under any circumstances lest he sulk and quit as he invariably does when subjected to punishment.

Rukas obeyed orders to the letter. Sherron trailed far back in the field of nine for the first six furlongs, with Golden X and King Pin alternating in the making of the pace, but the youngster kept his whip gripped in his right hand, despite the temptation to swing it. In the stretch Sherron began to run up over horses on the outside. At the three-sixteenth pole he was second, and at the wire he had come on to hold a half length advantage over George Smith's Potion, with Golden X third in a race run in 1:47 1-5 over the fast track.

Regulars Back Him; Pays $11.20.

Although Sherron had not been close in his last seven starts, the regulars in the crowd of 5,000 at Aurora seemed to know that he was due for a good effort yesterday. Enough of them backed him to knock his mutuel price down to $11.20.

Sherron's history began to differ from that of a normal race horse at the Arlington meeting in Chicago in 1934. Trainer Jack Howard thought him quite a prospect until the afternoon the horse ran another of his inexplainable bad races. Howard gave him away immediately after the race. When the stewards came to question him as to the reason for Sherron's failure he referred them to the horse's new owner, Bryant Ott.

Owner Ott Suspended.

Ott had little luck with him, either, although he managed to win a few races. At Sportsman's Park that fall a saliva test revealed that Sherron had been given a stimulant, and Ott was given a long suspension by the Illinois racing commission. Last year, however, Sherron won seven races and $5,460, a considerable sum for a horse of his sort. Yesterday's victory was his third this year.

Long shots dominated the running of the early races at Aurora yesterday. Harry Herendeen's Countess Bye, a daughter of Reigh Count, won the mile and seventy yards first race to pay $26.40.

Daily Double Returns $151.40.

The choices made a comeback in the third. E. K. Bryson's well backed More Poise returned only $6.40 after he had beaten Scotland Topsy and Valiant Boy. The winning daily double combination of Homer L. and More Poise paid $151.40.

The fifth race, which went to W. F. Black's Ep, saw the fastest five and one-half furlongs of the meeting. The 7 year old mare, under a hustling ride by Apprentice Charley Parke, ran the distance in 1:05 4-5. Busy Spain was second and Capt. Nadi third. Ep paid $3.60.

Because all your husband's relatives are bald, don't think he is destined to be bald too. "Baldness is usually the result of nothing more serious than neglect. Baldness is not hereditary," says Charles Nessler, famous inventor of the Permanent Wave. "No son need lose his hair simply because his father is bald."
Years of research on thousands of human heads, brought to light the facts of Charles Nessler's hair cycle theory—namely, that hair grows, falls out, is replaced. You can no more stop hair from falling than you can stop an animal from shedding. Adopt the natural, easy Pro-Ker Treatment.
Applied regularly, Pro-Ker helps nature to complete the hair-growing cycle—stimulates your scalp to replace new hair for every hair that falls!

INT. HARVESTER EMPLOYS MOST MEN IN HISTORY

Business Improving, McAllister Says.

New York, May 14.—[Special.]—Sydney G. McAllister, president of the International Harvester company, today told stockholders at the annual meeting that the company has 53,000 employés on its pay rolls in the United States, an increase of 7,300 in number over last year. In 1929 employés of the company in this country totaled 47,800.

S. G. McALLISTER.

The number of workers on the pay rolls is now the largest in the company's history. The increase over 1929 is due in part to the reduction in working hours. Most of the company's workers are now on a forty hour week, while in 1929 they were working fifty hours a week. At the low point in 1932 the number of employés sank to 18,900.

Reports Business Improving.

McAllister said that "business is considerably better than a year ago." In countries south of the equator, he said, trade is "coming up very nicely, and north of the equator, while there are uncertainties, business is better than last year."

American farmers, he asserted, are in an optimistic frame of mind, but agriculture is in a difficult situation because the farmer has not been getting prices for his products high enough to compensate for the upturn in goods which he buys.

During the depression years, McAllister said, farmers restricted their implement purchases but in their present frame of mind they are buying more.

Questioned on Federal Quiz.

McAllister was questioned on the resolution recently introduced in congress calling for a federal trade commission investigation of farm implement prices. He made only a brief comment, saying that "it will give an opportunity to study the farm implement industry."

Stockholders reëlected all directors of the company. Effective this year, it was announced, the company's fiscal year will end Oct. 31, instead of Dec. 31 as heretofore. The change was made, stockholders were informed, because operations of the company in various parts of the world are conducted on a fiscal year basis with the result that considerable confusion was created in making up the figures at the end of the calendar year.

AIRPLANE MAKER REPORTS RECORD UNFILLED ORDERS

Unfilled orders of the Douglas Aircraft Co., Inc., manufacturers of airplanes and parts, on April 10 totaled $19,918,500, which is said to be the largest amount of forward orders carried by any aircraft manufacturer in the history of the industry, the company reported yesterday.

The company had a profit of $18,185 after charges but before provision for federal income taxes for the quarter ended Feb. 29 as compared with a net profit of $340,297, equal to 73 cents a share, for the same period in 1935.

Consolidated net income of the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation for the first quarter of 1936 was $6,367,779, equal to 40 cents a share, against $5,081,617, equal to 28 cents a share, in the corresponding 1935 period.

American Rolling Mill company reported first quarter net income of $743,901, equal to 34 cents a share on 2,072,512 shares outstanding, as compared with $1,371,474, equal to 78 cents a share on 1,710,776 shares outstanding in the first quarter of 1935.

Reo Motor Car company had a consolidated net loss of $195,366 in the first quarter against a net profit of $10,620 in the first 1935 quarter.

SHARE INCREASE VOTED BY KRESS STOCKHOLDERS

New York, May 14.—(AP)—Stockholders of S. H. Kress & Co., at the annual meeting today at Eddyville, N. Y., voted to authorize an increase in the number of authorized common shares to 2,500,000 from 1,500,000 now outstanding.

Stockholders also voted to exchange the 1,178,787 issued shares and the 34,217 unissued shares reserved for sale to employés for new common on a two for one basis.

Another proposal which received approval was one to change the location of offices of the company from Eddyville to New York City. Retiring directors were reëlected.

Stocks Forge Ahead on New Buying Wave

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 14.—After threatening to stall in recent sessions, the stock market slipped effortlessly into high gear today. A vigorous buying movement resulted in the most bullish performance of the month. From A to Z the entire list merrily spun ahead for gains of 1 to 4 points, with some of the more volatile shares being advanced as much as 7 points.

Dealings expanded on the upturn as fears of the speculative fraternity diminished somewhat over developments in Washington, where the inflationary bloc in congress suffered a rousing reverse with the defeat of the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage measure.

Regard Market Oversold.

However, according to observers it was the oversold condition of the list itself that was mainly responsible for the betterment. When buying of any volume made its appearance the offerings on the upside were thin. In the early part of the session trading was moderate, but bids kept ahead of offers with the result that prices steadily strengthened and later proceedings found the market in a decidedly bullish tempo.

Total transactions for the session amounted to 1,395,230 shares, the first time this week that the million share mark has been crossed and well over double the preceding day's volume.

Another factor that was given some credit for the better feeling was a report that the federal reserve board was considering a reduction in the strict margin requirements. This rumor was later denied.

"Blue Chips" Strongest.

Especially buoyant today were the so-called blue chip issues. Westinghouse scored the largest gain in the list—7 points. Allied Chemical advanced 4 points, American Can moved up 1½, General Electric was up a like amount, and Owens Glass gained 5 points.

American Telephone, which is recovering from the weakening effects of the inquiry into its affairs at Washington, climbed 5⅛ points and Western Union moved up 4¼.

Motor shares moved ahead, with Chrysler gained 3⅛ points. General Motors, Packard, Nash, White, and Yellow Truck scored more modest advances.

Steel shares were up 1 to 3 points with the best gains being recorded in United States Steel, Bethlehem, and Crucible. Oils, metals, foods, rail equipments, and auto accessories moved up 1 to 2 points.

Arrangements were made today for the sale of a membership on the New York Stock exchange for $110,000, an increase of $9,000 over the previous transaction, announced yesterday.

U. S. JUDGE RULES SEC CAN'T MAKE BROKER TESTIFY—BUT IT HAS

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday upheld the contention of Grinnell F. Oliver, La Salle street securities broker, that the Securities and Exchange commission had no power to compel him to testify last December in connection with his selling of stock of Mid-Continent Income Shares, Inc.

The ruling gave small comfort to Oliver, however, because Judge Barnes ruled that inasmuch as he had testified his testimony is admissible in the proceedings brought by the SEC to restrain further sales because of alleged misrepresentation.

Oliver's attorney, Charles Rundall, in asking that the court suppress the testimony, said that the SEC had engaged in "kangaroo court practices."

"The court is of the opinion," Judge Barnes said in a memorandum, "that Oliver could not, under the law, have been compelled to testify before the Securities and Exchange commission had he refused to do so. The court is further of the opinion that, since Oliver did testify before the commission, his testimony is admissible against him, as an admission against interest in this civil proceeding."

REPORT BRITAIN WARNS AGAINST GERMAN CREDITS

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 14.—There is good reason to believe banks and insurance companies in London have been warned by high official quarters to abstain from giving fresh credits to Germany and to recall discreetly wherever possible money from that country as a new and severe financial breakdown is apprehended.

Apparently Hjalmar Schacht's desperate efforts to stem the tide of economic ruin caused by the immense expenditure for armaments have failed. Rumors of the impending bankruptcy of the Hitler régime have been rife here for some time. Disruptive processes evidently are expected to develop with increasing rapidity in the coming summer months.

Possibly the advice now given is also intended to create pressure upon Germany to reply more favorably to the terms of the British questionnaire now officially presented to Hitler.

Springfield, Ill., May 14.—(AP)—The Illinois commerce commission today reported that consumption of electricity in the state last month was 8.7 per cent ahead of that for April, 1935. Twelve utility companies doing 98 per cent of the state's total electric business reported having sold 507,431,837 kilowatt hours, compared with 466,799,988 a year ago. Total sales outside Chicago were 19 per cent above April, 1935.

Reserves Rise in Banks on Gold Imports

The American banking system continued last week to feel the effects of the financial crisis in France. A stream of gold poured into New York during the week as apprehensive Frenchmen made further transfers of capital from Paris.

The weekly statement of the federal reserve system released last night showed an addition to American monetary gold stocks of 54 million dollars during the week. This brought the total imports for the last fortnight to 81 millions.

The reserve statement covered the week ended Wednesday. A report also released yesterday by the Bank of France for the week ended May 8 showed a shrinkage of 181 million dollars in gold reserve.

Bank's Reserves Rise Sharply.

The gold imports, coupled with disbursements of funds by the United States treasury, were reflected immediately in the banking system by a sharp expansion in reserve funds. Total reserves of banks belonging to the system rose 79 million dollars. Surplus reserves, representing the excess over legal requirements, were up 70 millions to 2,770 million, the highest level in several months.

Incoming gold goes directly to the treasury and the banks to which the metal is sent receive credit for it. The statement of the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago showed a gain of 25 million in holdings of gold certificates.

Federal Spending Also Factor.

Of secondary importance in forcing the expansion in bank reserves was the spending of the federal treasury. Treasury balances with the central banks of the reserve system rose sharply six weeks ago when the government floated new securities and have been declining since that time. Last week these balances fell 14 million dollars. Funds disbursed by the treasury find their way back to member banks in the form of deposits.

Brokers' loans of New York commercial banks fell 55 million dollars during the week. Underwriting dealers have been borrowing heavily in securities in recent weeks in connection with the floatation of new securities. Retirement of these loans is made as soon as the securities are disposed of by dealers.

Heavy Construction Awards Run Well Above Year Ago

Of this week's total, $5,440,000 was for private building, against $9,688,000 a year ago, while $24,817,000 was for public, against $11,992,000 in the like week last year.

CANADA HELPED MORE THAN U. S. BY TRADE PACT

Rise in Our Imports Tops Export Gain.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—American imports of Canadian goods in March showed a gain, compared with 1935, more than three times as great as the increase for the same period in American exports to the dominion, according to the detailed monthly foreign trade report released today by the department of commerce. The American favorable trade balance with the dominion was reduced to $1,047,000 for the month, compared with $5,418,000 in the corresponding month last year.

The trend revealed in U. S.-Canadian trade was regarded as significant in view of assertions made at the time of the adoption of the new trade treaty between the two countries that the agreement leaned heavily to the advantage of Canada. The treaty went into effect Jan. 1.

Canada Sells More to U. S.

Since that time American imports of many Canadian products have been increasing. The lower tarif on cattle has brought an expansion in such imports.

March exports to Canada totaled $27,356,000, an increase of $1,747,000 over March, 1935. Imports from Canada aggregated $26,309,000, an increase of $6,118,000 over last year.

As previously reported the United States' total foreign trade for March showed an unfavorable balance. Exports to all countries were $194,792,000 and imports were $198,686,000. In March, 1935, the United States had a favorable balance with total exports of $185,026,000 and imports of $177,356,000.

Comparison of Export Sales.

Exports to South American countries were down slightly in March from a year ago, today's report showed, while sales of American goods to Asia, including Japan, were higher than a year ago. Exports to all other major areas also gained.

Exports to Asia were $32,570,000, against $32,263,000 last year. South America bought $15,438,000 of American goods, against purchases of $16,981,000 in the corresponding month a year ago. Exports to European countries were $82,932,000 compared with $76,461,000.

	March, 1935.	March, 1936.
Canada	$25,609,000	$27,356,000
France	7,661,000	8,388,000
Germany	6,247,000	9,187,000
Italy	6,947,000	5,891,000
Japan	14,744,000	16,401,000
Russia	1,804,000	4,218,000
United Kingdom	29,453,000	32,012,000

Canada	20,191,000	26,309,000
France	4,646,000	5,385,000
Germany	6,362,000	6,490,000
Italy	2,901,000	2,812,000
Japan	12,634,000	12,670,000

France Loses 181 Millions Gold in Week; Largest of Year

Gold lost by the Bank of France in the week ended May 8 was the largest amount for any week this year, according to the bank's statement issued yesterday. The movement of gold to other countries after the leftist victory in the recent elections totaled 2,739,000,000 francs, or $181,689,000.

The week's loss meant a total reduction of 6,670,000,000 francs, or $506,220,000, since last March 20, and placed the bank's present reserve at 58,029,000,000 francs, or $3,849,296,000, a loss of 27 per cent within a year.

Financial authorities pointed out that the bank was still busy supplying treasury funds, and warned that failure to restrict credit might lead to inflation.

Discounts Show Big Gain.

Discounts expanded by more than 2,000,000 francs last week to a total of 17,088,000,000 francs, which compared with only 3,753,000,000 francs a year ago. Note circulation continued to recede, dropping 150,000,000 francs to a total of 83,988,000,000 francs, but the gold ratio dipped to 62.33 per cent from 64.85 per cent in the preceding week.

The statement for the seven day period ended tomorrow and to be released next Thursday is expected to show that the flight of gold from France has fallen off to a mere trickle, as the advance of the franc in the interim has arrested gold shipments for either American or British account.

Yesterday the franc continued to rise, gaining ¼ point at 6.60¼ cents, and reducing the value of the American dollar against francs to 100.47 cents from 100.51 cents Wednesday. Dutch guilders rose above the level at which gold shipments are profitable by gaining 6 points at 67.68 cents. Swiss francs were about at the level at which gold shipments from Switzerland are profitable despite a rise of 3 points. The pound sterling eased ¾ cent to $4.96⅛.

British Circulation Rises.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England, also released yesterday, showed a new all-time peak in British note circulation, which was attributed to hoarding of English money, ostensibly by citizens of gold bloc countries.

A peak of £424,790,000 in Britain's note circulation passes the former top of £424,500,000 recorded at Christmas time last year. The total has been rising ever since the European monetary situation became unsettled.

The mounting circulation is making a new problem for the Bank of England, which, in order to preserve an equitable ratio of reserves to liabilities, has been building up its gold hoard. Last week the bank added £642,000 to its stock of the metal, sending the total to £205,102,000, the largest on record.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported the arrival of $18,427,200 gold from France, $2,234,500 from India, and $153,500 from England. It also reported the arrival as additional for Wednesday of $11,454,300 from France. Receipts for the week ended on Wednesday totaled $50,899,000, of which $44,980,000 came from France, $3,032,000 from India, $2,100,000 from Colombia, $556,000 from England, and $231,000 from Russia. In the week $1,050,000 net was placed under earmark for foreign account.

BANK CLEARINGS DECLINE; STILL EXCEED YEAR AGO

New York, May 14.—[Special.]—Bank clearings in the country as a whole for the week ended May 13 continued to show gains over last year. The total was $5,219,359,000, compared with $4,723,368,000 for the corresponding week of last year, an increase of 10.5 per cent, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. The spread in the previous week was 6.9 per cent.

The combined total for the last week, however, was down $1,451,989,000 when contrasted with the figures for the preceding period. A year ago, for the corresponding two weeks, a drop of $1,519,549,000 was recorded.

Wallace Zwiener Elected President of Hupp Motor

Detroit, Mich., May 14.—[Special.]—Wallace Zwiener, former vice president and treasurer of Hupp Motor Car corporation, today was elected president by the board of directors. The directors considered plans for additional financing, and reopening of the plant which has been closed since January. No decision has been reached as to whether financing will be arranged through sale of certain of the corporation's property. The annual report will probably be issued in a week or ten days.

REPORT U. S. WILL LEND $25,000,000 TO CHINA; OFFICIALS ARE SILENT

SHANGHAI, May 14.—(AP)—Chinese financial circles here reported today that recently completed Sino-American financial discussions in Washington had resulted in an agreement whereby the United States will extend a $25,000,000 loan to China. The money would be in United States dollars. Government officials remained silent on the report.

U. S. Officials Won't Comment.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—(AP)—Treasury officials declined comment today on reports in Chinese financial circles that the United States had agreed to extend a $25,000,000 loan to China.

In recent press conferences Secretary Morgenthau has reported only "accelerated progress" in financial discussions here between representatives of the two countries. These discussions have been mainly with the treasury's division of research and statistics, with frequent talks also with Wayne C. Taylor, assistant secretary in charge of fiscal affairs.

The Chinese delegation, attended by treasury officials, called on President Roosevelt yesterday. This is a courtesy customary for foreign delegations winding up official missions in this country.

BILLION DOLLAR FEDERAL LOAN EXPECTED SOON

Maturity and Bonus Force Borrowing.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Another billion dollar refinancing program for the treasury during June was indicated today. A possibility that the total might even reach 1½ billion was suggested by some observers.

Secretary Morgenthau must refinance $686,616,400 of 1½ per cent notes maturing on June 15, and there is speculation in informed quarters as to whether he may seek at the same time enough cash to meet maturities of $374,138,000 on Aug. 1. This would call for total refinancing of $1,050,754,400, but with soldiers' bonus payments forthcoming it is believed that the treasury may decide to add at least half a billion in new cash borrowings.

Building Up Cash Balance.

The treasury is engaged in building up its cash balance, anticipating payment of the bonus. Bill borrowing has been increased from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 weekly.

On May 12, the last date available, the treasury's cash balance was $2,379,461,243 and the so-called working balance $1,931,480,935. It was believed that the secretary planned to maintain his working balance at about $2,500,000,000, in view of cash requirements for the bonus. Initial bonus cash and bonds will be mailed June 15, and it is believed that the bulk of the cash bonus payments will be liquidated by Aug. 1.

A part of the new financing is expected to be in bonds, and interest rates are expected to be favorable to the treasury. The recent substantial increase in the rate on short term treasury bills is not expected to have important influence on the long term security rate.

Will Eliminate "Padding."

The treasury announced that future borrowings will be accompanied by a rigid scrutiny of all bids, with a definite point of eliminating or reducing those which definitely seem "padded"—that is, bids for much larger blocks of the new securities

DURABLE GOODS INDUSTRY MAKES SPEEDIER GAINS

Recovery Rate Exceeds Other Lines, Says Ayres.

The durable goods industry is now making a much better showing in the recovery movement than is the consumers goods industry, Col. Leonard P. Ayres, Cleveland banker and economist, said yesterday in his monthly review of business conditions. He explained that since the low time of the depression in 1932 production in the durable goods industry has increased 143 per cent as compared with only 18 per cent for the nondurable goods industry, pay rolls of the former have advanced 98 per cent compared with 37 per cent, and employment 47 per cent compared with 21 per cent.

Col. Ayres' favorable reports on the durable goods industry recalls his difference last spring with Gen. Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the board of the City National Bank and Trust company, over the general's predictions that the steel industry—one of the great strongholds of the capital goods industry—was about to lead the country out of the depression. The colonel in the early spring months of 1935 was not quite so hopeful regarding the outlook as Gen. Dawes.

Drags Out King Sisyphus.

However, the Cleveland economist in August, after steel had made a noteworthy advance, was much more cheerful. He dragged the crafty and wicked King Sisyphus out of mythology to illustrate the improvement that was occurring. King Sisyphus, it will be recalled, after he had escaped from Hades following his death, was condemned by the gods eternally to roll a bowlder uphill, only to have it roll back each time before reaching the top.

Writing last summer, Col. Ayres said, "Our struggles against the depression have resembled the labors of Sisyphus, for most of the gains were promptly lost again. This summer for the first time we have been able to hold most of our recent gains."

Construction Is Lagging.

After citing the larger rates of gain made by the durable goods industry since 1932 in production, pay rolls, and employment, he said:

"Clearly the advance in consumer purchasing power is not resulting in any corresponding increase in employment among workers making consumer goods. It is still true that a serious proportion of our present unemployment continues to be concentrated in the durable goods industries, and especially in the construction. Nevertheless, the recovery advances that are making the best progress in the manufacturing industries are those of the durable goods activities."

Col. Ayres said that the laggard recovery of construction constitutes the least favorable factor both in the present status of general business activity and in the prospects for further improvement. While residence building has increased, he said, commercial and industrial construction, and especially construction by public utilities, continues to be greatly restricted.

SHARP EARLY RISE IN LARD PARTLY CANCELED LATER

Short covering, partly in the way of back spreading with cotton seed oil, and relative strength in hogs lifted lard futures rather sharply early yesterday. However, profit taking and pressure attributed to cash interests caused a recession from the top, with the close unchanged to 15 cents higher, the latter on the May option. Deliveries of 100,000 pounds of cash lard were made on May contracts.

Clear bellies [salt pork] closed nominally 12½ to 15 cents lower. Cash lard was quoted at $10.55; loose, $9.87½; leaf, $9.62½, and clear bellies at $13 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds:

PRICES RISE WITH HEAVY BUYING OF COTTON FUTURES

Foreign and domestic buying of cotton futures yesterday was on the largest scale witnessed in some time, and the increased activity was reflected in a sharply higher level of prices. There was no material pressure and the close was at the top with Chicago showing net gains of 8 to 16 points, while other markets were up 3 to 16 points higher. [A point is equal to 1-100 cent]. Spot cotton closed unchanged to 10 points higher, with Houston at 11.70 cents and New Orleans, Galveston, and New York at 11.65 cents per pound. Prices follow:

EGG PRICES HIT NEW LOW; BUTTER DULL, UNCHANGED

October egg contracts on the Mercantile exchange held steady in the early trading yesterday, but eased ⅛ cent later and closed at 22⅞ cents per dozen, a new low on the current downturn. The spot market was ¼ cent lower. Hedgers were regarded as having been the best sellers of futures. Reports of larger country collections of fresh eggs had some effect on sentiment. Sales of futures aggregated 93 cars.

Little attention was paid to the butter market, with the November delivery closing unchanged at 27 cents per pound. Only one car was sold. Spot butter prices were unchanged, with the government buying 27,000 pounds. Prices follow:

RECOVERY PLAN IS PROPOSED BY PROF. SIMPSON

Asserts New Deal Policy Obstructs Prosperity.

Policies of the Hoover administration prolonged the depths of the depression, but those of Roosevelt's New Deal are obstructing recovery, Prof. Herbert D. Simpson, director of the Institute of Public Finance at Northwestern university, asserts in a book entitled "Purchasing Power and Prosperity," published yesterday by the Foundation Press, Inc., Chicago.

Both administrations, Simpson says, interfered with normal processes of recovery—deflation and activities of business enterprise—with the present policies characterized by futile expenditures to promote prosperity. The book points out why government policies have failed and presents certain suggestions for speeding recovery.

Exchange Ability Needed.

Debunking the popular conception of purchasing power as a "lump of something," Simpson says it is really the ability to exchange something, whether that something be money, credit, labor, skill, a cheerful disposition or an amusing physiognomy.

Prosperity depends upon this exchangeability, he says, which is now impeded by government policies, and may be encouraged by the following: First, such flexibility of prices as will permit commodities and services to discover levels at which they will exchange—not necessarily those of 1913 or 1926.

Second, governmental assurance of some form of monetary stability; third, clarification of the government's banking policy; and, fourth, an articulate statement from the administration on the trend of governmental policy in the railroad and public utility fields.

"Chain Letter Pomotion."

The government's inflation policies "are much like pumping gas into the engine before the car has been put into gear," Simpson says. He likens the government's expenditure policy, adopted from John Maynard Keynes, British economist, to the "chain letter" promotion which mathematically brings cumulating wealth to all participants. He points out that socialism would be necessary to make such expenditures successful.

"Business, however unsavory its past, is suffering more from an unsavory future," he asserts. "The amount of the federal debt constitutes no grave problem, but the unwise economic uses to which much of the debt is being put and the ulterior political purposes to which it is being devoted constitute the real menace."

Policies of the Hoover administration, he says, converted depreciating assets into frozen assets and panic into depression, accounting for the excessive length and severity of the present depression, which "has had to carry the hangover from an uncompleted panic stage."

RAILROADS START NEW SERVICES TO WIN PASSENGERS

Superchief Is Prompt in First Regular Run.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The Santa Fe's new Diesel powered train, the Super Chief, arrived at Los Angeles from Chicago on time to the minute yesterday after the first regular run between the two cities in 39 hours and 45 minutes. The New York Central announced that its new streamlined train, nearing completion in its shops, will go into service between Detroit and Cleveland next month. The North Western-Union Pacific will start its low fare tourist train, the Challenger, out from Chicago at 10:40 tonight, Chicago time, on its first run to Los Angeles. And the Illinois Central announced that a group of dignitaries will be present at the christening of the Green Diamond Sunday afternoon just before it starts on its first run to St. Louis on a 4 hour 55 minute schedule.

These were yesterday's developments in the railroads' new efforts to recapture passenger business taken from them by competitors on highways and skyways.

Super Chief Speeds 100 M. P. H.

In inaugurating new fast service between Chicago and Los Angeles, the Super Chief's 3,600 horse powered Diesel electric engine pulled it at speeds of 100 miles an hour, dispatches from Los Angeles stated.

In the New York Central's shops at Beech Grove, Indianapolis, a seven car streamlined air conditioned train is nearing completion. President F. E. Williamson announced that it will be called the Mercury after the god of commerce. It will make a round trip daily over the 164 miles between Detroit and Cleveland, traveling via Toledo.

The cars will be of full size. They are being built of steel but will be considerably lighter than present standard equipment. Although the train is not articulated, it is stated that the cars and locomotives will start and stop as a unit, thus doing away with jolting. New mechanical features are expected to make it ride easier than present trains and noise will be overcome by insulation.

Wheels to Be "Flood-Lighted."

The Mercury will be hauled by a high speed Pacific type streamlined steam locomotive. Like the cars it will be painted a dark gray with silver striping. A novel feature will be the illumination at night of its seventy-nine inch disc driving wheels and their silvered rods by floodlights concealed beneath the streamline covering.

At 3:45 this afternoon Pacific time the Union Pacific-North Western streamliner, City of Los Angeles, will leave Los Angeles for Chicago on the first run of its 39 hour 45 minute schedule between the two cities. It will arrive here at 10:30 Sunday morning.

The Challenger which will leave the North Western station tonight is the challenge of the railroad to the cheap fares of the bus companies. It features low priced meals, a special coach for women and children, and a stewardess. Leaving Chicago at night, it will arrive in Los Angeles at 8:35 a. m. Pacific time the third day.

Green Diamond Ceremonies.

USE OF COPPER NEAR HIGHEST POINT OF YEAR

New York, May 13.—[Special.]—The copper products industry is operating at close to the highest rate of the year, it was learned today. The average so far in 1936 has been a little less than 60 per cent of the maximum reached in 1929, or about 15 per cent ahead of last year.

World consumption of copper increased to 142,300 tons in April from 136,988 tons in March, and world stocks of refined metal declined to 471,000 tons from 483,296 tons at the end of March. Domestic consumption for the month totaled 59,700 tons, against 56,448 in March. Foreign use came to 82,600 against 80,540 tons.

The reduction in domestic supplies left the figure at 233,610 tons at the end of April, against 238,601 tons at the end of the preceding month. Foreign stocks were 237,390 tons, compared with 244,695 tons.

World output of refined copper was placed at 130,010 tons, against 138,934 tons, domestic producers contributing 58,810 tons, compared with 67,044 tons in March.

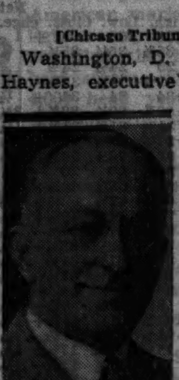
Calls Long-Short Haul Blow to Competition; Urges Repeal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—J. P. Haynes, executive vice president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, told the senate interstate commerce committee today that the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act suppresses competition between shippers and between manufacturers, promotes monopolies, and is inconsistent with the act as a whole.



J. P. HAYNES.
[Moffett Photo.]

Haynes appeared on behalf of the National Industrial Traffic league to urge passage of the Pettengill bill to repeal section 4, the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act. This clause prohibits railroads from charging less for a long haul than the aggregate charge for intermediate short hauls.

Bill Delayed in Senate.

The Pettengill bill was passed by the house two months ago by a large majority and its proponents are confident that it would pass the senate, but Senator Burton K. Wheeler [Rad., Dem., Mont.], chairman of the interstate commerce committee, is determined to kill it there if he can. He delayed hearings as long as he could and now he badgers witnesses, or else interrupts them with long disquisitions on his railroad philosophy, with the obvious purpose of filibustering the bill.

Haynes asserted that competition in general had been a powerful influence in the development of trade and commerce in the United States, but that the restrictive legislation placed upon the railroads at a time when they had a monopoly in transportation was no longer necessary.

Sees Competition Increased.

"At the present time," he said, "the investment in highway and waterway facilities approximately equals the investment in railroad facilities. In addition, there had been extensive development in air transportation and transportation by pipe lines. These transportation agencies are all competing with each other and with the railroads for the commerce of the country."

In many cases, Haynes said, it is necessary for railroads to make freight rates from interior points to port cities which depart from the long and short haul provision in order to meet foreign competition and enable American manufacturers to meet such competition.

Gives Middle West Example.

"Concrete example," he said, "is furnished by the efforts of the railroads operating between the middle west and gulf ports in attempting to make rates on paper and paper articles from producing points in Wisconsin and Minnesota to New Orleans which would give those manufacturers some opportunity to meet competition of paper manufacturers located in Scandinavian countries and in Canada."

Another example he cited was the transfer of business from one area to another. Shippers of canned goods from Indiana to Colorado formerly sold to jobbers, who distributed throughout the southwest. Now, however, the interior jobbers have found it necesary to shift their source of supply to the seaboard, use the water routes, and distribute to the interior from gulf ports, he declared.

George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association, said the bill would give the roads "an opportunity to compete for the transportation business of the country" and thereby provide more jobs for railroad labor.

LUMBER GROUP, CARRIERS ASSAIL RAIL-TRUCK PLAN

Washington, D. C., May 14.—(AP)—A proposal by the Chicago Great Western railroad to haul loaded and empty trucks and trailers between Chicago and the Twin Cities on flat cars drew an attack today from 12 other railroads and from lumber shipping interests.

The opposing rail lines set out in a brief filed with the interstate commerce commission that the Great Western planned to levy a flat charge of $42.50 for each loaded vehicle hauled over the route and $21.25 for each empty vehicle. These rates were described as "lower than necessary" to meet truck competition.

"The proposal would certainly disrupt the entire present rate structure," the brief said, "and would immediately bring about reductions in revenue which would amount to approximately $1,000,000 a year or more to the Twin Cities' lines alone, and this at a time when the railroads are necessarily making every effort to increase revenues."

The Northwestern Lumbermen's association contended the new service would give advantages "to parties able and inclined to acquire highway equipment."

EASTERN ROADS FILE RATES FOR PICKUP SERVICE

Washington, D. C., May 14.—(AP)—More than a score of eastern railroads today filed tarifs with the interstate commerce commission providing for free pickup and delivery service effective May 25. The tarifs provide no allowance to shippers who perform this service for themselves, the commission having suspended an earlier proposal which would have allowed 5 cents per 100 pounds when the service was performed by shippers.

The roads inaugurating the service, which will be provided at regular station to station rates, include the Boston and Maine, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Pennsylvania, the Grand Trunk railway system, and their subsidiaries.

The American Trucking association opposed establishment of the new service, contending it was "an illegal invasion of the motor carrier field." It now is considering asking the commission to reconsider a decision authorizing the service.

The association also plans to file complaints against pickup and delivery service provided by southern and western roads which include the allowance feature.

USE OF COTTON IN APRIL GAINS OVER YEAR AGO

Washington, D. C., May 14.—(AP)—Cotton consumed during April was reported by the census bureau today to have totaled 576,762 bales of lint and 61,450 of linters, compared with 548,913 and 60,811 during March this year, and 468,402 and 69,341 during April last year.

Imports for April totaled 12,629 bales, compared with 15,662 for March and 9,060 for April, last year. Exports for April totaled 352,710 bales of lint and 12,532 of linters, compared with 404,741 and 15,175 for March, and 323,155 and 15,657 for April last year.

I. C. C. Fixes Pay of Rail Trustee Lawyer at $18,000

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission today fixed at $18,000 a year the compensation to be paid to Russel L. Dearmont as counsel for the trustee of the Missouri Pacific railroad in proceedings for reorganization. Compensation, it stated, was to begin as of the effective date of his employment and the proviso was made that while he served in such capacity he should receive no salary or compensation as attorney or counsel for the debtors, or any of them, and no share or part of any fees or compensation from the estates of the debtors to any law firm or partnership of which he may be a member.

ROADS ASK EMERGENCY RATES BE KEPT; CITE COSTLY NEW DEAL ACTS

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—In a brief citing the railroad retirement and social security acts as adding to the burdens of expense the railroads face, B. V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of American Railroads, asked the interstate commerce commission today to continue indefinitly the emergency freight surcharges which have been in effect since last April, and would expire on June 30.

It further was contended that while it apparently had been anticipated by the commission that the situation of the railroads would be substantially improved or some change would come about making the need of increased revenues less acute "no such change has, in fact, occurred."

"True it is that one pension law has been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court, but another was promptly enacted, which now is the subject of litigation," the brief stated. "The social security act has been passed, imposing a heavy expense upon the railroads and the tax burden has certainly not been lightened."

The brief estimated that the social security and railroad retirement acts would cost the railroads nearly $75,000,000 in the first year that they were in effect and that there also has been an increase of approximately $100,000,000 in cost of materials and supplies and $160,000,00 in labor cost.

PARLEY TO PAY DISPLACED RAIL MEN NEAR BREAK

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—The joint conference for a voluntary agreement to provide for workers displaced by consolidations was reported tonight to be on "the ragged edge" with a possibility that the negotiations might collapse shortly without result.

The union committee asserted the management group had injected new questions into the conference other than those provided in the tentative agreement made a fortnight ago. The railway managers are seeking to have attached to the agreement a provision which calls for the nullification of the entire agreement in the event that new legislation is passed by congress which would in any way affect the voluntary agreement.

This proposal, drawn up by the legal staf of the carriers was designed for protection if the federal transportation act creating the office of coördinator of transportation is extended or if any other legislation is adopted bearing in any way on the voluntary agreement under consideration.

STANDARD OIL'S REPORT REVEALS INDUSTRY'S GAIN

Supply Position Better; Consumption High.

New York, May 14.—(AP)—Increased consumption of crude oil and its products, both at home and abroad, made for stability in the petroleum industry last year and resulted in considerable improvement in the industry's supply position, it was shown today in the pamphlet report for 1935 of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Consumption of crude oil and products in the United States in 1935 was 981,649,000 barrels, compared with 920,164,000 barrels in 1934, the report, signed by W. C. Teagle, president, stated. Exports of crude and its products totaled 128,152,000 barrels, as against 114,507,000 in 1934, an increase of 13,645,000 barrels, or 11.91 per cent.

Stocks Are Reduced.

Despite some excess production over amounts permitted by conservation authorities, the report stated, increased consumption brought a reduction in stocks of crude and products of 22,448,000 barrels, leaving the industry's stock position considerably improved, based on its relation to consumer demands, as compared with the end of 1934.

Most refiners did better because of a stronger wholesale market which prevailed generally throughout the year, the report said, although prices of refinery products were below the level warranted by the cost of crude.

As previously reported, the company and its subsidiaries earned a net profit of $62,863,192, equal to $2.43 a share on the capital stock, compared with $45,618,960, or $1.76 a share, in 1934.

Reports Big Tax Burden.

"In the United States in 1935 our companies paid direct taxes of $40,417,813 and collected and paid $42,395,653 in consumer taxes on sales. This made a tax bill on the domestic business alone of $82,813,466, which is equivalent to $3.20 per share on this company's outstanding stock."

Concerning the new tax bill before congress, he said:

"It definitly appears economically unsound at this stage of business recovery and in the light of the government's expressed desire that private business do its utmost in providing work for the unemployed. To change the tax system now forces the modification of established business and financing principles for the sole purpose of providing additional revenue."

MORE NEWSPRINT MADE THIS YEAR BY U. S., CANADA

MONTREAL, Que., May 14.—[Special.]—Newsprint production in Canada and the United States in April totalled 335,191 tons, compared with 297,135 tons in April, 1935, a rise of 12.8 per cent, the newsprint service bureau reported today. United States mills showed the third consecutive monthly gain, while Canadian mills set a new record for April with production of 258,721 tons. The latter has been exceeded only twice in any month.

Continued high rate of production by Canadian mills since the first of the year has placed the total since Jan. 1 at a record high for a similar period, the bureau said. Output by Canadian and United States mills in the first three months totaled 1,256,735 tons, against 1,110,080 in the 1935 period, a gain of 13.2 per cent.

ANOTHER BILLION DOLLAR FEDERAL LOAN EXPECTED

Maturities and Bonus Force Borrowing.

When offerings were heavily oversubscribed in the past, allocations were made roughly in proportion to the amount of securities for which bids were made. This led to the practice of "padding," as some institutions and investors began asking for more they they expected to get, in order to increase their proportionate share.

A meeting of representatives of all the federal reserve banks with treasury officials was held this week to consider the problem. The result is that reserve banks, as fiscal agents for the government, will investigate bids that seem too large and reduce them.

Asks Bids on Bills.

Secretary Morgenthau announced today bids were invited for two series of treasury bills in the aggregate amount of 100 million dollars. The bills will be dated May 20. One issue is 50 million dollars of 273 day maturity and the other 50 million dollars of 209 day maturity. On the basis of the present doubling of weekly financing, now in its third week, a total of 400 million dollars in new money will be raised from sale of bills by the treasury by the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

Last December the treasury borrowed 900 million dollars, of which 418 million was for the retirement of maturing securities and the remainder for new cash to finance the winter relief burden and swell the general balance of the treasury.

Again in March the treasury borrowed $1,809,000,000, of which 800 millions was new cash. The remainder included 450 millions for securities maturing March 15 and 559 millions for maturities of April 15. The March borrowing represented a departure in treasury practice by providing for maturities a month away, and some observers are expecting a similar move next month.

PRICE OF SILVER ADVANCES, DUE TO HEAVIER DEMAND

The price of foreign bar silver rose ½ cent yesterday to 45¼ cents a fine ounce in New York after considerable strength was shown in the London silver market. This was the first change since April 27 and the first upturn since April 20.

The markup in New York was made by Handy & Harman, bullion dealers, after the price of the metal rose ⅛ penny in London to 20 9-16 pence [46.01 cents] a fine ounce. The United States treasury in the meantime announced that its price for imported metal in New York remained at 45 cents an ounce.

Market analysts believed that the increased demand for silver in the New York market was due in part to hedging operations of dealers in London and other foreign centers against sales of the metal at higher prices.

Silver futures on the Montreal exchange yesterday closed 60 points higher to 110 lower in quiet trading.

PARK DISTRICT MAY ACCEPT LATE BOND DEPOSITS

Although yesterday was the closing date for the deposit of bonds under the Chicago park district's $99,085,708 refunding program, Robert J. Dunham, president, said the district would be "inclined to accept" additional undeposited bonds provided they were sent in before the county clerk extends the 1935 tax levy. He said, however, that the park district would not make any commitments to bondholders who have not deposited.

Dunham said that only about $2,500,000 bonds have not been deposited. He said that the park board will have to decide how to handle the undeposited bonds after the county clerk has extended the 1935 tax levy. Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., refunding agent for the district, was depositary in the refunding operation.

Zenith Radio Adds to Plant as Sales Expand This Year

An increase in 1936 sales has caused the Zenith Radio corporation to expand its Chicago plant for the fourth time, Eugene F. McDonald Jr. announced yesterday at a meeting of distributors from all parts of the country. He said the company has added sufficient manufacturing space to triple its 1935 production.

SMALLER CITIES ECONOMIZE MOST IN DEPRESSION

Washington, D. C., May 14.—(AP)—A census bureau study disclosed today that the nation's smaller cities were more economical in their spending during the depression than the larger ones.

The per capita expenditures of cities between 100,000 and 300,000 population, the bureau found, actually were less in 1934 than in either 1933 or 1926. On the other hand, the per capita spending of cities over 300,000 increased in 1934 over the other years.

The bulk of the spending was for general governmental purposes, including such items as administration, health, highways, and education.

Capital Outlays Excluded.

Excluding the amounts spent for capital outlays, which the bureau said could not be broken down per capita, the following table shows the per capita spending record of the nation's ninety-four cities having 100,000 population or more:

	1934	1933.	1926.
300,000 to 500,000..	58.84	56.85	53.30
100,000 to 300,000..	39.99	40.96	40.70

As for general expenses, Rochester, N. Y., had the highest per capita costs in 1934 with $74.55, while San Antonio, Tex., had the lowest with $14.21. In 1933, Boston was high with $76.02, and San Antonio again low with $14.43. Boston was high in 1926 with $62.26 and Birmingham, Ala., low with $20.06.

Less Economy in Services.

The per capita breakdown for public service expenditures and interest was held to be not so indicative of a drive toward economy, because it was less possible to reduce these more or less fixed costs. Also, large municipal enterprises made comparisons of per capita costs in this category misleading.

Seattle, Wash., was high in 1934 in the public service category with $15.83. On the amounts paid out in interest, Miami, Fla., was high in 1934 with $20.01; in 1933, Newark, N. J., was high with $15.65, and in 1926, Norfolk, Va., with $14.68.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 14.—Bonds became much more active today and prices moved ahead on a broad front as evidence of general acceptance that inflationary prospects had been temporarily, if not permanently, sidetracked.

Reflecting the bullish performance in stocks, speculative bonds attracted increased following. Second grade rail issues made the widest gains, virtually all parts of the group sharing in the renewed support.

Industrials Move Ahead.

Industrial bonds also moved ahead, although with less snap than the movement staged by the rails. Many public utility bonds also were prominent.

Transfers of $10,975,000, par value, compared with $7,229,000 on Wednesday. This was the first time in a week that sales crossed the $10,000,000 figure, and while still much below the average level of a normal market, the trade was encouraged by the fact that the expansion was on an advance.

Technical Situation Is Factor.

The suddenness and scope of the rise, accompanied by an increased volume of sales, suggested that technical conditions within the market had much to do with the gain, traders said. The modest liquidation that appeared on the way up was well absorbed and final prices were around the best of the day.

United States government issues closed 1-32d to 7-32ds higher, but remained quiet. Sales amounted to $500,000.

French government dollar bonds bonds continued to advance. The 7s gained 3 points to 175 and the 7½s rose 1½ to 167.

Shawinigan Water and Power.

Investors' Guide: What is your opinion as to the safety of Shawinigan Water and Power bonds as an investment?—C. V. N.

Answer: Shawinigan Water and Power company is one of the largest and most successful hydro-electric power producers in the world. It serves 478 communities in the province of Quebec, Canada, in a territory of 2,400,000 population.

Power output of the company established an all-time record of 5,315,291,000 kilowatt hours in 1935, a 16 per cent gain from 1934. Earnings have not shown as great relative improvement because an increasingly large amount of sales is to large users at secondary rates. The prospect is for stable and moderately expanding revenues. The company appears assured of an ample supply of electric current.

The bulk of output is used by large industrial concerns, municipalities, and other utility systems. The paper industry contributed 45 per cent of 1935 income.

	Gross revenue.	*Net income.	Income per share.
1935	$13,068,000	$2,542,000	$1.17
1934	12,504,000	2,267,000	1.04
1933	11,946,000	1,843,000	.85
1932	11,953,000	2,534,000	1.16
1931	13,693,000	4,150,000	1.91
1930	14,954,000	5,771,000	2.65

First quarter gross in 1936 was $3,291,000, compared with $3,119,000 in the corresponding 1935 period, and net before income tax and depreciation was $781,000, or 36 cents a share, compared with $723,000, or 33 cents a share.

While industrial depression hurt earnings, interest charges were never earned less than 1.44 times. The capital structure is conservative, funded debt of $88,091,000 being 54 per cent of total capital and surplus, the 2,178,250 common shares having the rest of the equity.

Dividends have been paid continuously for the last 28 years. The annual rate was raised to 60 cents a share in February, 1936, from the 50 cent rate established in 1932. Dividends on the present no par shares reached a peak of $2.50 in 1930.

The 5 per cent series C bonds were called April 1, 1936, and replaced by series F bonds bearing a 4 per cent coupon. Principal and interest are payable in Montreal and Toronto in lawful money of Canada.

Interest on the series A, B, and D bonds, all bearing 4½ per cent interest, is payable in Canadian, British, or American funds, at the option of the holder. This might be said to constitute a partial hedge against inflation.

All of the bonds are considered sound, and the stock deserves a fairly good rating.

New Hope for Adam

Kindly fields, cradling Nature's promise of plenty, spread before him. The merry whistle of his plowman son, new to the furrow's sweep, rang clear from the ridge beyond. "Old Betts" and her Swiss sisterhood lowed in the pasture below. From the house came savory odors—and the lilt of laughter.

Here was life! This was living! The city from whence he came was forgotten.

WHEAT RALLIES AFTER DECLINE; ENDS IRREGULAR

Crop Is Reported Helped by Good Weather.

Favorable weather and crop reports from practically all sections of the winter and spring wheat belts, with a lessening of uneasiness about the foreign political situation, led to pressure on North American markets early yesterday. At one time the 90 cent quotation was wiped off the blackboard except for the May delivery in Chicago. The current option sold off 1⅛ cents to 91⅛ cents, a new low since Sept. 3, and came within 2⅝ cents of the lowest level of the season.

Commission houses absorbed the offerings on the break and later, when the Winnipeg market started to rally, short covering developed in leading markets and the close was around the top, with prices on the Chicago Board of Trade ranging from ½ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, the latter on the September delivery.

Outside Markets Lower.

Kansas City and Winnipeg declined about ½ cent, while Minneapolis was ⅛ to 1⅛ cents lower, the latter on the May delivery. Kansas City May wheat closed at 8⅞ cents discount under the same delivery in Chicago.

According to pit brokers, the technical position was largely responsible for the rally in wheat late yesterday, as there was nothing in the crop or the foreign news to induce a decided stand on the bull side. However, there has been a letup in liquidation in the last two days and the market has been rather easily influenced. The trade had reports yesterday that an additional 100,000 bushels of Kansas City hard winter wheat had been bought to come here, while 500,000 bushels have been sold to go into public elevators for delivery on May contracts.

Canadian Exports Smaller.

While Canadian cash wheat was reported offered to the United Kingdom at a substantial discount compared with grain from other leading countries, only 250,000 bushels of Manitobas were estimated to have been sold abroad yesterday. Liverpool prices were easier.

Closing prices on the July delivery of leading grains, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Week ago.
Wheat	$.85⅛	$.85⅝	$.87½
Corn	.60¼	.60¼	.62
Oats	.26⅛	.26¼	.25⅞
Rye	.54⅛	.53⅝	.52½

Outside interest in corn and oats futures was light, with the close showing only minor changes compared with Wednesday. Spreading operations were largely responsible for independent strength in rye.

CATTLE ADVANCE WHEN FARMERS CUT SHIPMENTS

Cattle prices in all the principal American markets swung upward on light receipts yesterday as farmers curtailed the heavy liquidation of beef steers. Chicago received only 4,000 head yesterday, the smallest Thursday run since Feb. 27.

Top steers in Chicago reached $9.25, highest since the middle of last week, although the price still is 30 cents under the top sale early last week. Practically all of the losses incurred earlier in the week have been regained, most classes of cattle selling about in line with last week's close.

Sharply reduced receipts of cattle had a favorable effect on the beef trade, where declines were halted. Trading in wholesale beef markets still dragged, channels being glutted with beef from earlier slaughtering.

Fresh pork met better outlet yesterday at steady prices, and this influenced a strong to 10 cents higher opening in the hog trade, but buyers were cautious and most of the principal packers held back until the early gains were erased. Final sales of hogs were steady to slightly lower than the previous session.

Lambs brought steady prices. No wool stock arrived. Freshly shorn lambs weighing 73 to 93 pounds brought $9.85 to $10.25. A string of 1,040 California spring lambs sold without sorting at $11.50 to $11.75.

REGAL PRESS, INC. PURCHASES RADIO GUIDE BUILDING

Plan Half Million Dollar Modernization.

BY AL CHASE.

One of Chicago's best known publishing buildings and at one time the largest of its type in the city—the property at the northeast corner of Plymouth court and Polk street known for many years as the Lakeside building and more recently as the Radio Guide building—was sold yesterday for $240,000, according to the county records. Hall & Ellis were the only brokers.

The Regal Press, Inc., publishers of Radio Guide, Official Detective Stories, and Screen Guide, purchased the property from Thomas E., Naomi, and Thorne Donnelley, trustees under a trust deed dated June 28, 1912.

Will Spend Half Million.

According to Herbert Krancer, executive vice president and general manager of Regal Press, Inc., half a million dollars will be spent in modernizing the building this year and a program has been outlined which calls for a large expenditure in following years.

A $250,000 press will be installed on Oct. 15. Another unit will be added next year, it was said, and more as the company's publishing business expands. Two new monthly magazines will be published in the fall.

At present the Regal Press uses the basement, first and second floors of the building, which fronts 200 feet on Plymouth court and 100 feet on Polk street. Its modernization program includes the remodeling of three additional floors, at present vacant, for its own use.

Has Lease on Part of Land.

Yesterday's purchase included the 100x100 feet fee under the north end of the seven story building and the building itself. The south 100x100, fronting on Polk street, is under lease for 99 years, with option to purchase, which is to be exercised shortly, Krancer said.

The Lakeside building was built in two sections, one in 1895 and the other in 1903, from plans by the late Howard Shaw. It was the home of the Lakeside Press, now one of the world's largest printing establishments, until 1929.

SALES INCREASE OF 68% REPORTED BY RCA-VICTOR

Sales of RCA-Victor have increased 68 per cent in the first four months this year as compared with the corresponding period of 1935, E. T. Cunningham, president, said yesterday at the annual RCA-Victor wholesale merchants' convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel. He said that reliable trade statistics indicate that the improvement for the radio industry as a whole will be 18 per cent over the first four months of 1935.

Cunningham said the company, in anticipation of still larger increases in sales, will double its 1935 rate of production during the last half of 1936.

More than 600 wholesale distributors from all parts of the country and abroad are attending the convention, which closes tonight.

STUDEBAKER SALES CO. OF CHICAGO AND PAY

IMPORTANT!

In order to get out from under the biggest stock of used cars in their history, Studebaker Sales Co. of Chicago is making this sensational offer. For a limited time only—you can purchase any car in their great selection on time payments, and absolutely pay no finance charge or interest. Think of it! All the red tape and the extra expense of financing is disposed of—and you obtain the car of your dreams at the lowest price possible.

REMEMBER!

This is only because the sales of 1936 Studebakers have swamped us with the greatest array of "trade-ins" in our history. We admit we can't handle all these cars. We haven't got the room. And so because Studebaker maintains its own finance department we are able to make the astounding offer of selling cars on time without requiring you to pay a finance charge or interest.

LOOK!

IN ADDITION, ALL CARS HAVE BEEN SENSATIONALLY REDUCED IN PRICE FOR IMMEDIATE CLEARANCE. THESE ARE NOT FICTITIOUS REDUCTIONS, BUT ACTUAL LEGITIMATE REDUCED PRICES OF FROM 30% TO 70% PER CAR.

Compare These Rates

This bank is one of the few companies in the country which will lend on the same rates and terms regardless of whether you borrow on a new car or a used one, and, so far as insurance is concerned, Fire and Theft is all we require, although we strongly urge that every car owner insure himself against collision hazards. In all cases we want the insurance to be placed with the borrower's own broker or agent. Premiums may be added to the loan account, the broker paid in full, and the borrower settles up with us in monthly installments.
